End Re-cap2019 Has been an exceptionally busy year, so we wanted to take a moment and highlight some of the great items that have happened, in case you may have missed them:The Panzer Campaigns series updates were completed. The Panzer Battles series was updated. The Civil War Battles series of updates were completed. The Squad Battles series has been updated. The Early American Wars series was updated. The Modern Campaigns series was updated.6, yes 6, new games were released - Campaign Eylau-Friedland, Japan '45, Japan '46, Campaign Shenandoah, Wolfpack & Wellington's Peninsular War.We also have a development schedule for the coming year or two ... so if all goes well you will see more new games and we'll get updates out for the last few series that haven't been addressed. We hope everyone has a good start to 2020 and we look forward to hours in the coming years. Remember that John Tiller Software sales that we mentioned earlier this month? Well, here's your reminder that it starts tomorrow. Through July 19, everything in the JTS catalog that's over a year old - and that's most of it - is marked to a flat $29.95. As Joe mentioned in the earlier post, sales on John Tiller Software titles are pretty rare, although this is the second the studio has performed in the past six months or so. Still, there's no telling when they're planning on running another event like this, so it's a good opportunity to save some money if you need to fill out your library or want to try the JTS system for the first time. Japan '46, Campaign Shenandoah, Wolfpack, Wellington's Peninsular War, and Serbia '14 are the titles that are excluded from sale, but it sounds like everything will be marked (generally from $39.95) to $29.95. There are no order minimums to receive this prize and you will come back as often as you want to get the same prices during this period. The Store will be updated by June 30 to view the new pricing. Enjoy! JTS covers a wide range of historical conflicts, and it has a pretty decent array of modern warfare games as well. There is almost certainly something in this sale that will appeal to your specific taste. And of course, watching doesn't cost a penny. Penny.
