Global Express Guaranteed (GXG) is the fastest international service in the USPS with delivery in one or three business days in more than 190 countries. GXG packages are actually delivered through the International FedEx Express service, but packages can be left through the USPS. Features included with Global Express Guaranteed include: Money back guarantee to all destinations Advanced tracking with full shipping visibility can qualify for free delivery package collection in 1 to 3 business days Boats in over 190 countries Include tracking information with track tool & USPS Confirmation At this time ShippingEasy cannot provide the USPS Global Express guaranteed service option. We recommend that you use the USPS Click-n-Ship online service or visit the local Post Office to send shipments through this service. Please sign in to leave a comment. If you need a package to arrive quickly or by a certain date in a foreign country, you should consider using Global Express Guaranteed (GXG®), the U.S. Postal Service's premium international mail service. GXG is a joint venture between the U.S. Postal Service and FedEx® Corporation to offer a guaranteed and time-defined service to international destinations. Since delivery to the foreign country is made by the FedEx network, the service can be ideal for shipping to countries that have unreliable postal infrastructure. There may also be less chance of delays with customs clearance being handled directly by a local FedEx branch. Full GXG support is now available in our Endicia Professional® software, joining Priority Mail Express International®, Priority Mail International® and First Class Mail International® as options for shipping products to other countries. An easy-to-use wizard will walk you through the slightly more complex steps when completing GXG submission forms. If your shipment a commercial invoice, Endicia Professional will automatically generate one. GXG's final submission form can range from six to nine pages depending on the need for a business invoice and the number of article articles by printing your postage and shipping forms, you'll need to leave your GXG package at your nearest post office™ location. Endicia Professional will inform you of the last time you can leave your package and still be covered by the guarantee of delivery of date-determined. The postal employee will manually enter the acceptance details on the first page of the shipping form and give you a copy as a receipt. The remaining pages are put on a plastic sleeve and your package is expedited to the nearest USPS plant that night. The package is delivered to a FedEx location for shipment to the foreign country. The shipping form will have two tracking numbers so you can track your package on the U.S. Postal Service (www.USPS.com) website or FedEx website (www.FedEx.com). As part of the full support development for GXG, Endicia's engineering team sent some test shipments to family members in China and France. The deadlines and level of follow-up were pretty impressive! A package sent to China took just four days and received 18 scans along the way. If you have the Endicia Professional service and want to start using GXG, contact our sales team to get the service enabled. Due to the Coronavirus pandemic, countless foreign countries have closed their borders. When borders are closed, international air and sea transport is not available. As a result, USPS is not able to provide the same level of service to international destinations that the organization normally can. The international maritime service of the Global Express Guaranteed Postal Service is the latest service from the organization to be affected by efforts to stop the spread of COVID-19. Until further notice, USPS asks customers to refrain from sending items addressed to the following list of countries. Guaranteed Global Express suspended in the following countries (Updated 19/05/2020) Bhutan Burundi Cape Verdean Eritrea French Polynesia Gambia Kiribati Laos Liberia Nepal Nepal Norfolk Island Republic of Congo Seychelles Timor-Leste Uganda Vanuatu Wallis and Futuna What is GXG, and How is Priority Mail Express International different? While people often confuse both, Global Express Guaranteed is a completely different service from priority mail express international. Global Express Guaranteed (otherwise called GXG) service is the fastest international shipping service that USPS offers. When it comes to it, it's much faster than Priority Mail Express International. The Postal Service offers GXG shipments within 1-3 business days to more than 190 destination countries, with overnight delivery to many locations in Canada. In order to deliver these packages so quickly, the Postal Service with FedEx Express in GXG shipments. When packages arrive in the destination country, FedEx Express takes care of transportation and Delivery. Global Express Guaranteed packages come with full monitoring, as well as date-determined delivery times with a money back guarantee. That said, GXG is easily the most expensive international shipping option of the Postal Service. Prices start just shy of $70, and as a result, Priority Mail Express International is often the service most customers choose instead. Due to the coronavirus pandemic, USPS has also suspended Priority Guarantees from Mail Express International in a large number of countries.
