Minnesota research resources and links of interest Here are some sites that will help with your Minnesota research. If you find a website that helped your search please let us know and we can add it to the list. Click here. Click here to report all broken links. Thanks. Back to the table census tools Censustools.com Over the past two years I have been distributing free copies of my 35 electronic census spreadsheets to researchers looking for a better way to organize my census data. I have given away over 50,000 copies as a way to return a hobby I have enjoyed for more than 30 years. My spreadsheets faithfully recreate the format of the 1790-1930 U.S. Federal Census, as well as 1850-1860 slave schedules, 1850-1880 mortality schedules, 1883 pensioners list and 1890 veterans and widows' schedule. In addition to the federal spreadsheet I also have a collection of state census spreadsheets, which includes Iowa 1836-1925, Kansas 1865-1925, Massachusetts 1855-1865, Minnesota 1849-1895, New Jersey 1855-1915, New York 1825-1925 and Wisconsin 1836-1905. Spreadsheets allow you to organize and save census passages electronically. They can also be used to print blank forms, especially useful for state census research, where extractive forms are simply not readily available. I offer all spreadsheet works for free. I want to give happy users the opportunity to donate to have my site installed and launched, but spreadsheets are free and are fully functional as a download. For more information : sandy@authenticorigins.com or email sandy@authenticorigins.com Back to The Resources Online table I've put up a website that specializes in providing on-line resources to people who are doing research in Minnesota. It is currently contained in the 1910 census found in the aid cities of Minnesota. These aids include ED, maps, street indices, houses, apartments, hotels, cemeteries, parks and churches. The site also offers another Tale Week, which is a story from an old Minnesota newspaper. Back to the table Back to the table Sweden Emigrantregistret Karlstad, Sweden (see under RO:TTTER) was founded in 1960. They registered all emigrated va.rmlanders (p. 125,000) and created a database of more than 1.2 million emigrants who left Swedish ports. The site is in Swedish with some English summaries. Link tip swedish genealogy and history page. I have a homepage about Swedish genealogy. It is called hans Högman's genealogy and history page. The page has been online since 1996 and most pages are translated into English. The home page also contains a lot of information about Swedish history and, in particular, Swedish military history, where I have a lot of material about the system of distributions (the old system of organisation and financing of the Swedish armed forces). When you genealogical research swedish ancestors you sooner or later find an ancestor who served in the armed forces. To help the genealogist in non-Swedish language I have a page titled Find my ancestors of Swedish military sources. It is very important to know how the Swedish surrender system worked to investigate soldiers. Therefore, I have a page explaining the system of siting. Url to my homepage: hogman/slaekt.htm examples on my home page: Swedish naming practices in previous times. History and organisation of the Swedish Church (When you do genealogical research on ancestors in Sweden, you'll probably have to read church records. It therefore be interested in genealogy explorers to know how the Swedish Lutheran Church has been organized over the years.) Old Swedish measurements and weights of Land ownership in previous times – farmers & crofters Swe/Eng dictionay, Genealogy terms Allocating system Swedish military research guide to military sources in many Swedish wars swedish/English dictionary – Military terms If you think my home page is fun, please freely put a link to my page on your Minnesota Genealogy website. We regret any inconvenience that may cause you. Welcome! Welcome to the Minnesota Genealogical Society! The public invites you to join us in order to achieve your family history, whether in our classrooms, webinars, or studies at our Minnesota Genealogy Center. MGS is an all-volunteer non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization. Please browse our website for volunteer opportunities, meetings, membership and the hours we work. We hope that you visit us at the address above. 20/20 Vision Next 50 campaign MGS launches 20/20 Vision Next 50 campaign, with a first-year target of $50,000. Can we do that? Absolutely - if you help! This campaign is an ideal opportunity for you to make a real difference to MGS in the future. Your tax-free contribution of $50 or more will allow MGS to maintain and upgrade our new facility, support the library and its new employees, and expand learning opportunities. Please help. Give a generous celebration of MGS's past – but even more for the sake of your future. On behalf of mgs board of directors and our fantastic volunteers thank you! Learn more about our 20/20 Vision campaign page. As you can achieve the benefits of only a member search on this site you can also find us here on Facebook Twitter Instagram Flickr Access to our online library directory of Hoffman Research Library (HRL) at the Minnesota Genealogy Center (MGC) (see map at the bottom of the page). It is one of the best research facilities in the Midwest. Center for Volunteer Volunteers needs staff at the Minnesota Genealogy Center. Duties include opening and closing the center, answering the phone and helping patrons find their way around the center. New volunteers are paired with an experienced volunteer to learn the ropes. No experience is required. Please consider giving a few hours a month regularly. Thanks! We can't do it without you! Library Visitor Information Collection is the property of MGS, affiliates and branches. It consists of more than 30 000 books, periodicals and other subjects that help researchers. Researchers are asked to register at the reception desk at the Minnesota Genealogy Center upon arrival and store briefcases and bags in cabinets. The lunch room has a fridge and a microwave with MGC patrons. The copier shall be supplied; a minimum fee must be charged for copies. The collection represents many nationalities and countries from Minnesota, the United States, and around the world. In the field of research, modern computers, the Internet and Wireless access, microfilm and microfilm scanners and printers are available. Library computers have a wide range of genealogical data installed. The Hoffman Research Library has many maps from around the world. Access to ancestors and GenLines is granted in the library.
