American outdoor grill manual

If you're experiencing issues with your American outdoor built-in or portable grill, there might be a simple solution. Please feel free to use the following list to identify the problem. By trying one or more of these solutions mentioned in the manual, you should be able to solve the problem. Note: Propane tanks are equipped with a security shutdown device that can cause little or no gas/flame on the burner if operating and lighting instructions are not followed. If you suspect that propane tank safety shutoff is effective, turn off all burner control valves and propane tank valves. Then read and follow the lighting instructions at all. Lighting instructions are located in the owner's manual. The problems you are facing can be solved with a fresh battery for your igniter. Your AOG Ignitor uses standard AA batteries, which you likely have in your home. Please see the diagram below to replace your igniter battery. If you try to trouble your American outdoor grill using the above list of possible causes and solutions and you're still facing issues, it may be time to contact your local dealer, or RH Peterson, manufacturer of American Outdoor Grills. Please provide your model number or serial number so that they are able to help you. RH Peterson's Phone Number: 1-626-369-5085 RH Peterson's Website: www.RHPeterson.com Please note that we are not the manufacturer of American Outdoor Grill, but independent dealers of their products. After talking with RH Peterson and it has been determined that you need new parts for your grill, please contact us or review our AOG Replacement Parts page for pricing and availability. 1 2 Table of Contents 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22
