Facebook profile view notification chrome extension

We recently saw a website - thousandssa (dot)pw - offering an extension of the Facebook browser Visitor Profile: Profile views - Instantly see who is browsing your profile and check how many views of the photos you have It's totally free Long time readers will know anything related to profile views on social networks will set the ringing of alarm bells because there is usually no way to track who is on your page or what they are watching. More often than not you will walk into a survey scam or unwanted setup. A visit to the above page in FireFox suggested to us. XPI browser extension file that was offline at the time of writing. Taking a look at the source code, we see a mention of (currently offline). XPI, as well as links to the URL - quiz (dot)com - which offers a fake who watches your profile Facebook content most commonly found in Facebook survey scams. Here's the source code: Here's the quiz page - complete with poll questions: The above Facebook profile viewer page, complete with 3 other people currently watching your profile post, is a work of fiction. Whoever created this just wants you to click on the survey link and fill it in/subscribe to the tunes/install the software/everything that happens to be available at a time to earn yourself money. After the Chrome store link to the source code, we can see the thousandssa (dot) pw listed as a homepage for a Chrome extension called Pro Visitor, which is pretty thin on the ground in terms of information, but despite this there are a good 47,400 people who have downloaded it so far. We're still looking at what it does, but the resolution message can mean not very much - many applications and extensions require this level of access to the feature, and really careful monitoring is usually reserved for High Alert permissions such as all the data on your computer and the websites you visit. Even so, you can give all of the above a miss - little can be gained from installing an extension with a noticeable lack of information on the store page, and anything related to Facebook profile views in general should be viewed with a healthy sense of skepticism. But wait, let me clarify some of the issues. Facebook Profile View Facebook Notification allows us to stay tuned with each other's profiles and stay in touch on a daily basis. But, there is a time when we all wondered that if there was any way we could see who visited our profile.and after that Facebook Profile View Notice was created by Google Chrome Extension, which no longer exists now but replaced with another name social profile view notifications. Who visits your facebook profile? while it is true that Facebook collects a huge amount of data about its users, for example, who visited our profile, and in accordance with their privacy policy they do not share this data with anyone. Facebook cares about the privacy of its users, so they consider this data strictly confidential, and they are not shared. In fact, he says we should report them if any third-party claims that it can give us this type of information/data. This means that the type of applications exists, but their 100% accuracy is not proven. Unsurprisingly, many of them provide you with fake information that is not useful. Useful. apps or companies are scams and they will ask you to allow them to access your Facebook profile and personal data. Not only can they get your personal information, they can still have your data as well, they can also infect your device with malware or spread spam, which is not good. The main thing is that Facebook considers our information confidential, so many of the apps that claim they can show your Facebook viewers are actually scams. Instead, they'll have access to your social media profile accounts and collect your data until you manually cancel them. How about a social profile notification? A Social Profile View Notification or Fb Profile Viewer is a Google Chrome extension that claims that it can send you notifications. whenever someone visits your profile. According to many users, however, the extension only warns you if the person who viewed your profile is an extension user, and according to many of its users it's great. How to install and use this extension First find an extension of the social profile notification on the Chrome Web Store and install plugin.to your browser then log into your Facebook account profile and you'll see a new menu on a Facebook page called Visitors. Well, once you click it, a pop-up with a list of your Facebook visitors will appear on the screen along with the date of their visit. So whenever someone views your Facebook profile, you'll see a notification revealing their name and visit time if they are users of the same extension as you. It sounds too easy to be true as it is only necessary Chrome browser can install plugins, but that is what this extension claims. This has nothing to do with Facebook because it can't as Facebook cares about the privacy of its users and important data. Conclusion Think about if you can really see who visited your Facebook profile? Even Facebook does not show this information because it treats it as sensitive data because it is very important, it is third-party applications that claim that they can show their visitors to Facebook. One of the best is the Google Chrome extension called Social Profile Viewing Notifications.
