Title: Reading Mastery /SRA/McGraw-Hill Description: Reading Mastery is a direct teaching program designed to provide explicit, systematic instruction in English-language reading. Reading Mastery is available in two versions, classic levels of reading mastery I and II (for use in K-3 levels) and Reading Mastery Plus, an integrated reading language program for K-6 classes. The program begins by teaching funnic awareness and correspondence with voice letters and moves on to reading words and passages, developing vocabulary, understanding and building oral reading fluency. Later lessons continue to emphasize precise and flute decoding while teaching students the skills needed to read and understand and learn from exposure text. Classes are designed to be fast and interactive. Students rate according to a similar reading level, based on program placement tests. The program includes location assessments and a continuous monitoring system. Although not designed solely for English language learners, reading mastery can be used with this group of students. It offers a systematic approach that speeds up reading and helps students achieve a high success rate. Three-liner handles reading, language art and literature through a shared training design that helps students learn more effectively. Adding digital resources to both further practice and professional development helps teachers optimize every minute spent in the classroom. Flexible and comprehensive, the signature edition is suitable for use as a complementary intervention program or central reading program. Reading Mastery has helped children increase their fluency and accuracy of reading. Ben Krahe, principal, Pacific Coast Christian School, NSW Mansfield State High School and QLDThe Language Art Strand: Teaches the oral language skills needed to understand what is said, written, and read in class. Helps students effectively communicate ideas and information. Develops students' ability to successfully use writing strategies and process the strand of literature: supports the reading trend by offering a wide range of literary forms and text structures. Provides multiple opportunities for students to practice vocabulary and comprehension strategies and write for authentic purposes. Giving the students the Read at their level of ability. Reading Strand: Addresses all five essential elements of reading as identified by Reading First – telephone awareness, word analysis, fluency, vocabulary and understanding. Provides spelling instruction to help students create the connection between decryption and spelling patterns. Develops decoding, word recognition, and understanding skills that move to other areas in other topics. Each strand can be used as an addition to the core curriculum for targeted intervention, or combined for use as a comprehensive and positional literacy program.
