If you paid employees' salaries and withheld taxes, you must submit w-2 to the Social Security Office. If you have up to 50 employees, you can submit electronically through the SSA Business Services Online system. The service is secure and gives you instant proof that you entered. You have until March 31 to submit electronically; paper filers have until the last day of February. You can also print W-2s and distribute them to your employees. To access the BSO, you must first register. Go to the Social Security Administration, Business Services Online website and select Register button. You must provide specific information, such as your name, date of birth, Social Security number, address, phone number, and email address. After your registration is confirmed, you will have your user ID and password. To create W-2s, you need to access BSO's W-2/W-3 Online forms. You must also perform some preliminary steps, such as selecting a tax year, entering your employer's identification number, and ensuring that no exceptions or limitations apply. For example, you cannot use Form W-2/W-3 Online if you submit a tax year before 2011 or if you correct a previously filed W-2. To compose W-2's, follow the instructions on the BSO payroll report page. Fill in every W-2 as you would for the paper version. Record employees' salaries, withheld taxes, and applicable benefits in appropriate boxes. Forms W-2/W-3 Online allows you to create, save, print or submit W-2s. You can print and review W-2s before submitting them. If you've already submitted your W-2, you'll have up to 30 days after the due date to download your W-2, which is available in PDF format. If you have pre-filled, unfinished W-2s, the system will inform you that the forms are incomplete. BSO sends your W-2s only to ssa. It does not send them to the applicable state and local income agencies. You have to pass them on yourself. To correct a submitted W-2, file a W-2c with form W-2c/W-3c Online. This system allows you to file and print a corrected W-2 regardless of the original submission format. You may correct submitted W-2s only for earned salaries in the previous three years, three months and 15 days. You get to fill out and print up to 25 W-2cs. A W-3 is a transmittal form that shows total salaries and withholding for all employees for the year. You must include a W-3 when sending your employees' W-2s to the SSA. If you want to file and print a W-3, access Forms W-2/W-3 Online. To archive and print a corrected W-3, use Form W-2c/W-3c Online. If you have more than 50 employees, you might be able to use the BSO system to file files and print W-2s. For file format specifications, go to Social Security Administration, Employers Archiving Instructions and Website Information. Select Publications and Forms then Specifications for Archiving Forms W-2 and W-2c electronically. Electronic. appropriate specifications link. Release of the warranty form allows a guarantor to free himself from being financially and/or legally bound to a contract. This is common for loan agreements and leasing documents after the expiry or when the agreement has been completely satisfied. The release is recommended, although not required, to be signed in the presence of a notary general. Who are the parties involved? Guarantor – The party seeking release. Releasor - The party that gives the release. If a personal warranty release is not received before the business is sold, the previous owner may be held liable for financial liabilities incurred by the new owner. A Personal Warranty release must be approved by the entity that provided the loan. Financial institutions may request the following information to take a decision: Historical view of all financial statements. Business forecasts that address the current economic state. The strengths of the business have shown in previous years and may show in coming years. Potential weaknesses the business may have along with a mitigation plan. Additional security as a replacement for the personal warranty. The financial institution is not obliged to grant a personal guarantee release. In the event that the release of personal guarantee is not obtained, a most common way to get release is to pay off business loans or refinance the business through a private equity firm. At the time the loan is paid in full, a Personal Guarantee announcement is automatically terminated as part of a contractual clause. (Video) What is a Personal Warranty Release?
