Please share this post with your followers and colleagues as this can happen to anyone. Instagram account hacked: How to react It was the most stressful Sunday morning I could imagine. It started at 10.10am on May 10, 2020 with a message on Still_Miracle's account Users couldn't find when I tried to access it from my iPhone. I realized that something was wrong with my account and immediately checked the email. I discovered 3 email notifications informing me that within 1 minute my instagram account name had been changed, e-mail and phone number had been deleted. As a wedding photographer I was shocked and couldn't believe that five attempts, hundreds of posts, wedding photos (I'm very proud of) could be lost in just a few minutes. I pulled myself together and sent a report to the Instagram support team who responded at 10:20 a.m. with the following message: The account you're referring to has been deleted. We can't recover accounts that have been permanently deleted. We regret any inconvenience caused by this cause. Thanks, Instagram Group In the meantime, I received an email from the sender of the indebted anyhir192 @gmail.com informing me that my account had been hacked: It was completely safe and we did not touch it. We are waiting for answers you 2 hours! If you don't reply, we'll start deleting your account (deleting photos) and selling Account! We are waiting for your answer! Hackers asked USD275 to restore my access to the hacked Instagram account and threatened to delete it within 2 hours if the request was not satisfied. However, I didn't have any guarantee that this would be done even if I paid the full amount. So I decided to exchange emails with hackers asking for more details about the recovery process and asking them to prove that my account was safe. I also started discussing payment options with them. All this just to win for a while before the Instagram support team responds and reacts. I continue to send messages to the Instagram support team with more details from my conversations with hackers, including their email print screen and requests. One of the hacker messages is as follows: Our interest is just money. We don't need your account. We will restore it immediately after payment in 15 minutes. We'll send you your login information, password, and instructions on how to protect your account. I kept in touch with the hackers and insisted that they prove the still miracle photography account and all wedding photos still exist and can be recovered. They sent me a screenshot of the profile that appeared with russian text in the title and I realized that the hackers were from Russia. I moved the topic of discussion about whether payment can be made to Russian banks and they provide a detail of the Russian bank card with a card number, full name and phone number of the recipient. Since, the attack happened on Sunday it was not possible to make an immediate transfer and I explained this to the hackers. Then they began to insist on paying in bitcoin through brd.com While I discussed various details with hackers in brief messages via e-mail, the working time was in our favor. It was the most stressful two hours while waiting for the Instagram group to respond. It's even more frightening to discover that under Instagram's policy that if your account has been deleted by you or someone with your password, there's no way to recover it. You can create a new account with the same email address you used before, but you might not receive the same username. username.
