Current members are Jon K (previously known as Junsu), Richard, Chansong, Boga, Hitchen, Junsu and with him originally the seven-piece group left the group in 2009 because of disputes as and the band left the agency in early 2010. The 2PM date began when Korean musician Park Jin-young set up an 11 member band known as A Day. Finally the band was divided into 2PM and was known as the similar but independent group 2PM. The 2PM debate with the song 10 Jeom Manjeom 10 Jeom (10점 만점에 10점, bright, 10 points out of points), which presents his acrobatic dance style. [1] He re-achieved ∓ again with his first No. 1. Both singles included on their first studio album, 01:59PM, released in 2009. The band went on to release another Korean album, known as Hand, in 2011. He made his Japanese debut with 2PM later this year. After more than a year, the group returned with its third studio album in 2013. At the beginning of September 2014, 2PM went crazy back with their fourth studio album. On June 15, 2015, 2PM made a comeback with his fifth studio album No. 5. After much hope came back to 2PM September 13, 2016 with his sixth studio album Gentlemen's Game. Since July 2017, the group has been on an official screen. [2] Before the date, 2PM members all odastavand (which was scooty) [3] to be part of the zip entertainment. Some members had already experimented in the entertainment industry, including Jon K, who had won several song competitions. Well Tarek, Lee Junho and H'pong Had participated in The Chansong Superstar Survival. Some of these members previously lived in the United States, which included navatok, a former leader in the Satral region, who had lived in Mesa Chustus seven years before returning to Korea, in South California. In fact, the members of 2PM were part of the larger group known as one day. A documentary that captured the training days of the group to the hot blooded men [5]. The documentary has a number of votes for the former member and its most fan. This includes the end of three training from the group: Lee Swakahe, Jing Janawavan, and Yun Du Joem were all kits. However, Janawaun has taken his place on the return of the latter. By the end of the training process, one day an eleven-member group was reduced. The band was then divided into a four-member blog group 2AM and seven-member hop group 2AM, 2008-10: First, more important, 01:59PM. 2PM's leave and reco-join as 6 members also be 01:59PM while the highest Korean boy band Adopted a beautiful boy (Korean; kkunduz) picture. 2PM made his first when building a picture like a tough and masculine animal. 6 [7] Emphasizing their mentioned pictures, 2PM jamseong-dol produced (jamseong means an animal or animal in Korea) trend in 2008. [7] June was chosen to serve as the group's leader, as he was the oldest member and also recognized that all members were the most talented. He played a pivotal role in many of the band's early singles and attached music videos. 2PM debate with his single 10 out (10점 만점에 10점) on September 4, 2008. In October 2008, he just started to promote you, another song from his first mini album, the most hot time of the day. Jama, 2PM hosted the third season of the Korean Variety Idol Army. In April 2009, the group released its second mini album, 01:59PM Time for Change, which started to promote the month again and again. In May he won his first Mutizen song award on M! Countdown, after two and one Music Bank Award. On June 11, 2PM started promotions for Niga Mapda (나γκα 맵다). Bright, I hate you! M! Countdown. 2PM got first in July! Countdown and Music Bank chart for The Niga Mapda song. On July 30, 2PM won the 'Only One Song' award! Countdown. At this time, 2PM also starring in the popular Korean variety Wild Bun. Later this year, a controversy came to the fore in June. On September 4, 2009, alterations on their personal space account have been their choice of it from June 2005, in which they expressed their dislike for Korea, and still trained on one for zip entertainment. These letters, leaked by a netizen who hacked his own space account, were taken out of context and misinterpreted severely by The Korea Media. [9] The apology in this matter continued on June. [10] Although there has been some demand that they should be forced to leave from 2 pm in June, The JUP Entertainment CEO Park Jin-Young on September 7 th, a vote of confidence that suggests they will stay in the group. He said that despite this, in June the next day, his official fanfaka announced that he would leave the group and take the United States back to address the situation. He planned to come back to school and improve this understanding of music. At the same time, he apologised to his fellow band members for not being a good leader and big brother for them. He also promised to come back as a better person. [12] Park Jin-Young confirmed that 2PM would continue as a six-member group. Due to the sensitive topic of June 13 [14] June's release, 2PM withheld for several weeks from their exposure on various kinds of shows. Despite this controversy, after 2PM (15) at the press conference in February 2009, the group went ahead with the release of the first studio album. Known as 01: 59PM, the album was released on November 10 There are still questions about June. On the day of the album's release, Park Jin-young announced that if she wished to decide to return, she would like to return, although after that she wanted to return. In support of June 17, the six 2 o'clock members decided to split their income from their debut album with him. [19] The album includes track expressions by, although his face was excluded from the cover. The group finished their music video for heartbeat again, without June in October 2009, the title song. The group launched promotional activities for albums on a variety of music shows, including M.Net O Good Concerts, [21] KBS Music Bank, MBC Music Corps and 2009 INKAGAO. A week after the album's release and a half, 2PM performed and was honored at the M.net Asian Music Awards with awards for best male group and artist of the year (the latter being one of the three most remarkable awards in the show). The group again gave full attention to the re-performance of ∓ its subsequent performance in June. During the performance, a focus center in the dance formation swayed to the usual position, and its vocals paid off above the speakers without the place. [23] In November 2009, after two weeks of promotional activities for 1: 59PM, 2PM followed his first #1 album release after a TV music show (KBS Music Bank K-Chart), with heartbeat, and went on to take #1 on the K chart for a three weeks. Also, Heartbeat has been taking the Mutizen Song Award Triple Crown to be the #1 song due to the Inkagave 7 chart on THE SBS Inkagave for three weeks, for which a nominated song is eligible to win. On December 30, 2009, the Korea Broadcasting System (KBS) year was recognized as the music festival end, then again ∓ song of the year, winning with [25] 57,060 votes. The second single from 2PM's was titled of waiting 01:59PM. The song performed live for the first time at the SBS Music Festival in December 2009. 2PM's promotion for the album ended in January 2010 with his SBS Inkagavy performance. On core core of CoreAm in February 2010, Zip Entertainment announced that the agreement with the company could not completely expire in June as its contract with all 6 members contractwas permanently suspended. [26] A joint fan meeting and press conference was held two days later at 6 pm and in attendance at The Jump Entertainment CEO Cho. At the end of June, various 2PM fansties were immediately closed after the conference as a protest protest. Management has announced that although 2PM will move forward with six members, a new leader will not be selected to change. In April 2010, the band released, cannot stop the six-track mini album.
