Warning! Spoilers for Avengers: Infinity War below. Don't read unless you've seen the movie, or if you're like me and enjoying spoilers without abandonment. Avengers: Infinity War, the most ambitious crossover in cinema history, has left a lot of people in tears because of its catastrophic ending. Ya know, if Thanos decides to wipe out half the world's population - including some of our superhero friends. They begin to disintegrate in the dust and then, especially more tragically, the young Spiderman, lying in the arms of Tony Stark, looks at Iron Man and says, Mr. Stark, I'm not feeling very well... The tears. Cue the sobs. Meme. As with most dark and tragic things in life and entertainment, the internet decided to meme up this heart-wrenching moment using other figures and moments of pop culture. There are reinterpretations of equally tragic moments - it would be the farewell of Dr. 10th at Rose. Carl Grimes' last moments in The Walking Dead were also honored. And perhaps most tragically, the scene when Grand Master Oogway of Kung Fu Panda dissipates into a group of cherry blossoms as he passes on the other side. This doesn't even need the dust effect. And then come the strange things. RIP Peppa Pig, our queen and subversive icon. Oh, Nemo. You shouldn't have touched that boat. The Windows 95 logo doesn't even need edits. Because there's never been a story more than Barry B. Benson's and... whatever Mrs. Bee Movie's name is. Shrek and Donkey's seperation will definitely break at your heartstrings. What would Josh be without his Drake? Actually, very good, since she didn't invite him to his wedding. There was a healthy dose of controversial public figures. Hello, Mr. Zuckerberg. That's too soon. It's been three years, but it's still too early. Yeowch, don't worry. Topical. And of course no meme is complete without meme-ing another meme. Mmmm... steamed ham. Girlfriend from cheating friend meme gets her revenge. And finally, one that has Spiderman at the other end. Let us hope that this interpretation of the tragic moment has calmed your painful heart. Or maybe it made the situation even worse.
