Visit our website for details on the various religious and cultural events conducted in the Temple. TEMPLE SERVICES: As the needs of the community grow, our temple offers the services of a priest in the temple and in individual homes. Click here for a list of services and fees offered. Note: Select the Do this recurring (monthly) check box on the PayPal page to make an automatic monthly payment. Since 1979, the Hindu Society of Minnesota's only mandir, or temple, has been located in a renovated church in northern Minneapolis, a place too small to meet the needs of a growing Hindu community. The history of the Maple Grove temple is long and complicated. Temple leaders first met with officials from several Minneapolis suburbs in the late 1980s to discuss the location of the new temple. Today, leaders of Hindu society often notice that the temple's location meets the requirements of the v_stu__stra, which requires temples to be placed on an elevated rectangular piece of land on the east side and surrounded by water. Maple Grove, purchased in 1998, borders two creeks, has a large pond and is surrounded by forests and corn fields.
