Westbrook high school graduation 2020

Picture: kali9 / E+ / Getty Images High School memories are usually about making new friends, dancing at prom or homecoming and, of course, studying for these difficult exams. Do you remember topics such as mathematics, history, science and English? Some of these issues seemed pointless at the time, but they are essential to shaping us all into well-rounded people. In other words, it is not a question of referring to certain formulas, historical data or what a compound word is (although this might be useful in the future). In high school, it's about using your intelligent brain to find out problems in a creative and logical way. And when you talk about difficult subjects, you probably remember advanced courses like chemistry, physics, calculus and biology that required you to stretch your brain muscles and use those hours after school for homework help! But what does it mean to finish high school? Is it about getting good grades, or is it really about becoming a competent person who will succeed in a future career? There is no right or wrong answer to this, but it is something to think about anyway. So if you're curious if you'd go to high school today, take this educational quiz now!
