You need to learn to use coverage and special grenades, go slowly and avoid being surprised at all costs. Much of the campaign is written based on specific events - either killing all enemies in the area, after a set period of time, or when you move to a point – and it often takes trial and error to learn these moves to hit the checkpoints. Depending on whether you enjoy Black Ops 2's multiplayer, it will either come naturally as part of your position, or it will be a laborious grind. To rank fastest, I would recommend playing modes you most enjoy forcing yourself to play high XP modes. The same goes for weapons. Low end counts will also easily use you extra XP. It will take 16 - 24 hours of game time depending on how good you are and how high your score per minute is.
