Rated 5 out of 5 by TALON52 by MTAC Many volume much less money This Burriss MTAC 1.5-6 X 42mm is my second burris scope that I bought. My first burris scope of XTR 1.5-6 X 40mm that I mounted on the AR-10 build made me a burris enthusiast. The first thing I noticed was that my new Burriss MTAC volume was packed high. The matte finish perfectly matches my AR-15. Looking through the glass is super clear, I'm sure the 30mm tubes help with clarity. The illuminated network is fragile and transparent with a wide range of adjustments. Weighing in at just 15.5 oz. MTAC volume is a great match for my AR-15. Publication date: 31/01/2016 Rated 5 out of 5 Hotrod from the great selection of 3 gun I use tac-30 for about 6 months, this is a great piece of equipment! Goals of 50 yards or less 1 power runs as a red dot with both eyes open, I reached the competition by 300 yards and suffered a 1 shot hit several times. I never fired it with a reticle illuminated, it is black normally and it is very easy to see the day, I am sure that a low-light situation illuminated by a reticle would be awesome. My only complaint is I would like a little more magnification, maybe 1-6, but definatly not a deal breaker! I would definatly recommend this product! PhillipDate posted: 2015-04-25 Rated 5 of 5 fawn saver from the great scope of coyote rifle No one allowed me down on this scope. Mtac is the scope of hunting for sure and don't let it get u down shooting on paper, the field you will be surprised by accuracy. I also say when I bought the scope and look forward to the illuminated sight of a little light. However, I found it works best day and off at night, using an exiting ring diversion allowing your eye center to be on target. Ill add a little pic or my last trip with my mtac 1-4.Date announced: 2015-10-24 Rated 4 of 5 Hank from Awesome Clarity picked up this on trade, new condition, coyote hunting. The glass is amazing! Very clear. The construction is also very robust. CQB, it's a ticket. And body hits 300 is the wind. Down reticle is not shooting in MOA groups, but it is not designed for that. In addition, the lighting flickers on number three, because it does not press hard. This has a positive click on the rest. In general, for money, this optics are above this peers and I'm very happy. I like the fact that I can use it as a combat optical and hunt coyotes too. Publication date: 06/02/2016 Rated 5 out of 5 Napools from Clear and Strong This is full field coverage, which I grabbed a big and dangerous game. Heavy reclining rifle, 1) reticle is the type I like accuracy close and mid-range 2) 1.5 magnification is optimal for a particularly wide field view and target acquisition emergency required in situations 3) volume has good eye relief for 375 Ruger backrest and robust A 30 MM tube, a good light dialing ability to make this my choice of my big and dangerous game rifle. Publication date: 27/10/2014 Rated 5 out of 5 thtor from Excellent Value I've been running MTAC on my Sig 556 SWAT rifle for almost a year now. This is actually my second MTAC; the first one I bought had a very slightly canted reticle (that I did not notice at the time of purchase). Burris' service was simply outstanding; I was sent a change of scope pronto. Higher sleek lighting settings work even in the brightest sunlight. I wish the lowest setting was actually a little *dimmer* – it tends to wash out your night vision on some really dark nights. But it's a small grip. I really love the real increase of 1X at the low end - shooting with both eyes is completely natural, so this is a moment to rain a little bad news about the local pig population. :-))Date of publication: 2014-10-08 Rated 4 out of 5 Rastus from the Great scope has me want a new one. I like the quality of the scope. I specifically bought this scope due to the 42mm objective light collection capability and low power setting (1.5times). Brought him to Larry Vickers carbine class a week ago and he worked perfectly. I would buy 2 or 3 more if they would offer 42mm 1.0 x 4 or 6 power ... 1.5 runs close, but requires special training to use 1.5 as a point. 1.0 power low with 42mm would be the real winner of the little light.... You don't have to choose the worst day of your life that can't occur in broad daylight. Publication date: 07/09/2015 Rated 4 out of 5 dashotgun from a large volume I bought this for my TAVOR bullpup and couldn't be happier. I spotted it 100 meters and the red circle is effective in a short range. One power allows both eyes to be opened. Eye relief is suitable. It has zero and I feel like this is a piece of quality. price to performance is pro no cons I would like it to come with lens caps butler creek caps break with regularity. I also own leathermen 1x 4 which I sold not like reticle . I replaced the Leupold VXR patrol, which is pricer then burris and only only better image quality but is 1.25 minnumDate posted: 2014-10-08 bvseo-1.0.1.3-betabvseo-pbvseo-CLOUDbvseo-15msbvseo-REVIEWSbvseo-PRODUCTbvseo-getContentAsked by: Anonymous Hello, Both of them are made exclusively in the Philippines.Replied: Burris SupportDate published: 2020-07-23How: Ryan ZRUS Hello, MTAC coverage engraved reticles.
