Scarlet flax linum rubrum

You may not know that Flax is a source of linseed oil, which is ideal for polishing and decorating wood. Quick Facts Type: Flax Flower Season: Annual Color: Red Height: Height 12 - 36: Spread Environment 18: Full Sun / Partial Shade Zone: 3 - 10 Note: It is easy to grow, attracting pollinators and other useful insects, best sown by the masses. Sowing flax seeds is best known directly outdoors, but it can be sown in the house as well. If sown in the house, start in a peat pot 6 to 8 weeks before the last frost. Peat pots will allow you to plant all pots directly into the earth without disturbing the roots. Sow at shallow depths of 1/16 under topsoil, since the seeds will require light to germinate properly. Transplanting or sowing directly outdoors, when all the dangers of frost have passed. Growing conditions, flax plants will enjoy areas of full sunlight to partial shade. They also thrive in temperatures anywhere between 65F and 75F in well drained soils. Adding compost gently to a hard and compact soil will increase drainage. Keep the seeds moist until they germinate. Germination and seed growth begin to germinate within 7 to 10 days, but it can take up to 21 to 28 days. After successful germination, you can start enjoying a group of ruby red flowers a few weeks later. Later on, i
