With this document, students will have all their TRF forms for the grading period in a single document. This will also allow them to quickly and easily refer to previous tutorials for review as well as for analysis of how much time was dedicated to each subject area during the assessment cycle. How to: If it's white, you can type - some cells in the document that are white are for student input while the other cells are labels. Add the template to Google Classroom as an assignment and Make a copy for each student Remember to add a course to TRF so students can easily find it later in the grading period. Students have all their TRF forms for the grading period in a single document. The tabs at the bottom of the worksheet window are for 2 tutorials / week in 9 weeks. These tabs can be renamed. TIP: Students can submit their training videos for the day/week via the turn in button in the classroom, but keep in mind that when they turn it in, they can no longer edit the document. Teachers/supervisors review the document and record the score, and then release the document back to the student to prepare for the next training session. Extra tip: Add a private comment to the student in the classroom with the grade and feedback on how to improve the TRF for the next time. If you were excused absent for a TRF or binder check, here is the form to settle these tasks. Remember, this is only for Mrs. Martinez. Please check with your AVID teacher about his or her make-up policy. Você precisa conferir o Ferry Building. Tiago Quando você concluirá as edições?
