

What does meme mean? What is the definition of this internet slang word? Learn how and when to use this online term with THE INF infographic and useful discussion examples to improve your English vocabulary. Meme meaning The meme is an element such as videos, texts, and photographs that are found to be humorous and pass from person to person for mutual enjoyment. In today's time, these are the most captioned images you get passed around the internet. The origin of Meme Meme is actually an abbreviated version of the Greek word pantomime. That definition is something that was ailed. In 1976, writer Richard Dawkins was forced to defend his newly created meme word that he used in his book The Selfish Gene. Yes, he was worried that people wouldn't take kindly to spelling the Greek word pantomime, but that didn't stop him, and he quickly took root in the American langue. Similar slang words Mimic - Like finding a hidden chest inside your favorite game, just to find out it's not what it seems. (Greek spelling mim means pantomime or imitate.) Conversation drink Here's how meme is usually used. Example 1: A boy waiting for his friends in the bathroom writes: Jimmy was here on the walls for all to see. The next boy who saw what he wrote to do the same thing in the next bathroom he visits. Example 2: A black screen photo that says: I text fast 30 times, or 6 days later too late, I have no intermediate intention. The image is then shared from the Facebook wall and posts from people on the internet. Example 3: Kermit, a picture of the frog staring in the mirror. Kermit is clearly sad and very overweight. The caption at the top of the picture reads: I: I deserved another treat.. This photo gets passed around a ton from one Instagram user to another, showing the poor frog Kermit trying to be healthy, but unfortunately doing what we're all doing. Making bad decisions and saying one more piece of cake won't hurt anything. Example 4: A photograph of a child about 3 or 4 years old who takes the photo tightly and in the front seat of a car. At the top of the picture the caption says: I do when I perform next to the person who cut me down. A clear picture shows how we feel while driving and someone cuts in front of us. Learn the definition, usage and other meanings of this internet acronym for interesting conversation examples and ESL infographic. RSVP report When you receive an invitation or letter that says rsvp is whether you wish to participate in the event written by the invitation and/or the letter, or whether you wish to participate in the event. Origin of RSVP The term rsvp comes from the French term Repondez s'il vous plait and means please reply. The right way to reject the rsvp is by saying: Sorry to inform you you should be rejected. and / or RSVP, regrets only. This is highly recommended to do if you have no plans to attend the event. Most often an unanswered rsvp is considered an easy way to accept it. Sending your regrets is the only real way to stop the confusion if you don't plan on participating. Conversation examples Here are some ways this internet slang word is used. Example 1: You get a beautiful wedding invitation in the email, and after opening it you see it say: Please reply. Many people do this at weddings and great serviced events to ensure that plenty of food for everyone comes along, and if you don't answer back with a yes, more than likely, you won't be welcomed to that event. Example 2: Texter 1: Hey, did you send me June on a rsvp? Texter 1: Me too, but I still said I'm going. Texter 2: Well sounds like you go. Or call him and get out of it. Here are a couple of friends talking about a party and if you told the host whether or not they would come. The rsvp wasn't sent to them, they were simply in a conversation asking each other if they told the host whether they were coming or not, and the quickest way to ask someone this question, especially the text would be you rsvp?. Example 3 Company News Letter: Office party this weekend, all should be RSVP by 8pm. He sent a simple letter to all employees telling them to say yes or no to attending the office party by 8 p.m. at the latest.
