We are often asked if there is a mobile app available for our LMS that is provided by Open LMS and runs on Moodle. That said, there are two apps you can use: We strongly recommend that you use the app solely to review content on the go and possible communication with peers and teachers. We don't recommend that you do quizzes or submit assignments through the mobile app, especially if you trust Wi-Fi or your data plan. If the service suddenly fails, it may affect the activity you're in (and possibly your character). Contact us Welcome to the help desk! Send in a technical support ticket Dennis Villeda entered the foster care system at a young age. It turned out to be an emotional rollercoaster out until the late teens. The stability times were short-lived, while the dark times were abundant. But somehow Dennis rose above his troubled past and emerged as a pillar of positive thought and energy. I will not let my decide my future, dennis says. Just because people people Up on me, I didn't give up on myself. I'm not what they said about me. I have received such strong support on the BRCC through the Great Expectations program. Cable signed a memorandum of understanding on November 5, 2019, bringing the nearby higher education institutions into a collaborative and creative partnership focusing on student paths to success. UNC Asheville's academic partnership with Blue Ridge Community College reinforces our commitment to helping students transition to four-year university work seamlessly, said UNC Asheville Chancellor Nancy J. Cable. Our Transfer Promise Program is the latest initiative designed to provide students with a convenient and affordable pathway to continue their university education at UNC Asheville. Based on the North Carolina Comprehensive Articulation Agreement (CAA), the program will allow currently registered Blue Ridge Community College students a direct entry path to UNC Asheville available upon graduation from Blue Ridge Community College. There is no fee to participate. The program gives Blue Ridge students access to information about academic programs, faculty and staff at UNC Asheville that will facilitate the transition to a bachelor's program. Our students here at Blue Ridge are incredibly hard working and we will do everything we can to help make the transition to a four-year university like UNC Asheville easy and smooth, stated Blue Ridge President Laura Leatherwood.Blue Ridge Community College is consistently among the top three institutions for transfer students seeking the original liberal arts and science education offered at UNC Asheville , which includes unique programs such as mechatronics engineering program, offered jointly with NC State. Both Blue Ridge and UNC Asheville offer mechatronics as part of the curriculum, and transfer students can also choose between more than 30 majors and minors at UNC Asheville.Students who wish to participate in the program must satisfy the following conditions: Be a currently registered student at Blue Ridge in a degree-increasing capacity; Submit UNC Asheville application for admission and disciplinary forms at UNC Asheville deadlines; Submit application fees or waiver and fulfill all commitment actions step; Be in good condition at Blue Ridge and other institutions participated;Demonstrate good citizenship and behavior; Earn and maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.50 on Blue Ridge and a minimum GPA of 2.20 in its last period; an associate degree from Blue Ridge in a college transfer program or in an applied program for which an articulation agreement exists. Enroll at UNC Asheville within one academic year (within the next two common terms (autumn/spring semesters) after graduation of associate degree). UNC Asheville has also established a Bulldog Trailblazer Promise Program with Asheville-Buncombe Technical Community College. Both Promise Programs guarantee access to UNC Asheville for those who complete the AA or AS degree in both schools, provided that all eligibility requirements above are met. The programs prioritize the ability to have admission, financial support and enrollment services communicated early in the transition process, which sets students up for maximum success at both institutions. For more information, of Blue Ridge Community College and UNC Asheville are gathered for the signing of the agreement.
