Not only is it recognized in one of the country's official languages, Kiwis are known to drop the occasional māori word conversation. Therefore, it is highly recommended to learn a few basic expressions before the trip. Here are six common phrases you must hear during your stay. Both Māori and Pākehā (New Zealand Europeans) will say hello to this phrase. It is a universal expression, designed in many ways for people from all walks of life. You will hear this as an informal way of saying hello, good morning/afternoon/evening, and, depending on the intonation, for gratitude or show agreement. This is a useful saying to remember. You are going to see this one as you enter a new city, and public buildings such as libraries and museums, among various other places across New Zealand. The alternative phrase you can sometimes hear is nau mai - both basically mean the same thing. Haere mai sign, Auckland Airport | © Daily Sublime/FlickrThere there are different ways to congratulate someone on Te Reo. If you stand with the crowd, whether on a tour with a guide or somewhere else, you encounter this form of greeting. You can often hear someone say tēnā kōrua – a form that you can use when only two people turn. If you really want to accept and learn about Māori's culture and heritage, knowing a few basic expressions of how this will not hurt. When you hear someone ask kei te pēhea koe, you can answer kei te pai (fine/good) or tino pai (really good). Rotorua Marae | © Jodie Wilson/FlickrWhile we have a theme about the main phrases, we can also mention this one. When someone asks: What wai tou ingoa? (What's your name?), just fill in the loophole above to answer the question. This can be used as much as a way to cheer someone up as a show of moral support. For example, if the Kiwi mentions they are going through difficult times, you can hear someone telling them kia kaha. Kia Kaha | © Karen Wilson/FlickrAlthough do this usually marked as an incorrect use of what kite and usually says to local TV presenters and newscasters when bidding to say goodbye to their viewers. He can jump out in everyday conversations with the Kiwis - so keep this in the back of your mind for the future there is another one you will probably see written on the signs, and spoken in general. It's a way to say goodbye when someone leaves - for example, a person who will go home in the evening. On the other side of the spectrum, you'd say goodbye to a person if you're the one who's leaving. Is this a certain is respect, as many in the church seem to see today, or is it really more paralyzing fear that can drive you to your knees shaking? A clear understanding of what the Bible teaches can lead to a true fear of God, which can ultimately lead to the life we had to live in. BASIC is a 7-part short film series that invites us to reclaim the simple, complete and beautiful journey the church has always had to be. MAIN SERIES: Fear of God - DVD BASIC: Who is god's followers guide (Movies 1-3) BASIC: Who is God? - Small group Pack Aunque no podamos este año reunirnos para la Pascua, podemos aun así recordar y celebrar en nuestros hogares lo que Jesús ha hecho por nosotros. En estas sesiones del Evangelio de Marcos, Francis Chan nos enseña acerca de la muerte y resurrección de Jesucristo y nos desafía a considerar cómo vivir nuestras vidas a la luz de su sacrificio y victoria sobre la muerte. Although we cannot meet together for Easter this year, we can still remember and celebrate what Jesus has done for our home. In these Sessions, Francis Chan teaches from mark's gospel about Jesus' death and resurrection and challenges us to consider how to live our lives in the light of his sacrifice and victory over death. Christians today face all sorts of challenges when it comes to understanding who they are and what they need to do. There is no shortage of opportunities that claim to offer the truth. If we are not careful, we may find ourselves chasing after popular opinion, celebrity opinions, or our emotions tug all together despite the unchanging truth found in scripture. In this four-session series, Pastor and author Francis Chan invites students to the power and trust that comes in entrenching their identity, purpose, and relationship in the truth of scripture. Students will take practical steps toward making their lives on a strong Bible foundation. This series is part of our year-long youth Bible Study Program plan to learn more. Podemos pasar algunas horas a la semana en la iglesia o en un grupo pequeño. Este tipo de adoración es bíblica, es un flujo vital en la vida de un cristiano. Pero en las 166 horas restantes de la semana, tenemos el mismo potencial para adorar al Dios que nos creó. El Retiro: alabemos a Dios en el trabajo es para hombres y mujeres en el mundo de los negocios que anhelan incorporar más de su fe en Cristo en sus vidas diarias. Aprovechen la experiencia de los oradores que hablan acerca de cómo adorar en el trabajo. Descubran las oportunidades que los esperan de llevar su fe con ustedes el lunes. Cada uno de nosotros tendrá que enfrentar la eternidad para mirar a través del abismo de la muerte a la vida más allá. Para aquellos de nosotros que hemos elegido seguir a Jesús, esperamos una eternidad llena de alegría y libre de penas. La eternity means that we can live every day on this earth not for our own, but for the sake of the kingdom of God. Let us use what has been given to us in our time to preach the gospel of Jesus to ourselves, to our disciples, and to the world. Prayer is a common theme in Scripture, but students often struggle with questions about the purpose, practice, and power of prayer. Is this invisible God just a miraculous genius who is in heaven and gives us what we want? Does God really want to know about us, and if so, how does he react? If God already knows everything, what is the essence of prayer? Why does God not always answer our prayers? During the four powerful sessions, we will examine these difficult questions and hear students how prayer has affected the difficult situations they have encountered. Francis Chan will show what the Bible says about prayer, and help teens understand how they should pray, why they are calling to pray, and why God invites them to communicate with him. Please note: This series is for high school youth. Review the material, especially if you plan to show it to high school teens. Welcome to RightNow Media's overnight marriage conference. Whether you have been six months or sixty years, taking the time to learn and laugh together goes a long way to make your relationship strong. * Note: The real-life stories in this series are adult themes.*The world tells teens that they should have everything and everything. Often, time passions become more important than passions of long-term importance. But what happens when teenagers receive a clear vision of the future in which God is centered, who clearly defines heaven and hell and sees Christ, not them sitting on the eternal throne, what would it have been if all life had lived in the light of the lens of eternity? Would students see beauty and joy in loving God and loving others in relation to the empty aspiration of personal pleasure? For four sessions, Francis Chan reveals what scripture says about eternity by inserting false opinions about heaven and hell. This will inspire students to delay the fleet and passionately seek God and his mission in the light of eternity. Please note: This series is for high school teens. First look at the material, especially if you plan to show it to high school students. Mark's gospel records Jesus' journeys from Galilee to Jerusalem. Along the way, the Messiah collects a group of disgusting disciples. As the crowds grew and abandoned on their way to Jerusalem, few were left with a man of pain on the path of discipleship. In this series of 11 Sessions of the Gospel of Mark, author and speaker Francis Chan invites him to walk with him on the ancient paths of the Master. As Francis follows in the footsteps of Jesus and the twelve disciples through Israel, Francis explores the main themes of Mark's gospel and asks: Are you ready to make the journey to become a disciple? We can spend a few hours of our week in church or in a small group. Such worship is a biblical and vital rhythm in christian life. But in the next 166 hours of our week, we have the same opportunity to worship god who created us. Working as a worship retreat is a retreat for men and women in the business world who want to incorporate their Christian faith more into every day of their week. Experience the entire series of speakers as they discuss what it looks like to worship our work. Reveal the opportunities you've been waiting for you to carry your faith with you on Monday. The next step is collaborating with Francis Chan, the acclaimed speaker and author of Crazy Love, to produce the Greater Than film series. Francis walks us through his difficult childhood to help us understand that God is greater than any pain, sin or hardship that we may face in this life. Watch videos and together with the study leader, and you will also understand that God is greater than any obstacle standing in your way. Mark's gospel chronicles Jesus' journey from Galilee to Jerusalem. Along the way, the Messiah gathers a fierce group of students. As the crowds grew and disappeared on the way to Jerusalem, only a few of the disciples on the path stuck to the Suffering Saviors. In this 11-part series about mark's gospel, author and speaker Francis Chan invites us to walk with him on the Master's ancient paths. Tracing the steps of Jesus and the Twelve through Israel, Francis explores the main themes of Mark's gospel and asks: Do we want to take this journey to include disciples? Each of us will have to face eternity—to look through the chasm of death into life beyond. For those of us who have chosen to follow Jesus, we look forward to eternity, full of joy, and free from sorrow. The guarantee of eternity means that we can live every day on this earth not for our own benefit, but for the sake of the kingdom of God. Let us take advantage of what has been given to us during the time when we must preach the gospel of Jesus to ourselves, our disciples, and the world. Attention: This film was shot on the spot in East Africa and contains mature themes and short images of extreme suffering and naked children. On their twentieth wedding anniversary, Francis and Lisa Chan traveled to East Africa to visit the ministry, committed to helping young women from the sex industry and giving orphans and children who need it. At that time, they wrote a book about marriage, later released as You and I forever. After working in Africa, they decided to independently publish the book as a way to maximize the book's earning potential and allocate revenue to the ministry. Using its own story, this film offers a powerful glimpse into the light God shines in dark Places of Africa telling the tale of transformed lives, as well as those who have devoted their resources toward other services. But this film is also an invitation to consider what God has given us so that we can expand on those in need in order to familiarize them with their greatest need— relationship with Jesus Christ. True faith bears fruit. Faith without action and without life changes is ultimately a dead faith. James's book refers to the realities of living faith in Jesus—the kind of and get his hands dirty disciple, who is from an authentic relationship with the resurrected Lord. James writes to believers who know the suffering, who have faced trials, and who ultimately desire a deep relationship with God.Francis Chan unpacks the dense truth in Jacob's book in front of the iconic background of San Francisco, the city in which he lives and ministers. During the 12 sessions, Francis works through the James Verse, challenging followers of Christ to move beyond the private, intellectual knowledge of God and His Word, to the energetic faith that affects every square inch of life. This series is part of our year-long youth Bible Study Plan – learn more. La verdadera fe produce fruto. Una fe sin acción y sin un cambio evidente es una fe muerta. El libro de Santiago habla acerca de las realidades de una fe viva en Jesús-la clase de fe demostrada en un discípulo que se remanga la camisa y se ensucia las manos, que nace de una auténtica relación con el Señor Jesucristo. Santiago escribe a creyentes que comocen el sufrimiento, que han enfrentado pruebas, y que ultimadamente desean una profunda relación con Dios. Francis Chan explica la densa realidad que contiene el libro de Santiago en frente del icónico fondo de San Francisco, la ciudad donde él vive y ministra. Través de doce sesiones, Francis escudriña el libro de Santiago versículo por versículo, desafiando los seguidores de Cristo a crecer un nivel más allá de simplemente tener un conocimiento privado e intelectual de Dios y subra Pala-Francis nos invita tener una fe vibrante que impacta cada milímetro de nuestras vidas. Para obtener toda la experiencia descargue los recursos y complementos subsiguientes. La guía de estudio contiene más de 50 páginas de una enseñanza profunda con direcciones para la discusión en grupo y respuestas útiles para preguntas bíblicas. Esta guía de estudio va más allá de tan sólo darnos conocimiento, nos da varias aplicaciones prácticas de la Palabra de Dios para nuestra vida diaria o para nuestro estudio en grupo. * Note: The real-life stories in this series are mature themes.*The world tells teens that they should have everything and have it now. Too often, temporary passions are elevated above those things of long-term significance. But what happens when teenagers are presented with a clear vision of the future, one that correctly puts God in the center, clearly defines heaven and hell and rightly sees Christ, not them sitting on the eternal throne? What if all life was lived through the lens of eternity? Will students not see greater beauty and joy in loving God and loving others compared to the empty aspiration for personal pleasure? During the four sessions, Francis Chan unpacks what scripture says about eternity by denouncing false opinions about heaven and hell. It will inspire students to let what is short-lived and passionate to seek God and His mission, according to eternity. Please note: This series is dedicated to high school-age teens.
