Revised January 2019: Choose a product your family may want to purchase that is considered a large expense. Write a plan that tells how your family will save money on the purchase identified in Requirement 1a. Discuss the plan with your Merit Icon counselor. Discuss the plan with the family to discuss how other family needs should be addressed in this regard. Develop a written purchase strategy for purchase defined in requirement 1a. Identify the quality of a product or service (using consumer publications or rating systems). Comparison store for item. Find out where you can buy the best price. (Provide prices from at least two different price sources.) Call around; learning about advertising. Look for a coupon for sale or discount. Let's look at alternatives. Can you buy the item you're in? Should you wait for a sale? Do the following: Prepare a budget that reflects your expected income (allowance, gifts, wages), expenses and savings for 13 consecutive weeks. If your spending exceeds your budget revenues, identify steps to balance your budget. If the income exceeds budget expenditures, learn how you will use the extra money (new goal, savings). Track and write down your actual income, expenses, and savings for 13 consecutive weeks (the same 13-week period you budgeted for). (You can use the forms presented in the merit badge brochure, develop your own, or use a computer version.) Once completed, submit entries showing the results to your merit of the ADVISOR badge. Compare your budget with actual revenue and spending to understand when your budget worked and when it didn't work. With your merit badge advisor, discuss what you might do differently next time. Discuss with your counselor the merit icon of five of the following concepts: Emotions that you feel when you get money. Your understanding of how the amount of money you have with you affects your spending habits. Your thoughts are when you buy something new and your thoughts on the same item three months later. Explain the concept of buyer's remorse. How hunger affects you when buying food (snacks, food). Your experience is an item you acquired after watching or hearing advertisements for it. Did the product work as well as it was advertised? Your understanding of what happens when you put money into a savings account. Charity. Explain his purpose and your thoughts about it. What you can do to better manage your money. Explain to your merit badge consultant: the differences between savings and investing, including the reasons for using one over the other. The concepts of return on investment and risk and how they relate. Concepts interest and complex interests. The concept of diversifying investments. Why it is important to save and invest for retirement. Explain to your consultant the merit badge that the following following are and how everyone works: Common Equity Mutual Life Insurance Certificate Deposit Certificate (CD) U.S. Savings Account Savings Bonds Explain to your advisor why people can purchase the following types of insurance and how they work: Car Health Homeowner/Tenant's Lifetime Explain Your Merit Badge Advisor as follows: What is a credit, what interest, and how the annual interest rate (APR) measures the true cost of the loan. Different ways to borrow money. Differences between card, debit card and credit card. What are the costs and pitfalls of using these financial instruments? Explain why it is unwise to make only a minimum payment on your credit card. Credit reports and how personal responsibility can affect your credit report. Ways to eliminate debt. Show your counselor a merit badge of your understanding of time management by doing the following: Write a list of tasks or activities such as homework, chores, and personal projects that need to be done over the coming week. List them in order of importance to you. Make a seven-day calendar or schedule. Put in a set of activities such as school classes, sports practices or games, jobs or responsibilities, and/or scouts or church or club meetings, and then plan when you will be doing all the tasks out of your make list between set activities. Follow the one-week schedule you have planned. Keep a daily diary or diary during each of the seven days of activity this week, writing down when you have completed each of the tasks on your do list compared to when you planned them. With your merit badge advisor, review your do list, weekly schedule, and diary/journal to understand when your schedule worked and when it didn't work. Discuss what you can do differently next time. Prepare a written plan for the project that demonstrates the steps below, including the desired result. This is a project on paper, not a real project. Examples include planning a campaign, designing a public works project or a school or religious event, or establishing an annual patrol plan with additional activities that are not yet included in the troops' annual plan. Discuss your completed project plan with your merit icon consultant. Identify the project. What is your goal? Develop a timeline for the project that shows the steps you need to take from start to finish. Describe your project. Develop a list of resources. Determine how these resources will help you achieve your goal. Develop a budget for your project. Do this: Choose a career that you can enter after high school or college. Discuss with your consultant qualifications, education, skills and experience. Explain to your counselor what the associated costs may be for continuing this career, such as schooling, school or training, as well as a room and board. Board. how you could prepare for these costs and how you could make up any shortfall. Personal Management Sheet Follow Me, Scouts Category : Table.
