Bell High SchoolNewspaperPalatrinYearbookTriuneWebsitewww.hebid.sduTrinity Trinity High School (also known as Eules Trinity in Sport) is a public high school in Eules, Texas. The school serves levels 10-12 and is part of the Hurst-Eules-Bedford Independent School District. The school is named Trinity as the three towns included by the school district in which it is located: Hurst, Eules, and Bedford (and also as a reference to the nearby Trinity River, which forms the southern boundary of the school district). The school mascot is a Trojan horse. Trinity High School football team has won the Texas 5A Division 1 State Championship three times (2005, 2007, 2009). [3] Trinity High School is also notable as the most diverse public high school in Texas and the fifth most diverse public high school in the country. In 2017, the school was rated Met Standard by the Texas Education Agency, with a 5-star award for academic achievements in ELAReading, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies and Post-Secondary Readiness. [6] History Other Trinity High School logo, used on a Trinity School stationery was established as the second high school in the Hurst-Eules-Bedford Independent School District. (The first high school was L.D. Bell High School, which opened in 1957 in Eules; and moved to its current site in Hurst in 1965). The campus is located on a hill in west-central Eules, less than 500 feet from the boundary of the town of Eules-Bedford. Campus Aerial Image of the entire Trinity High School campus is composed of eleven separate buildings, most of which are named for the department they house (often abbreviated to the first letter). The original nine buildings were: the Fine Arts Building, the University Building, the Library, the Science Building, the Physical Education Building, the Cafeteria, the Drivers' Education Building, a small two-storey building called Building D and an administrative building. The physical education building once included a natatorium that was set up and finally demolished in the 2010s. The late 1990s brought three major changes to the campus: a covered walkway system was built to connect most of the school's buildings, a new music hall was added to the Arts Building, and a wing has been added to the Academic Building. This new wing became the new face of the campus due to its large and important façade and provided new offices for the principal, assistant directors and secretaries. The original administrative building was converted to house the counillors' offices. In the early years of the new millennium, two new buildings were added to the trinity campus. The two-storey N building is located on the southern edge of the campus and houses the Foreign Language Department and many classes and the Office of the International Bacculaureate Program Coordinator. Just a little further down the campus of Building D is the new W-Building. The W-Building houses special education classrooms and is specially designed to meet the needs of students with physical disabilities. An activity center named after former director B.J. Murray opened in 2013 with a 70-yard indoor field, offices, locker rooms and a muscle room dedicated to Trinity alumnus Ryan McBean. [7] The center is colloquially known as the Mac. [8] Student Corps During the 2016-2017 school year, trinity High School recruited 2,574 Grade 10 (34.4%) students, Grade 11 students (34.0%) Grade 12 (31.6%). The ethnic groups represented were Whites (31.3%), Hispanics (29.2%), African Americans (21.4%), Asian and Pacific Islanders (9.9%), Native Hawaiians and Pacific Islanders (3.2%), two or more races (4.3%) and Native Americans (0.8%). 6] Forty-eight percent were economically disadvantaged. Eules is home to one of the largest Tongan populations outside Of Tonga: The school is known for welcoming and celebrating students from diverse backgrounds. [9] [10] [11] One of the school's most visible cultural celebrations is the performance of the Sipi Tau university football team before and after each game. Trinity High School receives students from three feeding schools: all students from Eules Junior High School and Harwood High School attend Trinity with about half of the students in Central High School. Students from Bell Manor, Lakewood, Meadow Creek, Midway Park, North Eules, Oakwood Terrace, Shady Brook, South Eules, Spring Garden, Viridian and Wilshire elementary schools attend Trinity High School. [14] The State of Texas has defined college preparation, or willingness to undergo university studies, by scores on the ACT and sat and in the 11th year Texas Assessment of Knowledge and Qualifications (TAKS) tests. Holly Hacker of The Dallas Morning News said the school was performing well in that regard. [15] Academics: Tarrant County High Schools, Trinity High School ranks eighth (out of forty-six) in average points above passing the Grade 11 TAKS test. On the 2016 Washington Post list of America's Toughest High Schools, Trinity High School ranked 1497th out of 22,000 public high schools, based on a ratio of 1,886 college exams per graduate. By similar criteria, the school is ranked 304th in the country (and 6th in Tarrant County) on Newsweek's 2007 list of the top 1,200 high schools in the country[18] among Trinity's class in 2016, the average old SAT score was 1442 (the Texas average was 1375), and the average act score was 21.8 (the Texas average was 20.3). In 2016, the school had 7 National Merit semifinals[19] and 2 semifinals in 2017. Trinity High School is a global international bachelor's school. The program received its first group of seniors in 2004.
