Pops a dent instructions

Step by step instructions for using tooth extraction kit 1. Prep tabs by soaking them in 91% rubbing alcohol and drying them out before first use. 2- Insert a glue stick into the glue gun. Plug in the glue gun and allows it to heat for 5 minutes. 3. Clean the area to repair with 91% isopropyl rubbing alcohol and clean towels. It is important to remove all wax and grease from the surface to ensure the glue and teething tabs are properly glued to the affected area. 4. Choose the correct tooth size pulling tab by comparing it to the size of the dent. Larger tabs are supposed to be used for larger dents and smaller tabs used for smaller teeth and for dent finishing. 5. To save time when performing multiple repairs, glue and place all tabs at once on the vehicle, then perform all repairs. 6. Hot glue is applied to tooth-pulling tabs by dragging on the glue gun trigger until almost a coin is released the size of the glue amount. Use 'chickpeas' drops as much glue for smaller tabs and coin sizes or a little more for larger tabs. 7. Apply the tooth extraction sheet to the exact center of the dent. Avoid exerting too much pressure when putting the tab rack into the serous area, so you don't create too thin of a layer of glue between the machine panel and the tooth-pulling tabs. 8. Allow the glue to be adjusted for about 5 minutes. Glue should be hard to touch by the time you start repairing. If your finger nails leaves picked up in glue, simply allow a few more minutes for glue to harden. Keep the panel repaired out of direct sunlight so the glue will be adjusted correctly. 9. Slide the lift dent machine directly over the teeth pulling the tab shaft until the female adapter in the center of the tooth lifter slides over the tab shaft. Set the height handle accordingly. 9a. The T-Hand puller may be used for larger dents or to remove the last 10 to 20% of a dent. 10. Push the lift dent handle gently several times until the desired result is achieved. As the damage gets smaller, reduce the size of the dent pulling tab until the dent gets flashed. 11. It is common for teething tabs to release from glue, leaving glue on the automotive panel. When this happens, spray 91% rubbing alcohol on the edge of the glue and peel it away using plastic scratches. It may be necessary to repeat the steps #5-12 the desired result has not been achieved. It is not uncommon to repeat the process up to ten times. 12. Sometimes a high point is created when pulling the dent. If this happens, gently tap down any top spots using a dent hammer and plastic tap down the tools provided, until the dent is kindle. Be careful not to tap to hard or you may create extra low points. Important information: This process works better when the car panel is repaired between 60 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Hot glue will not be adjusted or treated at high temperatures. Restaurant The results, do not perform repairs in direct sunlight, as hot glue may not be properly regulated. Position the car panel in a shaded area or let the panel cool down before doing the repair. Tooth extraction devices have limitations and are not designed to repair collision damage or dents located in thick metal. Very deep dents, rigid areas of car panels and dents with existing paint damage may be repaired using slide hammers and dent lifts. Never use dent pullers on vehicles with previous body repair where bondo or body fillers were used. The product is only recommended for use in factory OEM painting vehicles. Vehicles.
