The Hong Kong government said it strongly opposes the U.S. congressional report critical of Beijing's handling of the city, calling the report biased, politically motivated and does not reflect the truth. An annual report from the bipartisan Congressional-Executive Commission on China this week said that a one-country, two-system system in Hong Kong has been dismantled, seriously jeopardizing the rule of law and respect for human rights that the city has long enjoyed. The report says the national security law imposed by Beijing in the summer on the former British colony directly undermines the right of the people of Hong Kong to due process and their freedom of expression and association. Police were reportedly warned of the threat of a significantly violent situation involving angry Trump supporters armed with guns. Advertising • Logic 'n Mindslekaba you your feedback. Two people on a chartered flight to the Australian Open have tested positive for Covid-19, local health authorities said. Victoria's Department of Health and Human Services said in a statement on Saturday a crew member and an Australian Open member who is not a player have been taken to a health hotel after returning for positive tests. Players began to arrive in the country on Thursday before the two-week quarantine period, during which they are allowed to practice five hours a day from their premises. However, players and support staff on the flight are considered close contacts and will not be allowed to train. All of the remaining 66 passengers on the flight are identified as close contacts, the statement said. Friction generated by several plates located in the clutch of the Honda Shadow 750 motorcycle transfers power from the engine to the gear. If your motorcycle is slipping in and out of gear or you've heard or felt grinding coming out of the clutch plates, remove the clutch to check for plate and spring damage or wear. Damaged clutch plates may appear cracked, burned or stuck together. Springs can become stretched, broken, or rusty. Place the drain pan just below the crank body cover on the right side of the motorcycle. Remove the crank body cover to reveal the clutch. Locate the four lien screws in the corners of the clutch plate. Remove the screws with a wrench. Remove the four suspensions from the stoppers under the screws by pulling them straight manually. Unscrew the pressure plate from the bottom springs. Remove the fiber and metal discs under the pressure plate. The modern sports motorcycle image terex from Fotolia.com Honda CB750 was released in the US in January 1969 and almost instantly changed the motorcycle world forever. Featuring the first mass produced by an in-line four-cylinder engine, hydraulic disc brakes, and weighing only 480 pounds, the CB 750 quickly became a class in itself. Production increased from the initial 25 units per day to more than three thousand units per month at production height. To have your Honda CB750 running at peak performance, a comprehensive tune-up every 4,000 miles is recommended. Find the air box under the fuel tank and next to the carburtors. Remove the two hold down the screws and release to the bottom of the air box. Remove the air cleaning element and discard it. Set air cleaning elements in the air box. Attach the bottom of the air box with the handle down. Start the engine and deliver it to normal operating temperature. Shut the engine. Release all four spark plug wires and remove the spark plugs. Check spark plugs burned electrodes, raw gasoline, excessive or other problems that may indicate an internal engine problem. If any plug indicates a problem with this cylinder, then this problem must be corrected first before further sorting of the problem can be done. Connect the compression meter to the number of the first cylinder. The number one cylinder is the one furthest left as you look at the motorcylcle sitting on it. Press the starter button and turn the engine over 4 to 7 seconds. Write down the reading for the compression gauge. Remove the compression meter from the first cylinder. Repeat step 3 for each remaining cylinder. Actual reading data is not as important as the difference between balloons. If the readings devith more than 10 psi then there is a problem with piston rings, valves or carbon build up. Gap four new spark plugs up to 0.24-0.28 using the spark plug gapping tool. Place a small drop of oil on the spark plug threads and set the plug on the cylinder head of the hand. Tighten the spark plugs and an additional 1/4 to 1/2 turn with the spark plug spanner. Replace the spark plug wires. Spark plugs are pulled, the plug gasket will be destroyed and the machine threads in the spark plug opening may be damaged. Remove the ignition cover and attach the tachometer to the ignition lead. Attach the inductive time light floodor to the first cylinder. Connect the light supply time to the battery. Start the engine and set the idle speed to 1000 rpm. Unscrew the three screws on the outer edge of the stopwatch base plate. Shine the weather light strobe into the window of the time base. Turn the dot plate until the 1.4 F-1 mark is in the line with the fixed pointer. Firmly tighten the screws of the base plate into your teeth when the time is properly adjusted. Disconnect the stopwatch and tachometer. Replace the ignition cover. Remove the motorcycle seat and turn off the fuel valve. Remove the side caps and hold the screw down. Lift the tank up and back to remove. Remove four vacuum stoppers from the carburtors. Each carburetor has one vacuum stopper. Connect the multi-port pressure gauge by attaching the tool vacuum wires to the carburtor ports. Make sure the lines are connected in order from one to four in the manometer. Start the engine. Write down the readings of each cylinder. The multi-tone pressure gauge will measure the vacuum in inches. If any cylinder devias more than 2.4 inches from others, adjustment is required. The number 2 carburetor is not adjustable and will be used as a fixed reference point for all other adjustments. Locate the adjustment screw and lock nut between number 1 and 2 carburetor. Unscrew the locking nut and turn the adjustment screw until number 1 is less than 2.4 inches from the 2-digit carburetor. Tighten the adjuster screw locking nut without changing the adjustment. Place on the motorcycle temporarily. Turn on the fuel valve and let the gas flow for at least 1 minute to fill the carburetor bowls. Remove the gas tank and set it aside. If necessary, repeat steps 10 to 12 to make adjustments to carburetors 3 and 4. Turn off the engine and unplug the multi-port pressure gauge. Replace the carburetor vacuum tank plugs, gas tank, seat and side covers. Covers.
