Read diary of a wimpy kid 2 online free

I'm very excited that you have the Kindle edition of wimpy kid's diary in your hands. When I read my first e-book on a Kindle, I was amazed at the possibilities. You're carrying a whole library with me on a device that could fit in my palm? Wonderful. What was very grateful to me as a writer was that I saw the children take their dog-toothed specimens from Diary of a Wimpy Kid with them. The Kindle allows kids to get the whole series at their fingertips and make the reading experience crisp and clean all the time. there is no chance of today's morning spotted on the pages. Thank you for purchasing a Wimpy Kid diary on kindle. I hope it gives you a lot of laughs and you have as much fun reading it as I writing it. Jeff Kinney September Monday I think mom was very proud of herself for having me write that journal last year because now she's gone and bought me another one. But remember how I said if some jerk caught me carrying a book on the cover, they'd misunderstand? Well, that's exactly what happened today. Now that Rodrick knows I have another journal, I'd better keep this locked up. Rodrick got my last diary a few weeks ago, and it was a disaster. But don't even add bowls to start that story. Sissy! Hit my brother Rodrick, even without my Rodrick problems, my summer was pretty lousy. Our family didn't go anywhere, and he didn't do anything fun, and it's dad's fault. Dad made me rejoin the swim team, and he wanted to make sure I didn't fall behind on any meetings this year. Dad had this idea that I was going to be a good swimmer or something, so he made me join the team every summer. Kill them, Brandon. No mercy, Todd. Stop shaking, Greg. chatter chatter 2 The first swim he meets a couple of years ago, dad told me that when the judge shot down the starter gun, he would have to dive and start swimming. But he didn't tell me that the starter gun only went blank. So I was more worried about where the bullet was going to land than getting to the other end of the pool. 3 Even after Dad explained the whole starter pistol concept to me, I was still the worst swimmer on the team. But I finally won the Most Improved award at the awards banquet at the end of the summer. That's only because there was a ten-minute gap between the first race and the last one. I think dad's still waiting for me to grow up to my potential. In many ways, it was worse to be on the swim team than it was in high school. First of all, we had to be at the pool by 7:30. morning, and the water is always freezing cold. Pat Pat 4 And secondly, we were all crammed into two lanes, so there was always someone after me who tried to get around me. We had to use two lanes because swimming practice was the same as the Water Jazz class. I tried to convince dad to let me do the Water Jazz instead of the swim team, but he wouldn't go for it. Splish tap Ot, ladies! Put your arms up! 5 It was the first summer the coach let the boys wear swimming trunks instead of skimpy racing pants. But mom said it was Rodrick's perfect swimsuit. After swimming practice, Rodrick picked me up in his gang's van. Mom had this crazy idea that if me and Rodrick spent quality time every day on the way home, we wouldn't fight that much. But it only made things worse. Rodrick was always half an hour late for me. Hahaha! Your friends are going to be jealous because you're going to be so fast. Hahaha! 6 And he did not let me sit in the front. He said chlorine would destroy his location, even if the van was 15 years old. There's no room in the back of Rodrick's van, so I had to fit in with all the equipment. And every time the van stopped, I had to pray I didn't take my head off rodrick's throw. Back! Gaaah, i'm sorry. slide 7 I ended up heading home every day instead of taking a ride to Rodrick. I thought it was better to walk only two miles than to get brain damage in the back of the van. Halfway through the summer, I decided I was done with the swim team. So I came up with a trick to get out of practice. I went for a few laps, and then I asked the coach if I could use the bathroom. Then I hid in the locker room until practice was over. The only problem with my plan was that it was 40 degrees in the boys' room. So it was even colder than in the pool. I had to wrap myself in 8 toilet papers so I wouldn't get hypothermia. That's how I spent a pretty big part of my summer vacation. And that's why I'm waiting to go back to school tomorrow. On Tuesday, when I went to school today, everyone was acting strange around me, and at first I didn't know what was wrong. Scream! Scream! 9 Then I remembered: I still had the Cheese Touch from last year. I got the Cheese Touch last week at school and during the summer I completely forgot about it. The problem with cheese touch is that you got it until you pass it on to someone else. But it was even 30 feet away from me, so I knew I'd be stuck at Cheese Touch the whole school year. Luckily, there was a new guy named Jeremy Pindle in the room, so that took care of that problem. My first class was pre-algebra, and the teacher placed me next to Alex Aruda, the smartest kid in the whole class. Welcome to our school, Jeremy. Slap 10 Alex is super easy to copy down as he always finishes the test early and puts the paper down on the ground next to him. So if I'm ever stuck, it's good to know I can count on Alex to help me out. Children whose last names begin with the first few letters of the alphabet, the teacher calls the most, and that's why they'll be the smartest. Some people think that's not true, but if you want to come to my school, I can prove it. I can only think of one child who broke the last name rule, and that's Peter Uteger. Peter was the smartest kid in the class until the fifth grade. 11 That's when we started making it harder for him a lot about how his initials sounded when you said it out loud. These days, Peter doesn't raise his hand at all, and he's a pretty good student. I think I feel a little bad about the whole P.U. And what happened to Peter. But it's hard not to take credit whenever it comes up. Teacher, the answer to that question... P.U., i'm sorry. P.U., i'm sorry. Yes! P.U., i'm sorry. P.U., i'm sorry. I started it. 12 Anyway, today I got quite a decent place in every class except the seventh period history. My teacher is Mr. Huff, and something tells me that rodrick was his student a few years ago. Wednesday Mom made me and Rodrick help out more around the house, and now the two of us are responsible for doing the dishes every night. The rule is, we can't watch TV or video games until all the dishes are ready. But let me tell you, Rodrick is the worst food partner in the world. Mr. Heffley, you're going to be sitting in this chair next to my desk. 13 As soon as dinner is over, he goes up to the bathroom and sits in camp for an hour. And by the time he gets back, I'm done. But if I ever complain to mom and dad, Rodrick always pulls out the same lame excuse: I think mom and dad are too worried about my little brother Manny fighting over a fight between me and Rodrick. I'm ready to start! My body is booked. 14 Yesterday, Manny drew a picture at day care and Mom and Dad were very upset when they found him in his backpack. Mom and Dad thought the picture was about them, so now they're acting so in love, The Manny. I knew who was in the picture: me and Rodrick. I love you so much! And I love you so much. 15 After what happened on the remote control there was a big explosion, and Manny was there to witness it all. But mom and dad don't need to know. Thursday Another reason my summer was lame is because my best friend Rowley was on vacation the whole time. I think he went to South America or something, but to be honest, I'm not sure. I don't know if this is a bad person or anything, but it's hard for me to care about other people's vacations. Then we get on a boat and sail down this river... Hey, have you noticed this freckle? 16 Anyway, it seems Rowley's family always travels to some crazy place in the world, and I can never keep the journeys straight. The other reason I don't care about Rowley's travels is because when Rowley comes back from one of her vacations, she always pushes him down my throat. Last year Rowley and his family went to Australia for 10 days, but the way he came back, you'd think he'd lived there his whole life. Another thing that's really annoying is that when Rowley goes to a new country, she gets into whatever fad is going on there. G'day, man! 17 Like when Rowley came back from Europe two years ago, he got hooked on a pop singer named Joshie, who I think is some huge star or something. So Rowley came back with her bags full of Joshie CDs and posters and stuff. I looked at the picture on the CD and told Rowley that Joshie was supposed to be six-year-old girls, but she didn't believe me. Rowley said I was just jealous because he discovered Joshie. And what really irritated him was that now this guy is Rowley's new hero. So if there's anything critical I wanted to say, Rowley didn't want to hear it. Wildlife Heart 18 Speaks of foreign countries, today in French class, Madame Lefrere told us we are going to choose feather mates this year. When Rodrick was in high school, there was a 17-year-old Dutch girl as his pen pal. I know, because I saw the letters in his garbage drawer. Joshie says to respect your parents and follow your dreams. I love the sunny sun & ice cream. So are you? 19 When Madame Lefrere handed out the forms, I made sure to tick the boxes, which would make me a pen pal like Rodrick's. But after Madame Lefrere read through my form, she made me start over and choose again. Said: He had to choose an old boy for me, and he had to be French. So I'm not really hoping for my pen pal's experience. Friday Mom decided to pick me up rodrick coming after school as she took me up after swim practice. I guess that means he didn't learn from that experience. But I did. So when Rodrick picked me up today, I asked him to relax the brakes. Je m'appelle Philippe. 20 r/&t; Rodrick said he was fine, but then he went out of his way to find all the speed police in town. When I got out of the van, I called Rodrick a big jerk, and then the object was done. Mom saw it all unfold from the living room window. Slow collapse ouch bump 21 Mom made us come in and sat us down at the kitchen table. Then he said rodrick and I had to settle our differences in a civilized way. Mom said rodrick and I had to write down what we did wrong, and then we had to draw a picture to get into it. And I knew exactly where mom was going with this idea. Mom went to kindergarten, and when a kid did something wrong, she made me draw a picture of her. I think the idea was for the kid to be ashamed of what he did so he wouldn't do it again. I'm not going to break the crayons because it makes other kids very sad. 22 Well, mom's idea might have worked well for a lot of four-year-olds, but she'll have a Jeff Kinney rating of 4 out of 5/Based on 32 votes
