Paid vacation days are called Leave days in the army. Soldiers earn 2.5 days of leave each month for a total of 30 days for a full year of service. A soldier receives all his usual salary and allowances when they take leave. The current Leave policy allows soldiers to collect 75 days of leave that could be overlooked into the next financial year (the previous limit was 60 days). When a soldier incurs over 75 days of leave, all days above 75 are considered as use or loss days that must be used in the fiscal year before October 1 or they lose those days (except when subject to special leave provision). The 2010 Defense Authorization Act extends the right for soldiers to transfer 75 days of leave each year until September 30, 2013. It can be extended again or can return to the previous limit of 60 days. Army Pass Policy Unit Commanders are also authorized to give soldiers a weekend pass which is also a form of paid vacation day. These are often used as rewards for soldiers who maximize their army physical fitness test (APFT), win a Soldier of the Quarter board, or similar achievement. Passports usually consist of two days off during a regular weekend. Passports in connection with the Leave Pass can be used with Leave in violation of popular belief, but the soldier must be at their permanent duty station at the beginning and end of their planned leave before they go on passage (this change was made in the Ministry of Defence (DOD) Instruction 1327.6 which was published in April 2005). Please note that regular holidays are considered a special passport. Moreover, soldiers are forbidden to put together three such periods of free after another. Frequent use of leave will make a positive contribution to morale, performance level and career motivation. Operational missions and important support functions for each command must be performed to the extent that staffing is permitted. Leave will be granted within the constraints of operational military requirements and in the degree of support for leave provided in the unit staffing document. The annual leave program The leave and passport program is designed to allow soldiers to use their authorized leave to the greatest extent possible. Commanders will establish an annual leave program to manage leave designed to provideThe maximum opportunity for all soldiers to take leave to minimize the loss and payment of leave not taken. A warning to soldiers who do not take leave, that they may lose leave at the end of the financial year (FY). Also, soldiers who maintain a 60-day leave balance, and wait late in FY to take leave, will be informed that they risk loss of leave over 60 days if the operating situation requires their presence. Permitted leave within the limitations of operational military requirements and in the degree of support for leave provided in the unit staffing document. In pursuit of maximum use of leave, commanders must emphasize granting leave:In case of permanent change of drive (PCS). After periods of particularly difficult duty. After prolonged distributions. When there is evidence leave would improve health and morale. During a certain period of time to all soldiers in a given unit. This type of leave is called block leave. (Commanders may authorize all soldiers in a given unit to request leave during a certain period of time. Block leave is granted according to local command policy when it complies with military requirements and is a chargeable leave period.) By reenlistment and accession to normal status from Active Reserve status. During traditional national holiday periods Thanksgiving and Christmas. When soldiers or their families have been personally affected by floods, hurricanes and similar natural disasters. (Emergency leave may be appropriate, see Chapter 6. (It is not the purpose of the leave policy that large leave balances are expressly incurred for settlement upon the soldier's release from active service (paras 2-4d and 4-21 AR 600-8-10).) To key personnel by appointing an acting commander or temporarily assigning appropriate medical personnel, by ensuring the availability of civilian medical services, or by responsive transport to other military or civilian medical facilities (AR 40-5 and AR 40-121) while key personnel are absent. Soldiers undergoing treatment for an infectious or infectious disease will not be granted leave unless the attending physician confirms that the soldier does not pose a threat to public health. The verification will be given to the soldier's commander before leave is approved. Leave insurance Soldiers on active service earn 30 days of leave a year with wages and allowances at a rate of 2 1/2 days a month. This right excludes periods of Absence without leave (AWOL), unless excused as inevitable (see AR 630-10). Prison as a result of a court-martial. Jailed for more than 1 day while awaiting court martial provided soldier is convicted. Excess leave. Unauthorized absence due to the detention of civilian authorities (see para 2-4a AR 600-8-10). Absence in the custody of civilian authorities under the provisions of Article 14, Uniformed Code of Military Justice (UCMJ) provided that the soldier is not entitled to receive salary and allowances (see DODFMR 7000.14-R). Absence over 1 duty day due to the use of drugs or alcohol or due to illness or injury as a result of the soldier's misdeeds. Soldiers in missing status under Section 551, Title 37, United States Code (37 USC 551) earn up to 150 days leave. This is in addition to previous leave. Leave is not for use, but is paid for (para 2-4 AR 600-8-10). Soldiers who die while in a missing status earn leave through the date evidence of death is received by the Army Secretary (SA). The death can be prescribed or determined under 37 USC 555.Except when authorized special leave accrual (see para 3-2 AR 600-8-10), soldiers can accrue and continue up to 60 days leave at the end of each fiscal year. Accrued leave exceeding 60 days at the end of the fiscal year will be lost, except for what is approved in Chapter 3.Soldiers who continue on or are recalled to active service after retirement may be authorized by SA to have leave accrued prior to retirement that was lost to be credited under Section 701c, Title 10, United States Code (10 USC 701c). SA may limit the use of subsequent leave days given based on operational requirements. Soldiers cannot be prohibited from taking leave accrued during the new of military service as a condition of continuation or recall action. Payment of accrued leave. Payment of accrued accrued Made per DODFMR 7000.14-R b.
