If you trust in God, you recognize Him in the way you live and don't lean on your superstition or past experience. Let him guide you. You must have knowledge of the scriptures, a personal knowledge of God, and the knowledge that you live every day in harmony with Him, and expect His guidance. But Let God be God is far from depressing. It is the best exhibition on the Job Book that I have read, and better than any sermon I have ever heard preached on the subject. It helped me understand the history, circumstances, themes, and lessons of this difficult biblical book, and helped me deal with serious problems in my life at that time/5. Let God's Word guide your decisions and the choices you make. His Word is a lamp at your feet, and a light to your way (Psalm).
