Alice in wonderland doormat

Posted in Crafts and Inspiration I made my own Alice in Wonderland themed mat! I wrote the instructions so that you can make one yourself too. There are several Alice tablecloths in Wonderland for sale, but I wanted something I couldn't find in stores. So I decided to make one myself! That's how I did it. Step 1: Buy a neutral coir mat (also called a coconut mat; this was €4.99). Step 2: Create your design with image editing software (like Photoshop) and print it. Engrave the sheets of paper together. I based the text on this image and also found a beautiful picture with Alice's silhouette. Step 3: Cut out the layout to create a template. Step 4: Place the template on the mat and draw the edges of the design with a marker. Step 5: Paint the mat! I used some black paint that is suitable for both interiors and exteriors. I applied the paint with a small and even smaller but robust brush. Don't actually brush on the surface, but 'seal' the paint to the fibers in a downward motion, so it penetrates well at the bottom of the mat. Step 6: Let dry and place in front of your door! I'm not sure how long the painting will last, but I suspect it will last quite some time. Make sure your mat has some one-volam shelter - coir mats don't stand rain and snow very well, regardless of whether they're painted or not. (with a caterpillar) or Off with your shoes!! (with a queen of hearts) it would be great fun for tablecloths too. If you think this is too complicated or too much work, of course you can also buy some tablecloths or carpets commercially available, like these. ☺ have you made a mat or any other Alice-themed element in Wonderland?
