requirements (BSA Publication 33216) Once scouts have started a merit badge, they can continue to work on these requirements even if new requirements or a full set of old requirements. Scouts can not be selected and choose from both groups. If the new requirements are selected, they can of course use the work they have done with one of the old requirement, if the requirements, if the requirements, if the requirement is not changed, or there were only editorial changes that do not actually change the actual requirement. For those scouts who use older requirements because they've already started a badge, older requirements and workbooks are available by following links from the current requirements page If the merit badge brochure is updated within a year, Scout can choose to use either the full old requirement or new requirements in the brochure. They will show the effective date: (i.e. the brochure issued in June 2008 will state the requirements for 2009). When scouts' BSA requirements are updated, all scouts starting the merits badge should use the new requirements. If blank appears in the list, it indicates that the revisions to the workbook are not yet pending due to revised requirements. You can also download ZIP files that contain all current worksheets as either word processor are prepared using the Microsoft Word version of Microsoft Office 365 Suite and are in the DOCX file format that was introduced in 2007. As a lasting version of Microsoft Office or other word processors that do not support this file format, unless the user has downloaded and installed the Compatibility Pack. Microsoft Office XP, 2000, and 2003 users can download the Compatibility Pack, you can use Microsoft Office XP, 2000, or 2003 to open, edit, and save files using file formats in later versions of Word (DOCX), Excel (XLSX), and PowerPoint (PPTX). PDF versions of workbooks are created by using form fields. Scouts can download these files and then burn your notes to the form fields and save their work locally. They have been successfully tested on windows systems with Adobe Acrobat Reader, Foxit PDF Reader and Niance PDF Reader. Each of these programs is available as free downloads. Other PDF readers may also work, however we do know that a PDF reader native to Firefox web browser does not allow data entry. If you're using a Mac computer, we recommend using the free Adobe Acrobat Reader for Mac instead of a PDF reader built into the system. The built-in PDF reader may not display or print the data entered into the workbook form fields correctly. In response to requests we've gotten, we've added light-line-shaped field boxes to provide those scouts who want to hand-write their answers. Since 2010, all new and revised workbooks have been prepared by Paul Wolf with some contributions from RW Smith, a volunteer associated with meritbadge.org. We know now they reflect the current requirements in all cases. Please comment on errors, omissions or suggestions about the workbook format on: Workbooks@USScouts.Org Comments or suggestions for changes to the wording of the requirements for any NOPELEms should be sent to the BSA: Advancement. Team@Scouting.Org copies of all these workbooks (PDF only) are also available on the Meritbadge.org website, some of which are also available on sites maintained by the BSA, including Scouting.org, or boyslifeorg.files.wordpress.com, . We encourage Scouting websites to provide links to this page or copies listed below. However, if you find copies of any other site, they are placed there without our permission and we would be grateful to be informed of these cases. Please email us Workbooks@USScouts.Org the website address. The workbooks are all © Copyright - U.S. Scouting Service Project, Inc. - All Rights Reserved. The requirements are all © Copyright - Boy Scouts of America - and are used with permission. The name American Heritage™ trademark owned by American Heritage Publishing Company, Inc. and used for permission. Please note that the following dates indicate the months when the workbooks were last revised and uploaded. PDFs will indicate this date in the first page header. Word processor files, however, always indicate the current month when the file is opened for editing. Workbooks last updated before March 2019 contain the following statement: No one may add or subtract from the official requirements found in Scout Scout Requirements (Pub. 33216) - SKU 637685). As this publication has been renamed and revised, this statement should be considered as follows: No one may add or subtract from the Scouts BSA (Pub. 33216). The SKU of the 2019 SKU, the Scouting BSA requirement, is 648914. The following workbooks reflect current requirements (including any changes made since the scouts BSA claims the last edition.) If Scout is workbook that reflects these requirements, the workbook can still be downloaded from this site. To do this, follow this procedure: Click on the merits in the chip name list below to open a webpage with current requirements. On this page, click on the link below the heading that reads About Previous Requirements, Click Here. If Scout uses the previous requirements, repeat this step until you see the correct version of the requirements. You can download a workbook that meets the requirements of this page by clicking one of the bottom of that sheet. U.S. Scouting Service Project's Home Page/usscouts.org MERIT BADGE HOME Page updated on: November 15, 2020 The first table below shows the latest Copyright/Review dates for each merit Badge Pamphlets currently in effect, and the date of the latest change requirements for each brochure. The table also includes dates from the Merit Badge Library listing inside the back cover of the current Scouts BSA Claims book. We have publications related to development at the top of the table. A larger list can be found by clicking here. The second set of tables is a list of merit badges, sorted in chronological order from the last revision date to the brochure and the date of the last review of the requirements (last to oldest). Once the content has been updated on the BSA no longer changes the publication number from 33123 to 33123B, etc. to indicate a new edition. The BSA now keeps the publication number unchanged, but assigns a new item (stockkeeping unit) number to the book win. The publication number is indicated in the copyright notice at the front of the book and under the UPC code on the back. The stockkeeping unit appears on the back cover above the UPC code and is used as the item number for ordering from Scoutshop.org. In some cases, the publication number and the SKU are the same because no changes have been made since the first call of the brochure. All Merit Badge Brochures were re-released, with new publication numbers, on August 1, 2008. In many of them, the only changes at that time were adding color to the brochure's content and covers, while others have had major or minor changes to the text and/or requirements. As stated in the Merit Badge Library listing in the current Scouts BSA Claims booklet, there is only one merit badge with a booklet with a pamphlet with a copyright date earlier than 2008 - Surveying. For this 2 badge, old and new brochures are interchangeable, with the only difference being color illustrations. So, in general, with this exception, scouts should no longer use old black and white brochures. As new brochures are issued, if they contain new requirements, scouts have the opportunity to start with the new requirements as soon as the brochures are issued, or they can start work using the old requirements until the next edition of the Scouts BSA requirements are issued. If Scout takes office after the new edition of scouts BSA claims is issued, he must use the new requirements. In any case, when a boy starts with a set of requirements, he can continue to use them until he finishes the badge or turns 18. If he started using the old requirements, he also has the opportunity to move on to the new requirements (which in some cases may actually mean starting again). As long as he meets all the requirements (either old or new), he can earn a badge. However, he can not use, for example, the old requirements 1, 3 and 5 and new requirements 2, 4, and 6-8. If you find a brochure with a later publication or copyright date or stock (SKU) number that is larger than the one shown below, please email us with the name of the earned badge, BSA publications and stock (SKU) numbers (e.g. 35859 - 610461) and copyright date. (If it just says Copyright 2005, 2015 Printing, it means it's printing without changes to the text. In this category, in August 2008, most of the books re-released in the new color format.) If the booklet has also revised the requirements, a copy of these requirements Revision dates in the tables below reflect yearly revisions for the first time appearing in scout bsa requirements, which often a year after the revised requirement appears in a new edition of the merits badge brochure. As far as we know, there is nowhere on the internet where you can legally find FREE full copies of merit chip brochures published by the BSA (except for the four 2010 Historic badges that were only available as free PDF). The content of all brochures is the copyright of the BSA and they use the proceeds from the sale of the brochures to periodically dispel the cost of their review. If you find a copy in a row in PDF form, it was scanned and posted illegally. However, many merit chip brochures and several other BSA manuals and manuals are available for purchase as Kindle books using Amazon.com. And at one point, BSA began selling Digital Interactive merit chip brochures with Scoutshop.org. However, these digital interactive versions are no longer available. Always check the current edition of Scouts BSA requirements or this site, starting a merits badge, to make sure you have the most updated requirements as they may have changed since the brochure was printed. Architecture and landscape architecture, which have separate merit badges, with certain requirements, are now contained in a single booklet - Architecture and Landscape Architecture. Before 2008, each emblem had separate brochures. Music and bugling, but individual merit badges, with separate requirements, also apply to one booklet - Music and Bugling. The color key used in the tables below: Green Text = Recent changes to the brochure, requirements or new merit badge name Current requirements information in the tables below reflects the requirements issued through 1 January 2020. Information about current publication dates is based on the merits of the badge library's list of 2020 scouts BSA requirements booklet. Sku numbers are based on a list Scoutshop.org. from 27 March 2020 or previous information, when the leaflets were not in stock or new editions were being prepared).) The availability of Kindle editions shown below is based on a list of Amazon.com on April 23, 2020, and updated as stated in brian on scouting blog article, revised on May 13, 2020. Spanish versions of all 17 Eagle Required merit badges were published several years ago, but only a few are still listed Scoutshop.org. Merit Badge booklets (printed, Kindle, or Interactive Digital form) are now $4.99 each. However, if ordering from the National Supply Service, please note that they are obliged to collect sales tax unless you submit a sales tax exemption form with your order, and print versions are shipping/handling/mailing fee of $7.50 for orders up to $50.00 (1-10 brochures), $9.95 for orders between $50.01 and $100.00 (11-20 brochures), $13.50 for orders from $100.01 to $150.00 (21-30 brochures), $18.00 for orders from $150.01 to $200.00 (31-40 brochures) and $200.00 (31-40 brochures more brochures) so ordering a small quantity in this way can be very expensive on a unit-cost basis unless you order other items at the same time.
