Mali and mali ped

In Mali, we work in the capital of Bamako, and use the main Hôpital Gabriel Touré pediatric hospital. The site's activities are led by the Center for Vaccine Development (CVD) which is affiliated with the University of Maryland. CVD-Mali's mission is to prevent, control and treat endemic and epidemic infectious diseases, as well as to train Malian specialists who will expand this work in the future. CVD-Mali is comprehensively connected to the Malign ministry of health, which ensures the opportunity to bring research results to the attention of decision makers and directly impact public health policies, a key component of CHAMPS's action data strategy. CHAMPS is a transformative program for Mali and other countries that join the network. Our work in Bamako will produce results to inform and improve health outcomes from home level to national politics, and contribute to research and innovation worldwide.
