light weight facilitate transportation while providing sound quality that is surprisingly good for such a small radio. It comes with 10 preset channels (5 AM, 5 FM) and can be doubled as an alarm clock. Adding to general portability, this radio works with an AC adapter (power cord) and 6 AA batteries. In addition, it can use rechargeable batteries even longer wireless playing time. Taking into account the main features, this radio is easy to use for almost anything. It works in the bedroom – especially with the built-in alarm clock – but can also be used in places such as the kitchen or bathroom. It will work for office settings and can be easily taken to different workplaces by contract workers. PR D7 What people say to Sangean PR D7 In general, this portable speaker received glowing reviews. First of all, it is recommended for its quality of reception and clarity of sound. Depending on the area and reception, customers who have used this for AM and FM stations, provided brilliant reviews. Sangean PR D7 is great for conversational radios and built-in antennas really make a difference in guality. It's also one of the easiest to transport, which adds to the flexibility of this speaker. Not unlike most large products, there were comments that offered potential buyers warnings. A number of reviews warned that the charging ability of the radio is quite weak, and for an average time of year (to give or take) the batteries will not recharge, or the speaker will only take batteries and the AC cable will die. In addition, customers note the fact that this speaker does not come with a handle, which is for many of the few reasons why they did not provide a 5-star review. Conclusion While the Sangean PR D7 may have a few odd for it is a large, robust speaker in general. The sound quality and overall ease of this model compensate for the lack of handle and compensate for a smaller screen with lcd digital display. After all, it is a radio first and alarm clock in second place and works quite well for what is intended. If you have any contributions to this model, your feedback is welcome both for the current owners of sangean PR D7 speakers and for prospective buyers. He plugged this radio into one of the loudspeakers he had in the shed and the house... 1000000000 We don't have a digital signal like cities, but the signal is clear and accountable. A happy man :) a big purchase and a big gift. It will be interesting to see if we have problems in the future like a year or more on the track. It will update if things change. Such an opinion?
