Under the umbrella of the LVJUSD framework, the three components that meet the needs of students are Academia, Intervention and Support of Positive Behavior (PBIS), and Social Emotional Learning (SEL). Adams is a seventh-grade English Language Arts teacher at Andrew Jackson Middle School. He earned a Bachelor's degree in Sociology and Political Science at the University of Oregon – go duck! He was involved in both departmental honors programs at the university, graduating with a focus on law and politics. Originally from Southern California, Ms. Adams is excited to explore the South and discover new places to eat and watch live music! Adams has taught in Eugene, OR as well as Atlanta, GA and is eager to make the transition to St. Bernard Parish. She prioritizes personal growth and development in her classroom, through academic rigidity as well as healthy, good, and tolerant socialization among peers and adults. As a high school teacher, Ms. Adams is passionate about educating students who thrive as young adults and capable undergraduates. She is proud to have consistent and open communication, so please contact at any time by phone or email!
