Since fryers vary wildly in size and cooking capacity, when you are looking for the best air fryers for a family of four or more, zero in models that have a capacity of 5 rooms or more. These larger-capacity fryers can easily make enough food for a four-person meal or prepare snacks for an even larger group to keep their parties and gatherings fed. When you choose a fryer, you'll want to consider the best option for your family. While a basket-style air fryer is the most common, there are also oven-front air fryers that come with a shallow basket or removable shelves. Oven-style chargers often offer greater capabilities than basket-style air fryers. In addition, shelves often allow other options such as toast and food dehydration, depending on the model. One of my selections is even a roasting oven and an air fryer in one for added versatility. However, basket-style air fryers tend to have a smaller footprint for the same capacity and are easier to store. Additional features and accessories such as stirring reminder timers, adjustable temperature range, pie barrel, pizza tray, skewer rack and muffin tray are also ideal to have when cooking for a large family if you are going to use them. To help you choose the perfect addition to your kitchen countertop, here's my list of the best air fryers for a family of four. Each of these options are available on Amazon and you have plenty of reviewers to back it up. 1The best air fryer for 4 COSORI 5.8-Quart Air FryerAmazonPerfect for the Of the large families, the 5.8-quarter COSORI air fryer is a top selection with over 7,000 reviews and a 4.7-star rating overall.
