My biggest source of support is if you use one of these links, especially this link directly to them on eBay (see How to Win on eBay) if you get something, regardless of which country you live in. Please always use these links when you get one of your equipment so I can continue to share what I know. It helps me to add this free website over and over again when you get yours through these links – but I get nothing for my efforts if you buy elsewhere. Thank you for your support! Ken. See my Nikon FE review for most of the review, details and differences between these two very similar cameras. The FE2 was a hot camera in the late 1980s. Modern Photography reviewed it from page 86 of its October 1983 issue. It is a manual focus, aperture-preferred and manual exposure jewel. Help me help you, I support my growing family through this website, however crazy it may seem. The biggest help is if you use one of these links when you get something. It costs you nothing, and is this website and therefore that of my family, the biggest source of support. These places always have the best prices and service, which is why I have used them since before this website. I recommend them all personally. If you find this page as helpful as a book you might have had to buy or a workshop you might have had to take, you feel free to help me to help everyone. If you got your equipment through one of my links or helped otherwise, you are family. They are great people like you who allow me to continue to add this site full-time. Thank you! If you haven't helped yet, please do it, and consider helping me with a gift of 5.00 dollars.
