Lake County, Indiana County number 45 Lake County is a county located in Indiana, Indiana. In 2000, its population was 484,564, making it Indiana's second most populous county. The county seat is Crown Point. This county is part of northwest Indiana and the Chicago metropolitan area. History Lake County was founded in 1837. From 1832 to 1836 the area that was to become Lake County was part of La Porte County. From 1836 to 1837, he was part of Porter County. It is named after an asteroid in Michigan. The county government is a constitutional body, and receives special powers through the Indiana Constitution, and by the Indiana Code. County Council: The County Council is a legislative branch of the county government and controls all expenses and revenue collection in the county. Representatives are elected from district districts. The members of the Council shall have a four-year term of office. They shall be responsible for determining salaries, annual budget and special expenditure. The Council also has limited powers to impose local taxes in the form of income and property taxes, which are subject to state approval, excise and service taxes. Council of Commissioners: The county's executive body is made up of a council of commissioners. Commissioners are elected county-by-county, under woeful conditions, and each serves a four-year term. One of the commissioners, usually the most senior, is the President. Commissioners are accused of performing acts passed by the council, collecting income and managing the day-to-day functions of the county government. Court: The district maintains a small claims court that can handle certain civil cases. The judge in court is elected for a four-year term and must be a member of the Bar Angada. The judge is assisted by a police officer, who is also elected to a four-year term. In some cases, the court's decision can be appealed to the district court at the state level. County Officials: The district has several other elected offices, including sheriff, coroner, auditor, treasurer, registrar, surveyor and district court clerk Each of these elected officials serves for a period of four years and oversees another part of the county government. Members elected to positions in the county government are required to declare their party affiliation and to be residents of the county. Lake County Politics has long been a Democratic stronghold, giving Democrats pluralism in presidential elections since with the exception of 1972.Lake is part of the 1st Congressional District of Indiana, which is held by Democrat Pete Visclosky. In the Indiana House of Representatives, Lake is part of 1 to 4, 12 to 15 and 19 districts. A total of nine circles; seven seats represented by Democrats and two by Republicans. In the State Senate, Lake is part of districts 1-4 and 6, which are held by four Democrats and one Republican.

Geography According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the county has a total area of 626 square miles (1,621 km²), of which 497 square miles (1,287 km²) is land and 129 square miles (334 km²) (20.65%) it's water. The northern and southern parts of the county are mostly flat, except for the sand ridges in the north. However, the central part of the county is very rolling and hilly. There are many remnants of the ancient shorelines of Lake Michigan. Hoosier Prairie, part of what once existed, was preserved and restored. As you travel south of the southern shore of Lake Michigan (the northern end of the county), the land gradually rises to heights until you reach Valparaiso Moraine. This is the highest area in the county. From there, the land descends on the Kankakee Outwash Plain until the Kankakee River is reached. Lotnisko handlowe Gary/Chicago International AirportinGary. The Indiana State Quarter northwest of Lake County is seemingly missing an outline of the state's indiana district. The state's outline for the quarter shows the Lake Michigan coastline still heading southwest from the Porter/Lake County line to the Illinois-Indiana state line, showing Lake Michigan where Gary and Hammond are located. Unlike a similar incident in Dade County, Georgia, fewer omission complaints were filed. 2008 Presidential Primary In 2008 In the Democratic presidential primary on May 6, 2008, Lake County was one of the last counties to report results. Lake County reported no results at 11 p.m ET, and at midnight ET, only 28% of Lake County votes were reported. A large number of absentee ballots and record turnout delayed tuition, and polls closed an hour later than most of the state because Lake County is in the central time zone. Early returns showed Senator Barack Obama leading by a potentially lead-changing margin, leaving the race between Sen. Hillary Clinton and Obama too close to call until final rallies were reported. Rudy Clay, mayor of Gary, the largest city in Lake County, predicted bizarre events, telling CNN, They're going to point to Indiana and say Hillary Clinton leads by one point, but Gary haven't come yet.
