John Proctor said: I will tell you what walking Salem is - revenge is walking Salem. Now the crazy little child has the keys of the kingdom. In this case, after the Rev. Paris noticing Abigail and Betty dancing in the woods, Abigail scares the girls so they won't ever speak the truth. Abigail said, And mark this. John Proctor admits to the judge in Salem (Thomas Putham) that he has never seen anyone with the devil. After saying what he did, John Proctor agreed to sign a legal document for people on a stick. The document states that he was convicted of witchcraft. Soon after John Proctor signed the document stating that he had never seen anyone with the devil, he took it back. At the time, he said he saw people with the devil, but never described any names. Because he didn't give names, he was convicted of hanging out. He didn't want to give names because they were his friends. Because John Proctor decided not to give anyone a name, he and two other women were convicted of hanging. Judge Danforth told John Proctor that if he signed a piece of paper saying he had cheated on Elizabeth to see the whole town, he would not be hanged. After Judge Danforth's proposal, John Proctor decided to hang himself instead of signing a piece of paper, telling the entire city what he had done. He didn't die in vain. John Prockers is a motive that if he dies, his sons' names have not been contaminated and they will finally do the right thing. John Prockers decided to die, he believed it was the right thing to do.
