Welcome to my professional training portfolio. Here you will find my teaching philosophy and educational experiences and skills that will make me an asset in your school. Background: I Elementary, who received a Bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania York College in the spring of 2011, received my Bachelor's degree. After graduating, I taught for a year instead and then moved to North Carolina to pursue my dream of becoming a teacher. I started my professional career as a third grade teacher at South Mebane Primary School in the Alamance Burlington School System. After two wonderful years of teaching in North Carolina, I moved back to Pennsylvania to be close to his family and began my career as a fourth-grade teacher at Odyssey Charter School in Delaware, Wilmington. In the winter of 2014, I decided that I wanted to further my education and knowledge of my profession and began my journey to earn my master's degree. I graduated from Wilmington University with a master's degree in Reading Education in May 2016. In March 2017, I started taking the right courses for the second Master's, Teaching: Talented and Talented. I am a teacher with a passion for learning and growing up about MEI. In my free time, I find myself reading books, running and fixing up my house. Growing up on the south coast of Long Island, I was always on the water. My passion for teaching began on Amityville beach, where I began teaching children how to sail on a Sun Fish sailboat. In eight of my writings, I taught countless children about water safety and sailing. This experience solidized his dream of becoming a teacher and nothing got in my way! As an educator, I hope to continue learning and growing as I progress in my educational career and continue to explore my environment. Everyone's a genius. But if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree, it lives its whole life believing it to be stupid. Albert Einstein Lauren Clark, P.A.-C.
