Using these websites, you can easily download APK files to install your desired android applications which also for free. There is no doubt that you have a lot of options from these APK sites, but not all of them are safe and reliable. Therefore, after much of the research I have chosen these 15 websites that can provide all kinds of APKs to you without any fight and problems.1. APKMirrorWebsite: is not only among secure APK websites, but is also very popular. There's no way I can't find the APK of the desired app out here and also without a fight. Although I think the site doesn't have a proper categorization, but the good thing is that you can look for the APK directly. And of course, it's absolutely free to download APKs from outside here. You can check APKs based on your loading time, developers etc. If you're wondering where to start then check out the list of the most popular APKs on the site as a beginner. The site has a very clean interface and quick browsing for your help and everything is given to the homepage itself.2. APK4FunWebsite: following is APK4Fun which is as useful platform as the previous OPTION of APKMirror. What I liked most about APK4Fun is that it is much more organized and also the interface helps to find the necessary APK in a better and faster way. Like, the kinds of categories that can be found here are action, puzzles, communication, careers, social and many more. You can also take a look at different sections, such as top downloads, of the publisher, the new versions, the best news, etc. With no registration problems or subscription, you will be able to enjoy the best of the services of finding your desired and safer APK out here.3. APK BucketWebsite: Bucket is among the best APK sites that isn't just a platform to download the apk files given on the site, but it's much more than that. The site is an online APK downloader that can download any app through its package ID or Google Play URL easily. Apart from regular applications, you can also discover many games here too that are compatible with your mobile platform. However, the site also does not have the proper categorization and should therefore look for the application on its own.4. APKPureWebsite: is about using the best APK download site with a huge database of multiple APK files. You can discover apps from a wide range of options given on the homepage itself. Updating every day on the site makes it fun for people to figure out new things every day. So, while you're struggling with heavy android apps, I think downloading your APK will smooth the process of your installation to some extent. Like other options here you can also check out various games here, as well as Fortnite, PUBG, Football, etc. The site also tells you about upcoming versions of the applications and you can pre-register for installation too.5. ApksWebsite App: Apks is the type of option between secure apk sites that is home to more than 1000 types of Android apps. The platform serves both Android and Windows systems and provide apps and software for both. There are some categories available to find out the desires app such as communication, tools, camera, browsers etc. If you are wondering what kind of applications should be downloaded, then you can simply take a look at your list of main applications. There are some other sections available too like popular apps, recently uploaded etc. With a very clean and ad-free interface, it becomes super simple for the user to navigate here.6. Android-APKWebsite: Hhttps://android-apk.org/ff find it difficult to find secure APK sites, then you'd better get your hands on Android-APK. The site helps you find out about these types of applications that are hard to come by now and is no longer under development. But that doesn't mean you can't find trending ones and newly released apps out here. The site surely has an awesome database to woo to use everything. Some of your most popular downloads on the hard site to find category are VidMate, YouTube video downloader, Pokemon TV, etc. I'm sure you wouldn't want to lose your amazing collection of APKs out of here that takes barely long on downloading.7. ApkDIAModWebsite: of course, there are a lot of APK sites out there, but finding out about safe apk sites outside of them is a bigger fight. I have chosen APKDIAMod which is known to be a reliable platform to download APKs from one of a applications for android. It is mainly popular for its content of various games such as arcade, action, strategy, racing, puzzles and many more specially made for the Android system. Because the platform is primarily dedicated for gaming only, you probably don't find other apps out here. This game APK host also displays file for each month which makes it simpler for users to find recent updates to the site.8. SoftpediaWebsite: will love Softpedia for not only being the best download site for Android APK, but also for its functionality towards other systems such as Windows, Linux, Mac, etc. The site is a complete package of apps and games for various platforms and provide everything for free. In fact, not only APKs, but you can also find drivers and other APK files useful for systems. You need to click on the Android section to browse the apps for it. However, I think the interface is slightly messy and it will take you a while to figure things out. You can check for multiple app developers like Samsung, Google, Microsoft, etc. and there's no other categorization made for apps.9. ApkmbWebsite: with safe APK sites list, the following here is Apkmb. It has this simple approach towards apps and games for Android systems that are free as well as paid for in terms of work. In fact, you can also find various PC software here too. With a detailed installation guide and lots of other important information, I'm sure it's a simple process for users to understand how the site works. You can find a wide variety of categories for apps such as communication, business, finance, education, etc. The same type of category system can be viewed in the games section as well.10. AppCakeWebsite: you are looking for the best place to download APK files that should be simple and free fuss, then you should check out better AppCake. The site is very clean and focused on providing all kinds of applications to its users. Contrary to most APK sites here, their primary focus remains on Android apps rather than on Android games. However, categorization is still needed on the site for better navigation for users. But for now, you can search for everything on the homepage itself and discuss your problems in your forum.11. Android OutWebsite: Out is one of those secure APK sites that doesn't require prior information about APKs and you're free to download your desired app from here. From apps to games to various Android themes, the site keeps everything very much and, of course, they have more and more to offer every day. Through the given platform you can also discover about the Android apps that are on sale and lots of different app variety collections. Whether apps that are long forgotten or games more are played, I think you can find everything here.12. APKWebsite Mods: The un joins the list of secure APK sites is APK mode. It allows you to download the safest APKs for your android system and also for free and without any problems. Without any policy of signing up here you are free to explore the entire site and its content. The site mainly displays a variety of Android games belonging to categories such as action, adventure, casino, casual, board, racing, etc. Due to having a priority in gambling applications, you will not be able to find other applications on your platform. The site is open source and the content is primarily curated by other users only. So, if you're thinking of downloading the best games for android, you know where to head a.13. APKTurboWebsite: is the best APK site out there because the database is a combination of a variety of applications and does not adhere only to games. The site works as a downloader that requires Google Play Store URL or package id of the app to download it. If you don't have any URLs, then you can simply check your own database to search for your desired application no matter what it is. You can find separate sections for apps and games with tons of categories to choose from such as news and magazines, food and drink, beauty, shopping, communication, etc. I really enjoyed the platform for being so well organized and super clean for a faster access experience.14. APK4FreeWebsite: its name, APK4Free is not only among the safe apk sites, but also works for free. In fact, you can even install paid games and apps for android from here for free. For any queries or problems you can take a look at your given installation guide on the site. APK4Free also provides the feature of requesting the desired APK file. This way, you can always find the necessary app/game on the site. The site also follows with the latest Android news such as recent releases, new app releases, etc. In order to know everything, you can only subscribe to your newsletter for it.15. APK-DLWebsite: name to include in safe APK site list is APK-DL. The site works as a downloader that can install APK file from any given app through your Google Play URL or package name. You can browse through various options from its list of categories such as comics, entertainment, finance, communication, health and fitness, games, etc. You can also discover a large database of various Android games out here that are available for free. Although the site interface is clean, but the ads in between are constant. Speaking of the archives safe on the site then I'm sure it won't come through any malware out of here and there's even no limit on downloading as well. Conclusion Some of these APK sites may require you to use your computer to install the application some of them work directly on their own smartphone. Among so many options, I'm sure you would have discovered the right one for yourself. Apart from everything, you should know that not all APK files are secure, so use some kind of antivirus service in order to protect your system from malware. Malware.
