Mapquest classic old version

Those who love the classic MapQuest will surely love using the old route planner. Many people come to my official website and leave comments like Why put an entire map on the right side, I just need driving directions!. This is just one example, visitors to my site have left thousands of comments similar to this, and in some cases identical. I understand them, I felt the same way. The reason the new MapQuest shows a map on the right side of your screen is because on that map you will see the route that will help you find your destination in less time. The route on the map allows users to better understand the suggested route, so the chances of getting lost or wasting time decrease greatly. If you do not want to see a map when getting directions, then you can visit mapquest.com/routeplanner, there you can get directions without the map, so if you do not like the new design, just visit the previous link and you can use a service with the features you are looking for. The mapquest classic route planner is no longer available, well, at least it wasn't the last time I checked, which was 5 minutes ago. I don't know if the site is temporarily shut down or if they removed everything together. However, the classic site is still there, so if you prefer the old version you can go up to classic.mapquest.com and get directions directly from there using the old interface. We will not caterwaul or bawl about the fall because it can increase our Cholesterol.Sorry, but we owe FALL, Y'all Why? Because it means summer is over, and summer is always very short. Just after autumn comes winter, the only time we like winter is during Christmas and New Year.But we will promote autumn just because it's a good time to travel. And when we travel guess what site we visit. MAPQUESTIt's a good time to go see these dwed leaves die. oops we said it out loud? What we wanted to say was that it's a good time to go watch the COLORS. We prefer the vibrant colors of an action-adventure movie on a flat-screen TV from 84 to 105 with Dolby 7.2 surround sound. The big outdoors are also great, beautiful campfire, stars, relaxation, ahhhh.... Yes... We took a picture of them several years ago and posted, the paint could use a little freshness.
