Google Translation (formerly Google Translate) is a Google translation tool. It exists in the smartphone and tablet app (Android and iOS), but also for PC as an extension for the Chrome browser (very useful for translating pages into foreign languages you visit). Google Translation is a well-known translation system that is widely used by the online community, especially when you need to read a page written in a language that is not mastered. As a result, in the Chrome version, the button will be installed in the browser toolbar and you just have to click on it to have the translation page you work automatically and quickly. Google Translation for Chrome also discovers that the page you're visiting is written in a different language than the page you're using Chrome from. If so, a banner appears at the top of the page to invite you to translate it. As for the google Translation smartphone/tablet app, words and phrases are translated into more than 100 different languages (including sixty offline). For more than 30 of them, you can say aloud your sentence will be translated and the translation is automatically given to you. You can also listen to the translation of the text to the speech, which means that the app will read the text aloud, very useful when you are not fully aware of the pronunciation. With the Google Translation mobile app, you can also get a translation directly from your smartphone or tablet's camera in real time or from a snapshot. Finally, the option allows you to spell languages such as Japanese, Chinese, etc. into Latin letters to allow you to phonetically read sentences/words. The history of your translations is available even offline. More information about Windows is available on the Windows News page and you can also visit the Software Forum if you have any questions. Feel free to visit the editorial file dedicated to the best free iPhone apps. You can also visit the Android News page and visit Tablet Forum to ask your questions or take part in discussions. That won't be enough. SHAREit - Connect - Transfer - SharEit O't Android Talk to a person who speaks a different language. For panels, menus and more, just point the camera at the text to get an instant translation. You don't even need to be connected to the Internet.
