The song was written by James, Leroy Kirkland and Pearl Woods, while the production was handled by Leonard and Phil Chess. It was released in 1962 as the third single from her self-titled 1962 album as a 7 vinyl disc. At the time of its release, the single became an R&B hit that peaked at number four on the Billboard Hot R&B Sides charts. [1] Something's Got a Hold on Me has been covered and sampled by various contemporary artists. Pretty Lights sampled the song on his 2006 album Taking Up Your Precious Time. In 2010, American singer-songwriter Christina Aguilera recorded a cover of the song on the soundtrack Burlesque. In 2011, the track was selected for two hits: Levels by Swedish DJ Avicii, which in turn was sampled on Good Feeling by the American rapper Flo Rida. Australian musician Jessica Mauboy also covered Something's Got a Hold on Me in 2013 and released it as a single. Background and composition Etta James (pictured in 1990) recorded the song in 1962 and co-wrote it with Leroy Kirkland and Pearl Woods. Something's Got a Hold on Me was written by Etta James, Leroy Kirkland and Pearl Woods, while it was produced by two founders of Chess Records, Leonard and Phil Chess. [2] The song was released as the third single from James's self-titled studio album from 1962. [2] It was served as a 7 vinyl disc with the second song, Waiting for Charlie to Come Home, as B-side in the United States. [3] Later, the track was included in the singer's 1963 compilation album Etta James Top Ten. [4] The live version of Something's Got a Hold on Me also appeared on Etta James' first live album, Etta James Rocks the House (1964). [5] In 1992, the song was part of her biggest hits album, My Greatest Songs. [6] Something's Got a Hold on Me is an R&B number[7] with elements of soul, blues,[8] and gospel. [9] The song lasts for a duration of 2:48 (two minutes and 48 seconds). [3] According to sheet music published by EMI Music Publishing, Something's Got a Hold on Me was composed in the key to G minor and set as the moderate pace of 72 beats per minute with a strong beat. [8] James's vocals in the song span almost one and a half octaves, from the low tone of D4 to the high tone of the G5. On September 11, 1963, Etta James first performed Something's Got a Hold on Me at New York Club in Nashville, Tennessee; later, the performance was recorded and was included on her first live album Etta James Rocks the House. [5] During a King-led all-star concert held at the Ebony Theater, Los Angeles, California in 1987, James performed the song again with American blues musician B.B. King. [10] There, the singer sang the track with the backing guitar played by King. [10] This performance was released as a CD and home video titled A Night of Blistering Blues. [17] Reception Something's Got a Hold on Me by Jessica Mauboy received mainly positive reviews from music critics. Brad Stern of MTV Buzzworthy Brad Stern called Mauboy's version a power-pop anthem. [21] Daisy Dumas of The Age was positive about the track, noting it as a cheeky, pop-heavy spin on the Etta James classic. [22] Simone Ubaldi of Beat magazine described the cover as grotesque dance pop bastardisation,[23] while a writer for radio station 96.5 Wave FM found it to sound impressive. [24] A writer for Take 40 Australia called it energetic,[25] while Fox Sports' Anthony Costa wrote that the song doesn't feel like a potential rugby league anthem, but it suits Mauboy's vocal talents. [26] Something's Got a Hold on Me won Single Release of the Year at the Deadly Awards 2013. [27] The song entered the Australian ARIA Singles Chart at number 26 on 11. [28] The following week it dropped down to number 50, 2013, the Australian Rugby League Commission released a television commercial containing Mauboy singing his version of Something's Got a Hold on Me, as well as highlights from previous rugby league matches and fans playing rugby in backyards, on beaches and running down the streets. [29] [30] [31] On the same day, Mauboy performed the song during the official launch of the 2013 NRL season, held at The Star Casino in Sydney. [30] [32] NRL director of marketing and commercial operations Paul Kind said her version is very modern and has a really broad appeal. [29] [33] Mauboy is the second female artist (the first to be Tina Turner) to appear in an NRL theme song. [34] Something's Got a Hold on Me is also the first theme song in major Australian sport with a native Australian artist.
