© 1996-2014, Amazon.com, Inc. or its branch kayak seats have changed dramatically in the last few years with traditional gel seats and their strapped rear supports replaced by raised eye seats that breathe better, provide better back support to make your butt drier and resemble high-tech lawn chairs. Ascend Deluxe Kayak Seat Standard on Sit In D10. Unfortunately, these high-end seats are rarely found on what I would consider 'budget conscious' kayaks. If you plan on spending $500 or less you'll probably get a thin gel seat that sits flat at the bottom of the kayak leaving you with a sore back and numb buttocks. Even worse, if you prefer to sit on top of a kayak, the gel seat is often placed on or around scuppers (self-saving holes), meaning wet back even on calm waters. no thank you! Typical sit on top gel seat, standard on ascend D10T 'sit on top' and not so comfortable. Seat Envy My Wife and I recently bought 2 kavaks from Bass Pro. Ascend D10 'sit' model for her... and for me, is a fisherman and want a stable platform that I could build, D10t 'sit on top'.... This model comes with a pretty good gel seat with decent back support, but after just an hour on the water the numbing butt sets in inches It also sits on top of two scuppers and once you sit down it's lowest point of the kayak. No matter how hard I tried I always ended up wet because all the water makes it's way there. My envy over the seat in the kayak finally got the best of me and I dragged both of them to the lawn on Saturday afternoon to see if, and how, I could make a slight mod to the seat or torso of my yak accommodation. The upgraded seat with a little pressure will wedge between the side storage of the D10t kayak. The seat will be slightly forward where your buttocks would land in the stock seat, but kayak performance is not affected at all. In this picture you will notice the plugged drain holes. It was a quick and easy adjustment that had to go one step further to make it more stable and lasting. The seat needed to be slightly raised to sit further back and above the side rail. Upgrade seat of any kayak here are some ideas on how to upgrade and customize the seat in approximately any kayak. If you have an uncomfortable gel seat and want to find another solution, check out some of these modification options and the after-sales seat options. Stroll down the furniture hardware aisle of your local Lowe's or Home Depot. You'll find all kinds of rubber pads, feet and other pieces that you can use to lift, lower and attach almost any seat to any kayak. It just takes some creativity and trials and mistakes.
