Homestead fraud is a crime that costs taxpayers millions of dollars each year across Florida. In Brevard County alone, BCPAO has recovered more than $7 million in taxpayer money since we began tracking our Homestead enforcement findings in June 1999. When taxpayers receive unskilled property tax exemptions, the tax burden shifts to all other taxpayers. Florida Statute 196 011(9)(a) and 196.161 requires the real estate appraiser to record a tax pledge against a property that has received an unqualified tax savings can be repaid. The penalties for persons eligible for unskilled exemptions are harsh: Sections 193,155(9) and 196.161 of Florida's statutes stipulated that owners who will not be eligible for the homestead exemptions, pledges against their property and, if necessary, properties can be back assessed for up to 10 years. Owners will also have to pay a substantial penalty of 50% of unpaid taxes for each year and pay a 15% interest rate per year.
