achieved his first Billboard Hot 100 hit in August 2018 through a collaboration with American rapper 6ix9ine on the song Bebe. [11] In the six months following the release of Real Hasta la Muerte, Anuel AA contributed vocals to eleven Billboard Hot Latin Songs singles, including Ella Quiere Beber in collaboration with Dominican-American bachata singer Romeo Santos. [12] He also collaborated with Nicki Minaj and Bantu on the song Familia for Spider-Verse soundtrack, released in December 2018. [13] In January 2019, the rapper released the single Secreto with Colombian singer Karol G, confirming the romantic relationship between the two artists in the song's accompanying music video. [14] The single peaked at number 68 on the Billboard Hot 100 and number five on the US Hot Latin Songs chart. [16] The song was inspired by the time Anuel AA and Karol G were dating but have not publicly discussed their relationship. The video's power couple aesthetic drew comparisons to Beyoncé and Jay-Z as well as Jennifer Lopez and Marc Anthony. [12] 2019-2020: Success of China and Emmanuel In July 2019, Anuel AA released China, in collaboration with Daddy Yankee, Karol G, Ozuna and J Balvin. The song takes a lot of samples from Shaggy's 2000 single, It Wasn't Me, an anuel AA song recalled from his childhood, which he chose from several old songs he had heard with the big boys in my hood to the club, they brought the song in and people used to go crazy. [18] China debuted at number two on Billboard's Hot Latin Songs chart and topped both Latin Digital Songs and Latin Streams, [17] while the accompanying video was included in July's top 10 Latin music videos. [19] Anuel AA later appeared on nicky Jam's single Whine Up from nicky jam's album Íntimo, released on November 1, 2019. [20] In January 2020, Anuel AA collaborated with Shakira on the song Me Gusta, infering the 1992 hit by Jamaican reggae band Inner Circle Sweat (A La La La Long). [21] Rolling Call the song some rock lover's unsomeded a subtle touch of dembow. [21] He appeared on Bad Bunny's 2020 album YHLQMDLG on the song Está Cabrón Ser Yo. [22] On April 3, 2020, Anuel AA released 3 De Abril commemorating the artist's arrest, resulting in jail time. [6] The song reflects his troubled youth and the challenges he faces in captivity. Suzy Exposito of Rolling Stone magazine called the song a sober memory. [6] Also in April 2020, Anuel AA released the single and video for Follow with Karol G, recording it entirely while guarantined in Miami due to the COVID-19 epidemic. [23] On May 27, 2020, he announced and revealed the track listing for his second album, Emmanuel, which was released on May 29. [24] Anuel AA originally planned to release the album in April, but postponed the day due to the epidemic. [25] On the album's release, he promoted it by launching three luxury yachts off the coast of Miami's Isle of Normandy neighborhood. [3] Each yacht named Emmanuel is written on the side and plays his music at high volume. The rapper explains his advertising strategy by saying, Everyone does their release party in a club. And with coronavirus? I'm not going to the club right now! [3] The 22-track double album features collaborations with Bad Bunny, Enrique Iglesias, Travis Barker, Tego Calderón, Karol G, Lil Wayne, Farruko, Yandel and Nengo Flow. [24] Regarding the album's title, the artist explained, It's my life, turned into music. [25] 2020: Retired comment In November 2020, Anuel AA indicated in an Instagram post that he would retire from the music industry. [26] On November 19, he released a new song, Me Contagie 2, in which he talked about depression, expressed dissatisfaction with his relationships and expressed anguish that his career often took him away from his young son, who asked him to retire. He ended the song with the grammy announcement that I was retiren. [27] These comments left his fans confused about his future plans, as it seems that he has yet to make a more formal announcement about his retirement. [28] China's musical style and influence (2019) The song, sampled from the melody of Shaggy's hit It Wasn't Me (2000), debuted at number two on Billboard's Hot Latin Songs chart. [17] Medusa (2020) Medusa, in collaboration with J Balvin and Jhay Cortez, shows Anuel AA's use of Adlib BRRR and contains elements of trap music. Having trouble playing these files? See media help. According to XXL, Anuel AA is considered one of the founding fathers of Latin trap music. [18] He is noted for his signature adlib, which means imitating the sound of automatic guns. [2] Anuel AA's lyrics as too risqué to be played on the radio and insisted that his success was instead rooted in streaming services and the artist's very positive social media presence. [1] Gary Suarez of Vice viewed his 2018 album Real Hasta la Muerte as a collection of both gleaming trap bangers and reggaeton crowd pleasers. [5] Despite his bad guy image, Suarez wrote that the Culpables and Secreto relationship-themed songs represented a softening of his tough trapero personality. [11] Anuel AA is famous for its use of the word bebecita (baby) in songs and on social media, and the word has become related to the reggaeton genre as well as the relationship of Anuel AA and Karol G. [30][31] Anuel AA's introduction to hip-hop occurred listening to rapper Tupac Shakur. [18] His songs often paid homage to both American and Latin artists who influenced him at a young age. Examples include China sampling both Shaggy's It Wasn't Me and Daddy Yankee's Ella Me Levantó, and Bandoleros's Inner Delincuente by Don Omar and Tego Calderón. [32] He was influenced by collaborations with American hip-hop artists Meek Mill and Gucci Mane, both of which, like Anuel AA, are best known for their prison sentences. [5] Describing Meek Mill's impact on his music, Anuel AA explained, I listen to what people say in songs, not just melodies. With rappers, you have to listen to what they say. And, Meek is talking some real shit. That's why I looked up at him. [18] In an interview with Vice, he expressed admiration for the music of bachata artist Zacarías Ferreíra, Dominican dembow rapper El Alfa and British singer-songwriter Ed Sheeran. [2] He also showed interest in collaborating with Post Malone and Billie Eilish. [18] Controversy On September 15, 2018, Anuel AA released a diss song called Intocable aimed at rapper Cosculluela. The song has been widely criticized for its profanity and remarks about homosexuality and HIV/AIDS patients. [33] In the song, he refers to transgender model and TV presenter La Taína as a pig for her HIV-positive status. [34] Due to the public backlash, Anuel AA's concert at the Coliseo de Puerto Rico venue, scheduled for October 12 of that year, was canceled by production staff and lead producer Paco López. Anuel AA later issued an apology for the song. [33] He explained, It was the worst mistake of my career. I don't need this and I apologize to all the people I offended. To homosexuals, to those who lost everything after Hurricane Maria ... My fans deserve me to be a better person, I apologize to everyone in Puerto Rico. [33] In early April 2019, Anuel AA and Ivy Queen were involved in an Instagram controversy after Anuel AA questioned how ivy gueen could still be considered another Reggaeton Queen. [35] Followers on Instagram speculated about why he made the comments. Ivy Queen responded with comments about where she came from and how she was a pioneer, opening the way for other women to follow. [36] Anuel AA's personal relationship with collaborator and fiancée, Colombian singer Karol G Anuel AA has a son named Pablo Anuel from his former spouse, Astrid Cuevas. [37] Anuel AA met Colombian singer Karol G in August 2018 on the set of the music video for their song Culpables, a month after his release from prison. [38] In January 2019, Anuel AA and Karol G confirmed their relationship. [12] On April 25, 2019, Karol G went to the Billboard Latin Music Awards wearing a huge diamond ring, confirming the couple's engagement. [38] Anuel AA legal matters were arrested and detained at the Metropolitan Detention Centre, Guaynabo on 3 April 2016, with three companions when police found three pistols including one stolen, nine magazines and 152 rounds of ammunition. He signed a plea deal, accepting a 30-month sentence in federal prison, on gun ownership charges. [39] After his arrest, the #FreeAnuel movement became popular among fans as he continued to release songs from prison[1] by recording his voice over the phone. [5] While in custody. Anuel AA spent 90 days in solitary confinement after an incident with another inmate, [7] During his trial, he stated that the lyrics in his music did not represent his true character. Trial presiding judge Aida Delgado-Colon said she had never heard any of his songs, [40] In March 2018. Anuel AA was released from federal prison in a state prison in Miami. During this time, he told Billboard that while imprisoned, he continued to listen to the radio and what was happening in the street, to inspire his composed. [5] 6ix9ine became widely known in late 2017 after the release of her debut single, Gummo, a now-sleeping hit. He then released the mixtape Day69 (2018), supported by the singles Kooda, Keke and Gotti, all of which charted on the Billboard Hot 100. Fefe, in collaboration with Nicki Minaj and Murda Beatz, a single from her debut album Dummy Boy (2018), peaked at number three on the Hot 100. Despite receiving negative feedback, Dummy Boy has been certified platinum by the Recording Industry Association of Usa (RIAA). [6] In 2015, 699ine pleaded guilty to using a child during a sex show and received a four-year trial period and a 1,000-hour community service order. In 2018, he was arrested on charges of fraud, weapons and drugs. He pleaded guilty to nine charges including conspiracy to murder and armed robbery in February 2019 and was sentenced to two years in prison after testifying to the prosecution. In April 2020, he was released early in the COVID-19 epidemic following concerns about his vulnerability to the disease due to his asthma condition. He was under house arrest for the rest of his term. After his release from prison, his single Gooba debuted and reached number one in the country. His second album, TattleTales (2020), debuted at number four on the US Billboard 200. Daniel Hernandez was born on May 8, 1996 in Bushwick, Brooklyn, New York City[7] to a mother from Atlixco, Mexico, and a father from Atlixco, Mexico, and a father from Río Piedras, Puerto Rico. [9] His father was also named Daniel Hernandez. a better life and opportunity; she was a factory worker and house cleaner. Hernandez played baseball and football throughout his youth. He was assigned to a major league football team at the age of 13 but his mother refused because she did not trust a stranger to take her son as a child. [11] Hernandez has an older brother, Oscar Osiris Hernandez (born August 25, 1994). [8] Hernandez has the first name tattooed on the right side of his head. [11] Hernandez will sing during Mass and be chosen several times to read from the Bible, his favorite passage being Systical 121. [11] For elementary school, he attended public school 59, for high school he attended Juan Morel Campos High School. [14] He left high school around 10th grade. [15] Hernandez did not know his father until he was 9 years old and had only a brief relationship with him. Hernandez's mother told him he was dead, according to his father his father was addicted to heroin and was jailed for five years for selling drugs. [8] Hernandez's stepfather was shot dead away from the family home in 2010. [11] After her stepfather was murdered, Hernandez's mother was unable to earn enough money to raise her children. She applied for benefits and had many nights Hernandez and her brother went to bed without dinner. Due to his mother's financial struggles, Hernandez and his brother wore used clothes and Hernandez had to share a bed with his mother. [11] Emotionally disturbed by his stepfather's death, Hernandez would not take a shower or eat to the point where he lost so much weight, he was treated and hospitalized for depression and post-traumatic stress disorder. [17] Hernandez also began to act as a result of his stepfather's death and was eventually expelled from school in eighth grade for bad behavior. [18] Instead of continuing his studies, he began doing various jobs as a bus boy and a delivery boy at a grocery store to help his mother financially. [19] Music career 2012-2016: Hernandez's early career first decided to rap in 2012 after meeting Peter Righteous P Rodgers, CEO of New York record label Hikari-Ultra, when he stepped into the vegan Bodega Hernandez working in Bushwick, Brooklyn, and asked if Hernandez was rapping based on his appearance, saying he thought he had a picture of a rapper and suggested, along with Hernandez' cadence. [21] Hernandez began releaseing rap songs in 2014, started with 69 in August 2014, Pimpin, in September 2014 and both Who The Fuck is You and 4769 in October 2014, followed by his first collaboration as lead artist with two rappers from Brooklyn collective Pro Era J.A.B and Dirty Sanchez. Over the next three years, he released many songs and videos with title such as Scumlife, Yokai and Hellsing Station, attracting attention for his aggressive rap style and using anime as a music video image. Many of his first songs were released by FCK THEM, a Slovakian-based record label. [22] Collecting fame as an internet meme for his rainbow-dyed hair, extensive tattoos and rainbow-plated ovens, he eventually became a partner of rapper ZillaKami, Righteous P.[23] They later feuded after Hernandez discovered Righteous P and ZillaKami tried to release him they don't control him, on allegedly overpayed bail money, the surface of misconduct allegations against Hernandez and over alleged stolen musical instruments. [20] Shortly after Hernandez began working with Andrew Green, a rapper called TrifeDrew, again, who had previously worked with him on music videos to work on the videos again alongside music. [22] Hernandez became popular on social media due to an Instagram post in July 2017 that went viral on both Reddit and Twitter. [24] Hernandez's commercial debut single Gummo was released on November 10, 2017 and eventually peaked at number 12 on the US Billboard Hot 100. [26] It was certified platinum by the RIAA on 5 March 2018. Hernandez released her third single, Keke, with Fetty Wap and A Boogie wit da Hoodie, which also charted on the Hot 100. [29] Soon after, Hernandez announced his debut mixtape was released on February 23, 2018 and debuted at number four on the Billboard 200 album chart with 55,000 album equivalent units, of which 20,000 were pure sales. [32] According to Jon Caramanica of The New York Times, the video is a huge development of the SoundCloud rap explosion and is notable for its willingness to deviate from the current sound of hip hop. [33] After the release of Day69, two songs from the album, Billy and Rondo both debuted on the Billboard Hot 100, with Billy peaking at number 50 and Rondo at number 73. [35] In April 2018, Hernandez released Gotti, a remix of a feature he made for the Packman artist titled Got it, Got it. [36] The song's video was released on April 16, 2018 and involved Hernandez donating $100 to poor citizens in the Dominican Republic. [38] The song was added to Day69 as a luxury song and debuted at number 99 on the Billboard Hot 100 before quiting the following week, making it his sixth consecutive hot 100 hit. [34] Hernandez caused controversy in May 2018 when he was involved in a shooting with rapper Casanova's entourage in New York as part of a feud; this resulted in Hernandez losing a $5 million headset contract and being banned from the Barclays Center. [39] After the shooting, Hernandez stopped music releases for several months, before the release of Tati, in collaboration with DJ Spinking in June, debuted at number 43 on the Billboard Hot 100. [39] 6ix9ine during a concert in Amsterdam in June 2018 In July 2018, Hernandez released her eighth single, Fefe, in collaboration with Nicki Minaj and Murda Beatz; the single debuted at number four on the Billboard Hot 100 before peaking at number three for the second week, marking Hernandez's highest entry on the chart and his first single reaching the top five of the Hot 100. [40] Fefe was later certified platinum by the Recording Industry Association of The United States. [41] His follow-up singles, Bebe and Stoopid, also reached the top 30 of the Hot 100. [42] In September 2018, Hernandez signed with deal with la-based music company Create Music Group. [43] In early October 2018, Hernandez appeared in the song Aulos Reloaded with French DJ Vladimir Cauchemar and Kick with Danish singer Jimilian. [44] On November 7, 2018, it was announced that his debut studio album, Dummy Boy, would be released on November 23,[45] but on November 21 it was announced that the album would be postponed. [46] The album was finally released without notice on November 27, across all streaming services. [47] Despite receiving negative reviews, the album became his highest charting album, after debuting at number two on Travis Scott's Billboard 200 behind Astroworld. [48] While in prison, 6ix9ine appeared on A Boogie wit da Hoodie's song Swervin, which peaked at number 27 on the Hot 100, on her second album Hoodie SZN. The song was released on December 21, 2018, along with the album. [49] 2019-present: Return to music and Tattle Tales In October 2019, Hernandez signed two albums for more than $10 million with the 10K Projects label for one album in English and one in Spanish. [51] In April 2020, Hernandez had to seek a judge's permission to shoot a video in his backyard while being held at home and then allowed. [52] On May 7, 2020, Hernandez announced that he would be released a new single on May 8, 2020, marking his return to music and his 24th birthday. [53] The song, titled Gooba, was released along with a music video. According to Pitchfork's Madison Bloom, the song includes references to COVID-19 (They're sick, hot, way before coronavirus) and Hernandez's cooperation with federal prosecutors and testimony (Tell me how I ratted, came home with a large bag). [54] Hernandez announced that after repeated delays the follow-up single Trollz, in collaboration with Nicki Minaj, was released on June 12, 2020. [55] The song debuted at number one on the Hot 100, marking 6ix9ine's first single. [56] Trollz dropped to number 34 in its second week, breaking the record for the largest position from number one in chart history, however the record was broken again later that year by Taylor Swift with Willow. [57] Her third single, Yaya, was released on July 3, 2020. It debuted at number 99 on the Billboard Hot 100 and was eliminated from the chart the following week. The fourth single, Punani, was released on September 4, 2020. [58] Following the release of the album Hernandez lamented the treatment he received from music platforms Spotify and Apple Music with them not showing that he had released a new album on the main pages of their store battle and not including him in their playlist has a big influence on the charts, with him explaining that he considers this music use the influence of these platforms to damage him due to his cooperation. [61] In November 2020, Hernandez was limited to a Hulu real crime documentary, 69: The Saga of Danny Hernandez was introduced, he was not interviewed for the film. [63] Billy's musical style and influence on the song Billy refers to his Treyway gang, but 6ix9ine was later banned from referring to the gang in his songs after its settlement in October 2018. [64] What's the problem with playing this file? See media help. Hernandez's music is generally classified as hip hop,[65] or more specifically, scream rap,[66] hardcore hip hop,[65] SoundCloud rap,[67][33] and punk rap,[68] often combining elements of drilling,[69] heavy metal, hardcore punk,[70][71] grime, crunk, trap music,[72] and reggaeton. [73] He cited influences including DMX,[77] Tupac Shakur, The Notorious B.I.G.,[75][76] and 50 Cent.[77] Hernandez could speak Spanish; he sang in Spanish on three songs, Bebe and Mala with Puerto Rican rapper Anuel AA in 2018, then Yaya in 2020. [78] Hernandez was raised as a Christian. In an interview with American radio character Angie Martinez, he said: I pray a lot; I always thank God for good situations. Every time there's a good situation, there's a cell in my brain that says, 'Say thank you to God.' ... Before I blew up, in a year and a half-400 and something day-I literally prayed daily while walking my titus. I will pray every day: God, please change my life ... May God change my life; I'm a good kid. Please change my life. I have a child; I can't even buy her pampers... please change my life, please change my life and then 'Gummo' comes and life changes. And then I was like damn, God is real. I know if I pray every day it will work, because God is real. And my life has changed. [11] On March 23, 2018, Hernandez conducted a radio interview on The Breakfast Club, alongside Australian pastor Brian Houston, In this interview, the pastor held Hernandez's hand and prayed for him; may God help Hernandez gave birth to a daughter, Saraivah Hernandez (born October 29, 2015), with Sara Molina (born January 17, 1996). [83] Hernandez also had another daughter, Briella Iris Hernandez (born November 19, 2018), with Marlayna M. Weeks before Hernandez went to prison in late 2018, he began dating Jade, real name Rachel Watley. She has Hernandez's face tattooed twice on her body. [84] On October 1, 2020, Hernandez was reportedly hospitalized after taking an overdose from mixing two Hydroxycut diet pills with McDonald's McCafé coffee. He has claimed that the use of the drug has already he shed 30 pounds since he was released. [85] His lawyer denied the overdose claim. Hernandez has been involved in an allegation of child sexual conduct since 2015, Hernandez pleaded guilty to charges of using a child during a sex performance. He was charged with three counts following an incident in February 2015 in which he had a physical relationship with a 13-year-old girl and then distributed video of the incident online as part of a music video. Three videos are depicted in the criminal complaint against Hernandez. For the first time, the child engaged in oral sex with defendant Taquan Anderson accused separately, while the defendant, Daniel Hernandez, stood behind the child performing a push motion with her pelvis and smacking her on her buttocks. The naked child in the videos show the child sitting on Hernandez's lap. [87] In a November 2017 interview, Hernandez claimed not to have sex with the girl and denied knowing she was a minor. Hernandez also claimed to have been 17 at the time of the incident, although the date of birth is listed in the complaint against him and in his statement to police shows he is 18 years old. [88] Under his plea agreement, Hernandez must have had his GED, not posted sexually explicit or violent images of women or children on social media and did not commit other crimes for two years, among other restraining orders. If met, the plea agreement would give Hernandez three years of probation and he would not have to register as a sex offender; otherwise. Hernandez could face up to three years in prison. During a trial in January 2018. Hernandez failed his GED test, but adjourned sentencing until April 10, 2018, [90] The court date was later postponed, allegedly because the court did not have a copy of Hernandez's GED, [91] Prior to being charged with sexual abuse. Hernandez served time in prison as a minor for assault and selling heroin. [92] Due to his ongoing legal issues in the context of his plea agreement, the Manhattan district attorney's office claimed Hernandez could face three years in prison and be able to register sex crimes for his 2015 case. [93] but instead he was sentenced to four years of probation starting in October 2018, on one condition that he could not utter the phrase Treyway in public because it was considered to promote gang activity., as well as 1,000 hours of community service. [95] On October 27, 2018, two members of Hernandez's entourage were involved in a shooting in and later charged with gang assault. Hernandez was arrested in New York on July 12, 2018 for an outstanding warrant in connection with an incident. work. allegedly strangled a 16-year-old girl at a Galleria shopping mall in Houston, Texas, in January 2018. All charges were eventually dropped after the teenager decided not to take legal action. [97] In the early morning hours of July 22, 2018, Hernandez was kidnapped, beaten, and robbed by three armed attackers in Brooklyn. He finished filming the music video for FEFE (in collaboration with Nicki Minaj and Murda Beatz) when the attackers grabbed him outside his home and hit him. The robbers eventually stole more than $750,000 in custom jewelry and about $35,000 in cash, Hernandez escaped from their car and summoned police help through a stranger. He was taken to hospital, [98] In February 2019, Nine Trey Gangsters member Anthony Hary Ellison was indicted for kidnapping and assault in July. [99] On October 3, Ellison was found guilty. [100] Sheriff Keef opened fire On June 2, 2018, Sheriff Keef was shot outside the W Hotel in New York City but was not hit; no injuries were caused by the incident. [101] Due to the ongoing feud, Hernandez was confirmed to be under investigation by the New York Police Department for possible connection to the incident, despite being in Los Angeles at the time, [104] In February 2019, Hernandez pleaded guilty to ordering the shooting of Sheriff Keef, Hernandez offered kintea partner Kooda B McKenzie $20,000 to shoot at Sheriff Keef, Domestic violence and sexual assault allegations September 10, 2019, Hernandez admitted years of domestic violence in a cooperative agreement with the government, which had not previously been announced, listed some of the crimes he committed and the government agreed not to prosecute him. On the list, judge Paul Engelmayer explained, is that Hernandez admitted domestic violence between 2011 and November 2018. Allegations of domestic violence against Hernandez first came to light in early 2019, this includes a detailed Daily Beast article[107] which included testimony from the

she did provide news out news out shops with photos she said were taken shortly after the attack, showing bruises and cuts. [109] She went on to detail that Hernandez had been beating me for two hours in a row, claiming He punched me hard in the right ear, I thought I was deaf. Molina described that Hernandez punched, kicked and strangled her, leaving her with black eyes and multiple bruises. She then went on to detail that he sexually assaulted her the next morning, He woke up, forced me to have sex with him, she said. I cried. Molina described another incident that occurred in April 2017 in which 699ine beat her in a car in front of her daughter, then a one-year-old, who started screaming and crying. Molina alleges that after she asked Hernandez about a stripper he went out with, He pulled my hair and slapped me in the face, leading to a black eye. Hernandez admitted physically abusing his ex-girlfriend again in an interview with The New York Times in 2020. [112] The trial of Nine Trey Gangsters Main article: The trial of Nine Trey Gangsters On November 16, 2018, Hernandez made his second appearance on the radio show The Breakfast Club, in which he notably declared: There is only one thing I fear in life. No, two things. I'm afraid of God and I'm afraid of the FBI. [113] On November 18, 2018, Hernandez, former kifano fake coach Shotti Jordan and three other colleagues were arrested. Hernandez is charged with federal rico and firearms charges, including conspiracy to murder and armed robbery and facing life in prison. He is believed to be part of a violent bloods sedity known as the Nine Trey Gangsters. [116] Hernandez's attorney, Lance Lazzaro, supported bail for his application on the condition that Hernandez pay his passport, pay less than $2 million for bail and be under house arrest, but the judge refused bail, keeping Hernandez in custody that he could still endanger the community even if those bail conditions were met. Hernandez's legal team plans to appeal that decision. He was detained at the Metropolitan Detention Center in Brooklyn under the general population before being transferred to another facility for security reasons, as Hernandez had numerous quarrels with fellow inmates, including those belonging to the Crips street gang. [115] On February 1, 2019, Hernandez pleaded guilty to nine charges. He will be sentenced on January 24, 2020 and faces a mandatory sentence of 47 years in prison. [118] On 16 February, a plea agreement document revealed that the rapper could avoid jail time in exchange for He is willing to testify against fellow gang members investigate simultaneously. gang members to jail and a 13-month service period. [122] On December 18, 2019, Hernandez's father appeared in court after not seeing him since he was 9 years old. Hernandez did not notice his father in the room for the first half of the hearing. His father sat in one of the back rows of the courtroom and spent several minutes trying to get his son's attention. After Hernandez finally noticed his father was in the courtroom, he burst into tears. His father told reporters that he wanted to repair his relationship with his son. [124] On 22 March 2020, while serving a prison sentence, Hernandez requested that the rest of his prison sentence be served at home claims that he was at higher risk of COVID-19 virus infection due to a pre-pre-asthma condition. [125] On April 1, 2020, Rolling Stone received a letter to a judge from U.S. Attorney Geoffrey Berman saying that the government did not oppose Hernandez's early release to custody. [126] On Thursday, April 2, Hernandez's attorney, Dawn Florio, confirmed to XXL magazine that the court decided to allow the rapper to be released from prison and held at home. He is scheduled to debut on August 2, 2020. [127] His detention ended on 1 August 2020. Feuds Trippie Redd In April 2017, Hernandez and Trippie Redd released their first collaboration, Poles1469, and in July 2017 they released another product, Owee. [129] Later that year, upon seeing a post from a Twitter account claiming Hernandez was a pedophile after the release of photos and information of fellow rapper and detractor Hernandez ZillaKami, Trippie Redd denounced Hernandez, saving, I apologize to Brozav (sic), 1400 for not promoting pedophiles ... If we give clout niggas, we give clout niggas, we give clout niggas, we give clout niggas. It was an accident, [130] On November 11, 2017, after a series of fights between the two on social media, Redd was attacked in the lobby of a New York hotel and blamed Hernandez and his crew in an Instagram live video. [131] Hernandez later alluded to his involvement in an Instagram live video, saying, I don't know what's going on, but your chin is bruised. You can't ranting on Live talk about New York. Fuck these ni guys are talking about, New York, You can't do that. You should put some ice on your chin, it's bruised. I feel bad bro... I just want you to be my friend again, when conducting hook sing from Poles1469. He was referencing a post by Trippie Redd showing Hernandez holding hands with another man a caption referring to Hernandez as a gay man. [132] In February 2018, Hernandez was attacked by several men outside Los Angeles airport shortly after arguing with Trippie Redd on Instagram. Their feud continues to escalate with mutual Internet trolling. Hernandez later accused Trippie Redd on Instagram Live of having sex with rapper Bhad Bhabie, then a minor. Trippie Redd denied the allegations and reiterated Hernandez's allegations of using a child in sexual activity. Bhad Bhabie also took to Instagram Live to deny the claims, but admitted the two had kissed in the past, saying, 'We kissed but it wasn't serious and he was 17 at the time. [133] However, this contradicts a document given by Trippie Redd to the late xxxTentacion about the nature of their relationship broke down with girlfriend Alexandria Laveglia, [137] known as Aylek$, Hernandez began posting videos of herself with her, alluding to sexual activity between the two[138][139][140] following Hernandez's November 2018 federal arrest on charges Trippie Redd mocked Hernandez's incarceration in a video he danced to the tune of Akon Locked Up's 2004 hit single, imitating a prison script. [142] Chief Keef Throughout 2018, Hernandez was involved in feuds with several Chicago drill artists from the GloGang collective, including Chief Keef, Lil Reese and Tadoe (Chief Keef, Lil Reese and Tadoe but is also friendly with Hernandez. The two continued to feud on social media, with Hernandez posting a video of his semi-romantic vacation to Hawaii with the Cuban Doll on Instagram, [144] and driving to Chief Keef's old neighborhood and taunting him, [145] as well as contacting Aereon Clark, known as Slim Danger, the mother of one of Chief Keef's sons, and recorded herself buying her designer clothes and verbal taunts and then receiving fellatio from her. [147] On May 8, 2018, Trippie Redd previewed the song I Kill People on Instagram, in collaboration with Chief Keef and Tadoe, aimed at combating Hernandez and cuban dolls. [148] Other feuds Since his early release from prison in April 2020, due to the concerns of COVID-19, 6ix9ine has engaged in a number of feuds, with others, Meek Mill, 50 Cent, YG, Rich the Kid, as well as Future and Future going on a Twitter tirade against 6ix9ine [149] In May 2020, 6ix9ine accused singers Ariana Grande and Justin Bieber of cheating and acquired the number one position The Billboard Hot 100 chart, after their song Stuck with U debuted at number three for the week ending May 23, 2020. He also accused Billboard of manipulating the charts. In an Instagram post, 6ix9ine claimed grande and Bieber used six credit cards to buy 30,000 copies of their song at the last minute. [152] Both Grande and Bieber denied the allegations against them, as well as dismissing 6ix9ine's claims about the use of six credit cards, assuming that their fans were the one who bought the songs and explaining that no more than four copies could be purchased. [153] Bieber will refer to 6ix9ine's claim that this is a domestic chart so only domestic streams are counted. [154] Billboard also commented on how they conducted the charts that week, exposing all of 6ix9ine had before the disclosure was false, saying that they did not distribute any of their charts to record studios, manager or artist. [155] In a later interview with The New York Times asking him if he would inflate his streams through pre-roll shows or ads or dirty marketing tactics. Hernandez said: I would say the same thing I said to Billboard: Who? Everyone exaggerates their numbers, Ev-er-v-bod-v, [156] From August to September 2020, 6ix9ine was embroiled in a feud with rappers Lil Durk and Lil Reese, who called the rapper out for a point against his former colleagues. 6ix9ine reacted to Lil Durk, who claimed 6ix9ine's record label tried to pay him $3 million to continue the dispute. Rapper Lil Tjay made the same statement. [158] In March 2018, Hernandez went to the Dominican Republic to shoot a music video. While there, Hernandez handed over a $100 bill to residents in the area, [160] Amid a feud with Chief Keef on June 12, 2018, Hernandez visited Chicago's South Side and gave food and cash to local residents. [162] On July 24, 2018, Hernandez announced that a percentage of proceeds from the sale of Nicki Minai's hit single Fefe would be donated to various youth programs in New York. [163] A portion of the proceeds from their 2020 single, Trollz, were donated to the Bail Project to support those arrested during the George Floyd protests. [164] On October 22, 2018, Hernandez met and spent the day with Tati, an eight-year-old Brooklyn girl with brain cancer who wished to see him. Hernandez took her shopping. [166] Hernandez made a significant monetary contribution to the Cristian Rivera Foundation, a nonprofit founded to raise awareness supporting clinical research for a very rare form of brain cancer found in children known as inland pontine oma (DIPG).
According to the organization's founder John Rivera, Rivera, has been a supporter since November 14, 2018. John Rivera also claimed Hernandez had performed many acts of kindness that went without media coverage or documentation.
[167] On February 10, 2019, a video emerged of Hernandez in an anti-violence ad against women for Romantic Depot, a sex shop and lingerie chain based in New York. [168] The commercial was released on Valentine's Day and went viral on TMZ and other popular news sites. [169] The first part of the video stated that There is no way Romantic Depot supports the past activities of the Tekashi 6IX9INE. After returning home from Gooba to No Kid Hungry. However, director of strategic communications Laura Washburn declined the donation, saying we are reful for Mr Hernandez's generous offer to donate to No Hungry Kid but we have informed his representatives that we have rejected this donation As a campaign focused on children, it is our policy to deny funding from donors that do not work in accordance with our mission and values. Hernandez responded of agram, saying @nokidhungry out of the mouths of these innocent children, I had never seen anything so cruel.
