

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

Mdv106-1av 200m duro

Use the source in the introductory phrase 1. This is a useful option if you quote an academic source or criticism. In the introductory phrase, use the name of the person who wrote the quote you receive. Follow the introductory phrase comma and then quote. [1] For example, if you use a quote from John Smith's text, you can write: According to Smith, Life is beautiful. In Smith's view, life is beautiful. In Smith's words, Life is beautiful. 2 Introduce the quote with a descriptive verb. Descriptive verbs are a good way to briefly and concisely quote in the text. Use descriptive verbs, such as states, notes, notes, comments, comments, or supports. Always use the author's last name followed by a descriptive verb. Then use a comma and add a suggestion. [2] Do not use the say as a descriptive verb to enter quotes unless you quote from a conversation. For example, if you use hannah arendt text citation, you can write: Arendt notes: Even in the darkest times we have the right to expect some lighting. Arendt states: Even in the darkest times we have the right to expect some kind of lighting. 3 Do not use a comma if the lead ends with this or how. If you use this or how in the introductory phrase, you don't need to use a comma after that. Instead, just insert the quote after the phrase. [3] For example, you might write: Arendt points out that totalitarianism needs to be feared. Arendt stresses that totalitarianism needs to be feared. Arendt describes his book as an exploration of power. 1 Write a short quote statement. To create a statement, try to put a quote in your words. Link it to your thesis statement or to an overarching theme or idea in a document. Write a short statement that is no longer than one line or eight to ten words long. This will frame the reader's quote. [4] For example, you may write the following statement: Arendt does not see totalitarianism as a positive result of war. Or you can write a statement, for example, Hamlet argues against Rosencrantz's claim that he lacks ambition. 2 Place the quote under the colon statement. After writing the statement, place it in front of the citation and then use the colon. Write down a quote after the colon. [5] For example, you might write: Arendt sees totalitarianism as a positive result of war: Totalitarianism needs to be feared and evasive. Hamlet argues against Rosencrantz's claim that he lacks ambition: I could be limited briefly and count myself as king of infinite space. 3 Integrate the quote into your statement. This is a good option if you want to quote only the main part of the text or multiple parts of different lines in the same passage. Integrating will allow you to use it as proof for your thoughts. For example, you can write: Arendt, state-sanctioned propaganda was a fundamental totalitarian regime where you can force people to believe in fantastic statements, thus affirming the power of the state to its citizens. Hamlet doubts Rosencrantz's view, arguing that he can be limited briefly and still feel like a powerful, infinite king of space. 1 View lead traffic and organization. After properly tying the quote into your paper, read it aloud to confirm that it flows with the rest of the content. Verify that the sentence corresponds to the rest of the paragraph. Make sure to include your thoughts and ideas about the quote in the paragraph that it feels very important to what you're talking about. You can also look at the use of your quotes on all paper to confirm that they are flowing well. Make sure you match the way you put quotation marks on the paper. Use one to two different ways to enter quotation marks and follow them so that the reader can follow your thought train. 2 Check for proper punctuation. Read each lead feature to make sure you're using the punctuation sign correctly. Verify that commas are added to the lead. Make sure that you are not using commas if the lead ends up with this or how. You should also verify that you create all the lead names in italics. Also, capitalize all the names of the lead authors in capital letters. 3 Make sure you quote quotes correctly. When you use quotation marks on paper or essays, you must properly indicate that you are not responsible for plagiarism. Always follow the style of the quote assigned by the teacher. They can prefer APA style, MLA style, or Chicago-style quotes. Place a quote at the end of the quote if you use quotes in quotes. For example, you might write: Arendt does not see totalitarianism as a positive result of war: Totalitarianism must be feared and saturated (Totalitarianism, 54). Hamlet doubts Rosencrantz's view, arguing that he can be limited briefly and still feel like a powerful, king of infinite space (Hamlet, 2.2). Add a new question question if I'm doing an essay on a story and need to add a quote that hasn't been told to the character in the story, how should I lead to a quote? If the narrator didn't say the words you're quoting, you can't quote them. This would be an illegal remake of the original you are quoting. If the character did not die in the original story, you also can not say that the character died. However, you can describe the character in the story and explore how a person with such qualities can react to this or that, but you need to carefully mention which parts are quotes from the story and which are yours Ask a question This article was co-authored by Lynn Lynn Kirkham is a professional public speaker and founder of Yes You Can Speak, a San Francisco Bay Area-based public speaking education business giving thousands of professionals to take leadership regardless of the stage they were given – from job interviews, boardroom talks to TEDx and large conference platforms. Lynn has been selected as the official TEDx Berkeley speaker coach for the past four years and has worked with executives at Google, Facebook, Intuit, Genentech, Intel, VMware, and others. Contributors: 4 Updated: May 24, 2020 Views: 38,413 Categories: Technical Writing Print Email To Authors Thank you to all authors for creating the page, which has been read 38 413 times. To the world, she was an unhappy, lonely single parent but the truth was that he was always with her at every chance in life, holding her hand and giving her the strength to live. --Life is about discovering who we are, so we strive to become better than we are, and help everything and everyone around us become better too. Let these words inspire, motivate, encourage you, and enable you to be as best as you can be.1. Every time you have to talk, you are auditioning for leadership. --James Humes2. You're not just here to earn a living. You are here so that the world can live more, with a greater vision, with a spirit of petty hope and achievement. You are here to enrich the world, and impoverish yourself if you forgot the errand. --Woodrow Wilson 3. A good leader leads people from above. A great leader leads people from within them. --M.D. Arnold 4. Don't follow the crowd, let the crowd follow you. --Margaret Thatcher5. We are what we pretend to be, so we have to be careful about what we pretend to be. --Kurt Vonnegut6. Leadership is an art to give people a platform to spread ideas that work. --Seth Godin7. The greatest leader is not necessarily the one who does the biggest things. He is the one who adds people to do the greatest things. --Ronald Reagan8. To add value to others, you first need to value others. --John Maxwell9. A true leader has the confidence to stand alone, the courage to make difficult decisions and compassion to listen to the needs of others. He is not determined to be a leader, but becomes one of his actions in the integrity of equality and intent. --Douglas MacArthur10. The task of the leader is to get their people out of where they are, where they weren't. --Henry Kissinger11. Treat people as if they were as they should be, and you help them become what they are capable of being. --Johann Wolfgang von Goethe12. I believe that leadership at the same time meant muscle; but today it means agreeing with the people. --Mahatma Gandhi13. There are no working hours for leaders. --Cardinal J. Gibbons14. When people talk, completely. --Ernest Hemingway15. I can give you a six-word formula of success: Think things over-then follow through. --Edward Rickenbacker16. One of the leadership tests is the ability to recognize a problem before it becomes an emergency. --Arnold Glasow17. What matters is that at any time we can give up everything that we are for what we can become. --DeSeaux18. The quality of the leader is reflected in the standards they set for themselves. --Ray Kroc19. Do what you feel in your heart to be right, for you will still be criticized. --Eleanor Roosevelt 20. I can't give you a formula for success, but I can give you a formula of failure, which is: Try to please everyone. --Herbert Swope21. The real leadership is to direct others to success by ensuring that everyone does their best, doing the job they have promised to do and doing it well. --Bill Owens22. Becoming a leader is synonymous with becoming a self-sufficient. It is so simple and also so difficult. --Warren Bennis23. Wisdom knows what to do next, skill knows how to do it, and virtue does it. --David Star Jordan 24. Control is not leadership; governance is not leadership; leadership is leadership. If you seek to lead, invest at least 50 percent of your time in your goal, ethics, principles, motivation, behavior. Invest at least 20 percent in leading those who have power over you, and 15 percent in charge of your peers. --Dee Hock25. Leaders do not prepare for pain, they share pain. --Max Depree26. Wise leaders usually have wise counselors because they need a wise man to separate them. --Sinope27. diogens. The growth and development of people is the supreme calling of leadership. --Harvey S. Firestone28. Management is doing the right thing; leadership is doing the right thing. --Peter F. Drucker29. The leadership function is to produce more leaders, not more followers. --Ralph Nader30. Leadership is the ability to make vision a reality. --Brian Tracy31. There are unlimited opportunities in every industry. Where there is an open mind, there will always be a wall. --Charles F. Kettering32. A leader is a person you will follow to a place you do not go to yourself. --Joel Barker33. A good leader takes a little more than his share of guilt, a little less than his share of credit. --Arnold glasow34. Effective leadership is not about languages or likes; management is defined by results rather than by attributes. --Peter F. Drucker35. The leader is the one who knows the way, goes down the road and shows the way. --John Maxwell36. Leaders think and talk about solutions. Followers think and talk about problems. --Brian Tracy37. Leadership is the art of getting someone else to do what you want to do because he wants to do it. D. Eisenhower38. What we are most afraid of in organisations - fluctuations, disturbances, imbalances - are the main sources of creativity. --Margaret Wheatley39. The leader is the best when people barely know that it exists. When his work is done, his goal will be accomplished, they will say: we have done it ourselves. --Lao Tzu40. The leader takes people where they want to go. A great leader takes people to where they don't necessarily want to go, but should be. --Rosalynn Carter41. The art of leadership says no, not says yes. It's very easy to say yes. --Tony Blair42. The price of greatness is a responsibility. --Winston Churchill43. A true leader is not a consensus-seeking, but a consensus molder. --Martin Luther King Jr.44. Today's reader, tomorrow's leader. --Margaret Fuller45. Never doubt that a small group of like-minded, concerned citizens can change the world. In fact, this is the only thing that ever has. --Margaret Mead46. The biggest difference is service to others. --King George VI47. If you are not sure where you are going, you can finish somewhere else. --Robert F. Mager48. Anyone can hold the steering wheel when the sea is calm. --Publius Syrus49. Become a leader that people would follow voluntarily, even if you didn't have a title or position. --Brian Tracy50. You handle things; you lead people. --Grace Murray Hopper51. A great person attracts great people and knows how to keep them together. --Johann Wolfgang von Goethe52. Leadership is not about titles, positions or flowcharts. It is about one life affecting another. --John C. Maxwell53. People buy into a leader before they buy into the vision. --John C. Maxwell54. Before you are a leader, success is about growing yourself. When you become a leader, success is about growing up in others. --Jack Welch55. Leadership raises a human vision to high glances, raising human activity to a higher standard, a personality building beyond the usual limitations. --Peter F. Drucker56. Doing what's right is not a problem. It knows what is right. --Lyndon B Johnson57. Success is not final, failure is not fatal: it is the courage to continue that number. --Winston Churchill58. Don't follow where the road can lead. Go where there is no road, and leave the trail. --Harold R. McAlindon59. Protect your fears for yourself, but share your courage with others. --Robert Louis Stevenson 60. There are two ways of emitting light: to be a candle or a mirror reflecting it. --Edith Wharton61. The mediocre teacher tells. A good teacher explains. A higher teacher demonstrates. The great teacher inspires. --William Arthur Ward62. The leaders are not born, they are made. And they are made like anything else, through hard work. And that is the price that we will have to pay to achieve that goal, or any purpose. --Vince Lombardi63. A man will make a great leader who wants to do it all himself, or get all the merits for it. --Andrew Carnegie64. You gain strength, courage and confidence in every experience in which you truly stop looking fear in your face. You have to do what you think you can't do. --Eleanor Roosevelt 65. You accept people as much as they go, not as much as you would like them to go. --Jeanette Rankin66. Leadership and learning are essential to each other. --John F. Kennedy67. The role of leadership is to transform a complex situation into small pieces and set their priorities. --Carlos Ghosn68. True leadership are leaders who recognize that they serve the people they lead. --Pete Hoekstra69. Moderate leaders put a bar on themselves; good leaders pose a bitterness to others; great leaders inspire others to raise their bar. --Orrin Woodward70. Doing great things is difficult; but ordering great things is more difficult. - Friedrich nietzsche71. Ninety percent of leadership is the ability to communicate what people want. --Dianne Feinstein72. Effective leadership puts the first things first. Effective governance is discipline in its implementation. --Stephen Covey73. All the great leaders had one common feature: it was a desire to unequivocally confront their people's great anxiety in their time. This, and not much else, is the essence of leadership. --John Kenneth Galbraith74. The task of leadership is not to put greatness into humanity, but to figure it out, because greatness already exists. --John Buchan75. Leadership is the art of getting someone else to do what you want to do because he wants to do it. --Dwight D. Eisenhower76. Great leaders are almost always great sympathizers who can cut through arguments, debates and doubts to offer a solution anyone can understand. --Colin Powell77. The leader is not an administrator who likes to run others, but someone who carries water to their people so they can get on with their work. --Robert Townsend78. Leadership really can't be taught. This can only be learned. --Harold Geneen79. Look over your shoulder now and then make sure someone's following you. --Henry Gilmer80. Leadership is not a magnetic personality, which can just as well be a glib tongue. It's not to befriend and influence people that are flattering. Leadership puts human vision into higher sights, raising human activity to a higher standard, creating personality beyond the usual limitations. --Peter F. Drucker81. Innovation distinguishes the leader from followers. --Steve Jobs82. Great leaders are defined not by the absence of weakness, but by the presence of clear strengths. --John Zenger83. Do not be afraid to give up the good to go to the great. --John D. Rockefeller84. Leadership is unlocking potential to become better. --Bill Bradley 85. The biggest leaders are mobilizing others, connecting people around a shared vision. --Ken Blanchard86. The highest quality of leadership is honesty. --Dwight D. Eisenhower87. The leadership function is to produce more leaders, not more followers. - Ralph Nader88. Earn your leadership every day. --Michael Jordan89. As we look ahead to the next century, the leaders will be the ones who give to others. --Bill Gates 90. You can't be a leader, and ask other people to follow you unless you know how to follow, too. --Sam Rayburn91. Those who let things go usually lose those who make things happen. --Dave Weinbaum92. To cope with yourself, use the head; handle others, use your heart. --Eleanor Roosevelt 93. Almost all people can stand in trouble, but if you want to test a man's character, give him power. --Abraham Lincoln 94. Leadership is a constantly evolving position. --Mike Krzyzewski95. You get in life what you have the courage to ask for. --Nancy D. Solomon96. Leadership is an action, not a position. --Donald McGannon97. Don't tell people how to do things. Tell them what to do, and let them be surprised by their results. --George S. Patton Jr.98. Whoever you are, be good. --Abraham Lincoln 99. The leader is the one who sees more than others see, who sees further than others see, and who sees before others see it. --Leroy Amy 100. The most effective way to lead is to lead from within. --(could not help myself) Lolly Daskal Daskal