

☐

I'm not robot

reCAPTCHA

Continue

Warframe revenant blueprint missing

See more Last update: 2020/10/05 - Heart of Deimos: Hotfix 29.2.1 New content tagged in red. This article lists all available missions for Warframe, with tips on how to unlock them and what you get from these missions. *The information in this article is based on the PC build for Warframe, and some assignments may not be available on console build.

General tip: When you unlock missions, it can be launched from the Codex > Quest tab and tap BEGIN on the user interface. Once you have started the mission, it is best not to change the active quest until it is completed. Most missions cannot be replayed once they are complete. There are few exceptions shown below, but replays are for lore purposes only and completing the quest again will not give you the quest reward again. Once you complete your mission, Quest Rewards can be reclaimed from Cephalon Simaris on the placement relay. Most missions are unlocked via Junction completion. Vor's Prize First quest when you start Warframe as a new player. Completing the mission will unlock most of the player ship's segments. If you have skipped this mission when the mission system was introduced, it will be considered complete and will not affect future mission locks Saya's Vigil Mission is unlocked by completing Vors prize, now Mastering Rank 1, completing a Bounty from Cetus located in the Plains of Eidolon, and then talking to Konzu about A Personal Favor. As then you will be asked to talk to Saya in Cetus (do not go to the Plains of Eidolon), and when you do you will get Quest. If you skipped Vors premium back when the mission system was first introduced, the mission will be considered Completed on the server side and it will not affect your ability to unlock the mission. The mission will give you Gara Blueprint. Gara shares drawings from Bounties on the Plains of Eidolon. The mission can only be played in Solo mode and cannot be played on the co-op. If you sell the Gara Warframe you've made, you can get more Gara Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for 100,000 Locations after completing the mission. If a player has purchased Gara Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the hunt for the first time, they will receive a veiled Riven Mod upon completion of the mission along with Gara Blueprint via in-game Inbox. The Vox Solaris mission starts automatically when the player visits Fortuna on Venus for the first time. To view and access Fortuna, the player must have the Uunda node that precedes Fortuna complete. Completing the mission will reward the player with the K-Drive Launcher equipment element on the Quest completion screen and will receive Garuda Blueprint separately from Eudico via Inbox Post after completing the mission. The K-Drive Launcher reward is the Gear element and not Blueprint. It is not necessary to create any element to equip gear wheel after completing the assignment. It is also important to note that, the K-Drive Launcher is a gear element to summon the K-Drive, and is not the K-Drive itself (you need to acquire/craft it outside the quest). K-Drive Launcher can still be used without owning any K-Drive, and will summon the basic Bondi K-Drive that cannot be changed. Garuda sharing drawings is not part of the quest reward, and is drawn from completing bounty missions on Fortuna/Orb Vallis. If you sell the Garuda Warframe you've made, you can get more Garuda Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for 100,000 Placements after completing missions. To complete the mission is necessary to unlock some of the merchants of Fortuna. The Mission deadlock protocol can be accessed from your codec if you are Coping Rating 4 or higher and have completed the Vox Solaris missions that precede it. Completing the mission will reward the player with Xoris Glaive weapons, which they will collect and create blueprint/parts in the quest. They will also be awarded protea blueprint and Granum Void Captura Scene when they complete the hunt for the first time. Protea component drawings are not part of Quest Reward and are purchased from Granum Void, a special location only available from the Corpus Ship tile set. If a player has purchased Protea Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the hunt for the first time, they will receive a veiled Rifle Riven Mod upon completion of the mission via the in-game inbox. The deadlock protocol can be replayed once completed from Codex, but completing the mission again will not give you the mission rewards again. If you've sold the Xoris you got from the mission, you can get extra Xoris Blueprint from Cephalon Simaris Offering on Relay for 100,000 Locations, and parts for 15,000 placements each after completing the mission. If you sell the Protea Warframe you've made, you can get more Protea Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for 100,000 Placements after completing the mission. The heart of the Deimos Mission can be reached from Codex by having Mars Junction on Earth Completed, and have access to the Cambion Operation Open World node. This mission can only be played in Solo mode. Completing the mission will reward the player with Xaku Blueprint and Deimos Necralisk Captura Scene when you complete the hunt for the first time. Xaku's component drawings are purchased from Cambion Drift Bounty missions. If a player has purchased Xaku Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the hunt for the first time, they will receive a veiled shotgun Riven Mod upon completion of the mission via the in-game inbox. If you sell the Xaku Warframe you have created, you can get Xaku Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offers on the relay for 50,000 placings after completing the mission. The howl of Kubrow Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Venus to Mercury. This mission will allow you to create your very first Kubrow! After the first mission, you will have access to the incubator segment. You must then find a Kubrow Egg by destroying the Kubrow Dens found on earth's Forest tiled. It can also be purchased for Platinum. Once you have purchased an egg, you must also get an incubator Power Core. It can be acquired as a ready-made item through the market or in the form of a blueprint to make in foundry. Alternatively, you can get an incubator Power Core when you complete Mars Junction for the first time. When asked to wait until Kubrow matures, the incubation and hatching of the egg will not develop the quest. Kubrow can instantly mature on the incubator segment with the click of a button. Finally, you will receive the Nai-Zhen collar that allows you to take your kubrow for regular missions (once it is achieved, the collar will automatically be attached to Kubrow in use). Progression of the quest especially requires Kubrows, and other pets (Kavats, etc.) do not count towards the progression of the quest. When Awake Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Venus to Mercury. Completing the mission will give you the molten impact MOD (not Quest exclusive), and Heat Sword Blueprint The Heat Sword Blueprint can also be purchased from the Nightwave offerings. Archwing Quest unlocks by completing the crossing from Earth to Mars. Completing the mission will provide you with Odonata Archwing and 2 Archwing weapons (Imperator and Veritux). After completing the mission you will be able to use your Archwing in regular Archwing missions, and underwater levels. Resources required to create the Odonata parts are not obtained through mission progression and must be obtained on their own. Completion of this mission early is recommended as many missions, missions and events require access to Archwing to participate. If you sell Odonata Archwing, Imperator and Veritux you have made, you can get additional Blueprints for this equipment from Cephalon Simaris Offers on the Relay for the following cost: Odonata Blueprint: 100,000 Placements Odonata Parts Blueprints: 50,000 Placings each Imperator Blueprint: 100,000 Placements Veritux Blueprint: 100,000 Placements A man with few words unlocked by talking to Darvo in any of the relays. Completing the mission will give you exilus adapter and 1 Clem Clone Blueprint. Clem Clone Blueprint cannot be reused. Additional drawings must be obtained in order to construct more Clem Clones. They can be purchased by completing missions to help Clem, who can be reached by talking to Darvo on the relay after completing the mission (only once per 7 days). Dreams Quest is unlocked by completing the Junction from Mars to Phobos. Completing the mission will give you Ether Dagger Blueprint and an Orokin Catalyst Blueprint. You can get more Ether Daggers Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on the relay for 100,000 placings each after completing the mission. Limbo Theorem Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Jupiter to Europa, which will then be unlocked and available in your code. You also need Archwing to play some of the missions. Starting with Update 21, limbo theorem excavation missions will now guarantee one of the Blueprints at the end of 3 extractors as an End of Mission reward. Completing the mission will provide you with Limbo component drawings (Limbo Neuroptic, Systems, and Chassis). You can create Limbo after completing your search by purchasing Limbo Blueprint from the market. If you sell limbo warframe you have created, you can get more Limbo Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on Relay for 50,000 Placements each after completing the mission. New Strange Quest is unlocked by completing the Junction task from Jupiter to Europa. Completing the mission will give you Chroma Blueprint. Chroma sharing drawings are rewarded as Junction rewards and is not part of the quest reward: Neuroptics Blueprint: Uranus Junction on Saturn Chassis Blueprint: Neptune Junction at Uranus Systems Blueprint: Pluto Junction on Neptune If you sell the Chroma Warframe you've made, you can get extra Chroma Blueprints and Chroma Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offers on Relay for the following cost: Chroma Blueprint: 100.000 Locations Chroma Parts Blueprints: 50,000 Locations The New Strange quest can be replayed when completed on Codex, but completing the quest again will not give you the quest reward again. Natah Quest unlocks by being Mastery Rating 3 and scanning a sentient Oculyst found throughout the solar system (reports indicate frequent Oculyst observations in a laboratory located underwater). To complete the mission will give you exilus adapter, and allow the player to buy Exilus Adapter blueprint from Cephalon Simaris. The Second Dream Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Uranus to Neptune and completing the Natah mission. Quest rewards include: Broken-War Focus system unlocked Access to Orokin Moon nodes Scar Sigil The Broken War reward is required to create war weapons, as Blueprint is dropped from a special Assassin's Boss enemy that appears after completing the quest. If you sell the ruined war you've been given, you can get more Blueprints from the special Assassin Boss enemy that appears after completing the mission. The war unlocked by accessing Sedna via Junctions, and getting The Second Dream quest completed. finally boss battle will have you fighting Kuva Guardians with melee only, so it is recommended that before you commit to infiltrate you equip your best Melee, and preferably your best Warframe. During the battle against Kuva Guardians, they are immune to Warframe attacks, and Warframe forces are repealed inside the chamber, along with the player who cannot use their primary and secondary weapons, or any equipment. To combat guardians, Tenno must use the operator's invalid powers to destroy them by exiting the warframe using their transference capability. Every Kuva Guardian can be killed via the following steps: Kuva Guardian must first be stunned with a Void Blast. When the Kuva Guardian kneels on the ground with an orange glow around them, players must cancel Dash through the Guardian to disarm them by their stakes. Finally, when the Kuva Guardian starts using its Twin Rogga pistols, players can now deal with damage to them using Void Beam or Warframe. If you go into the fight with weaker equipment, the battle is balanced to scale with your equipment and is designed to be fully capable with any melee weapon. The key is to use your new powers to defeat the Guardians, and in the second segment of the battle, you have to dodge and parry the offender's attacks and attacks with melee when they show openings. Completing the mission will give you Broken Scepter, Orvius Blueprint, Rifle Riven Mod and Grineer Queens Glyph. Once you complete the mission, Orvius Blueprint can be recovered from Cephalon Simaris on the relay as an offer to pay 100,000 Standing. Completing the mission will also reward the player with personal quarters segment blueprint. If you select an adjustment you didn't want, Warframe support cannot change or edit the user's selection and alignment. If you sell the Orvius weapon you made, you can get more Orvius Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for 100,000 placements after completing missions. If you sell Broken Scepter you've got, you can get more Broken Scepter Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on Relay for 100,000 Locations after completing your search. Mask of the Revenant Prerequisite: Rank of Observer or above with Quills Syndicate. Important to note that Ostron Syndicate is not the same as Quills Syndicate Visit Nakai in Cetus and select Mask dialog option. Buy the mask of the lost from Nakai and equip it to the operator>You can do it right from Cetus by going to Equipment > Operator via the ESC menu while in operator mode! Go out to the Plains of Eidolon at night with the mask equipped. There will be a marked area with an item for you to find - listen to nakak dialog for hints! Once you have found the item, you must return to Cetus and to Konzu. Use the Bounty Board to select a Bounty with a Revenant Parts Blueprint in its droptable. Complete the Bounty until you receive Blueprint. Build Blueprint and claim it from foundry. Repeat steps 2 - 4. NOTE: The Revenant section you are building must be different from the one you completed in step 4 Return to the Deletes in Eidolon with the Mask of the Lost One equipped and locate the item within the selection. After doing so, another cursor appears in your minimap. Search the area, find the item, and follow Nakak's instructions. There are no Riven MOD rewards associated with this mini mission regardless of previous Quest Warframe purchases. If you sell the Revenant Warframe you've made, you can get more Revenant Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for 100,000 Placements after completing missions. Hidden Messages Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Pluto to Sedna, which will then be unlocked and available in your code. Unlike other general resources, orokin ciphers can only be obtained from Orokin Vaults, which are hidden in random locations in certain Orokin Derelict Mission and can be unlocked with a Dragon Key. Dragon Key Blueprints can be asked through a Dojo's Orokin Lab research. Completing the mission will give you the Mirage Component Blueprints (Mirage Neuroptics, Systems and Chassis). You can create the Mirage after completing the mission by purchasing the Mirage Blueprint from the market. Deleting the inbox messages will not interfere with the mission progression. If you accidentally deleted the riddle from the inbox message, Warframe Support cannot recover the deleted message, but the contents of the message can be read in this Help Center article here. If you sell the Mirage Warframe you have created, you can get more Mirage Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for 50,000 Placements each after completing the mission. Chains of the Harrow Mission are unlocked by completing The War Within quest, and have the Mot node on the Void completed. This mission can be replayed once completed on Codex (completing the mission again will not give you the mission reward again). The mission will give you Harrow Blueprint. His parts can be found in the Defection mission type, grineer fortress spy missions, and from enemies destroyed by Void Fissures. The mission can only be played in Solo mode and cannot be played on the co-op. If you sell the Harrow Warframe you've made, you can get more Harrow Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for 100,000 Locations after completing the mission. If a player has purchased Harrow Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the hunt for the first time, they will receive a Melee Riven Mod upon completion of the mission together with Harrow through your in-game inbox. Apostasy Prolog Mission is unlocked by completing the Chains of Harrow. The personal quarters segment must be created and installed on the orbiter. You'll need to set the matchmaking setting to SOLO to access the glowing ball in your personal quarters. The victim mission is unlocked by completing the apostasy prologue. Once unlocked, the mission can be launched from Codex, and cinematic will begin when you go to your personal quarters and interact with the helmet. Making Excalibur Umbra will basically not fully unlock the Warframe, and Umbra will be fully usable when the mission is finished. Excalibur Umbra and Skjajati cannot be sold for credits and cannot be removed from the warehouse. Rising Tide Prerequisite for unlocking this mission: Complete The Second Dream quest (The Codex may display this step as incomplete despite having the quest completed, but as long as the other requirements listed below are completed, the quest will unlock). Have a constructed Dry Dock in the clan Dojo. Complete Dojo Research for Railjack Cephalon. Get Railjack Cephalon Blueprint from Clan Dojo and crafts / claims it from foundry. Guide to building Dry Dock can be found here: Each part of railjack requires 12 hours of construction time that cannot be rushed, and with 6 parts to build, this mission requires a minimum of 72 hours to complete and get railjack. The Dry Dock construction and the first Railjack Cephalon research is a Clan Effort, but the rest of the acquisition mission is a solo content. Your Railjack is linked to your Warframe account, so leaving a clan won't remove railjack. You'll need access to a Dojo with a dry dock to customize your railjack. The Chimera Prolog Mission can be reached from Codex when you complete The Sacrifice quest. Completing the mission will reward the player with Paracesis Blueprint. Sands of Inaros Unlocked by talking to Baro Ki'Teer and buying Sands of Inaros quest key blueprint when he visits Tenno Relay. Create the quest key blueprint on Foundry to begin the quest from Codex. To purchase the mission key drawing, it requires that you are Mastering Rank 5 and have access to Phobos on the navigation segment. Quest key blueprint can also be obtained through trade. Completing the mission will give you the Inaros Blueprint and Inaros component drawings. You will also receive sacred vessel decoration to place on your ship. If you sell Inaros Warframe you have created, you can get more Inaros Blueprints and Inaros Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for the following cost: Inaros Blueprint: 100,000 Placings Inaros Parts Blueprints: 50,000 Placings Sanden on Inaros Quest is not replayable, and buy Quest from Baro again will not allow players to create Quest Key. Quest Key Blueprint can be switched to other players who haven't unlocked the mission yet. The goals you defeat are counted only if you have the Sands of Inaros quest set as your active quest, you kill the targets yourself, and with sacred vessel equipped to your gears. Silver Grove unlocked by reaching Mastering Rank 7 and completing The Second Dream quest. As then, you can talk to New Loka at Tenno Relay to receive the assignment. The player does not need to be allied with New Loka to get the assignment. Quest rewards include: Nightfall, Twilight, Sunrise Apothic Blueprints. Titania Systems, Chassis, Neuroptics Blueprints Titania Blueprint Apothic Blueprints cannot be sold even after Quest is completed. If you sell titania warframe you have made, you can get more Titania Blueprints and Titania Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for the following cost: Titania Blueprint: 100,000 Placements Titania Parts Blueprints: 50,000 Placings Glast Gambit To unlock the mission, the completion of The War Within quest is required. In the mission where you have to wager 160,000 credits, players get a 10-point margin of victory, which is the difference between points that they must maintain between the team and the opposing team. Unlike in previous matches, players must keep their score within the 10-point margin, for example, if Nef Anyo has 5 points, Tenno's score must not exceed 15 points. Should the player win with a score exceeding the 10-point margin, Nef Anyo will withdraw and the mission will fail. If at any point you are stuck in the search there, the navigation does not specify where to go for the next mission mission, go to the inbox in the game and open the last message received from Ergo Glast, play the transfer, and when the transfer is over and you exit out, another transfer from Lotus and Ergo Glast should play, triggering the next mission mission to appear. Completing the mission will give you Nidus Blueprint. Nidus parts drawings are taken from rotation C of infested Salvage missions at Oestrus, Eris. If you select an adjustment you didn't want, Warframe support cannot change or edit the user's selection and alignment. If you sell nidus warframe you have made, you can get more Nidus Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for 100,000 Placements after completing missions. Octavia's Anthem Mission is unlocked by having The Second Dream mission completed and talking to Cephalon Suda on the Tenno Relay. The mission will give you Octavia Blueprint. Her parts components are found at the site listed below: Rotation C of Orokin Derelict Survival By mastering your musical abilities: completing the Organ 'note match' puzzle on lua (not one of the seven principles). Complete this spawn a loot crate that will contain an Octavia Blueprint piece! Please note that this puzzle does not spawn on the Lua Mobile Defense mission. By visiting Lua and by discovering new caches on lua exterminate mission. This mission is replay-able when completed on Codex (completing the quest again will not provide you with the quest reward again. If you sell the Octavia Warframe you've made, you can get more Octavia Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for 100,000 Placements after completing the mission. If you sell mandachord you have made, you can get extra Mandachord from Cephalon Simaris Offering on Relay for 25,000 Placements after completing the mission. If a player has purchased Octavia Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the mission, they will receive a Riven Mods/Secondaries upon completion of the mission together with Octavia Blueprint via in-game inbox. Patient Zero Quest is unlocked by completing the crossing from Pluto to Eris, which will then be unlocked and available in your code. Completing the mission will give you mutalist Alad V Assassinate Key Blueprint, which after crafting will unlock a special node to combat Mutalist Alad V. You can collect Mesa component drawings from playing this node. Mesa Blueprint is sold on the market. Earth Regulations To unlock the mission, you must complete Eris Junction on Pluto. Completing the mission will give you Atlas Blueprint and access to earth's Golem Assassinate node on Eris (node to collect Atlas parts drawings). By playing with other users, you can access the special node before completing the mission, but to complete the mission you must complete the Naeglar node on Eris as host or solo. If you sell the Atlas Warframe you've created, you can get more Atlas Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on Relay for 100,000 Placements after completing missions. Quest.

