Dozens of Residents of Great Falls gathered in the center of the village to listen and enjoy music at the end of the weekend. Photo by Nikki Cheshire / The Link for many people, Sunday nights are the last night of a quiet holiday before another rabbit week. On the other hand, the inhabitants of the Great Falls enjoy a very different kind of pace to finish the weekend. And that Sunday, it was in the melody of The Southern Rock. The Atlas Road Crewe band graced the crowd in the Village Centre for Green's weekly concert. The band , consisting of Taylor Nicholson (vocals and guitar), Max Becker (bass), Dave Bedingfield (guitar), Bryce James (keyboard) and Patrick Droban (drums) - met at the University of South Carolina and played together for more than two years. They were on their way to a concert .C D.C. and Ohio when they stopped in Great Falls. Drohan is a former Resident of Great Falls and Langley alumnus and suggested the band stop and play a show in the area. This week's sponsors, Glynis and Kevin Canto's brokers, are Drohan's neighbors. It's just a great way to end a summer weekend: with friends and great music, then to the Old Brother of beer for fun and beer. Great Falls resident Rich Curd The band paints on influences from backgrounds to each other and unites the west coast with south Carolina's southern style, as described by Nicholson. Bassist Max Becker added: 'We were frozen out of the new music scene. We wanted to bring back some good old rock 'n' roll. They attracted a large crowd, in which they were very regular. Rich Kurd, a resident of Great Falls, said he loved the Southern Rock Atlas Road Crewe, which he took to the green. It's just a great way to end a summer weekend: with friends and great music, then to Old Brogel for fun and beer. Contestant Lily Bowers said she has been attending the concerts every Sunday since moving to Great Falls 10 years ago. It's fun and relaxing. The music has been really good this year. Bowers said. You have to do it once, and then you keep coming. There are three concerts this season. Guitarist Tom Chantlio performs on August 10. Chantlio is fantastic, Kurd said. It shouldn't be missed. Children have fun trying to pop giant bubbles at the centre of Grey Falls Village Green as the Alan Scott Band plays behind them. Photo by Tom Manning/The Connection The rain lasted long enough for alan scott's band to entertain the Great Falls concerts on June 24. The Green Series concerts, hosted by the Great Falls Festival Foundation, continue in downtown Grace Falls Village Green every Sunday through Aug. Next Sunday's concert includes a country Emma Bailey. For more information about the full concert line, visit the Celebrate Great Falls website www.celebrategreatfalls.org. Reston has several excellent summer concerts at Reston Town Center and Lake Anne Plaza, but these two lively, paved venues are devoid of coziness. If you want to stretch into the grass with a little wine and music, you don't have to head all the way to the wine country to do it. Just 15-20 minutes from Reston, there's a great alternative. I've heard of Green's weekly concerts in downtown Great Falls Village, but I've never been there for myself. Last Sunday I went for the first time to film the event for Modern Reston, and in the end I had a wonderful summer evening. I've heard of Green's weekly concerts in downtown Great Falls Village, but I've never been there for myself. Last Sunday, my family decided to go for the first time, and in the end we had a wonderful summer evening. Great Falls Village Centre is a shopping and office complex near Georgetown Pike, in the main business district of Castle Falls. The center of the village is a collection of small buildings that look like houses around grassy fields. The buildings have restaurants, shops and professional offices, while the Green one is used for public events. The area feels cozy and powerless, removed from busy roads or tall buildings. On Sunday nights in summer, village centre hosts concerts in Green. People of all ages gather with picnic baskets to hear free live music. On the day I attended, Emma Bailey and the Rock Band in Standing Room Only performed a mix of pop and rock songs. Her voice beautiful and the group was excellent. I'm going to go see them again. Here's a graphic on the rest of the summer of Great Falls concerts on the green: 7/19/15: Junior Cline & Co. The Recliners - Rhythm and Blues with Full Brass 7/26/15: South Bay — High Energy Pop, Rock and Alternative 8/02/15: Morrison Brothers – Country and Rock 8/09/15: Diamond Alley — Contemporary and Classic Hits 8/16/16/15 15: RAIN DATE 8/23/15: The Beat Hotel — New Orleans sw funk 8/30/15: Dusty 45s — Music for high energy party 9/06/15: Scott Kurt and Memphis 59 — Tom Petty meets Rascal Flatts The band performs in a gazebo, offset from the end of the Green, which leaves a very open herbaceous space behind the scenes for people to dance or move around. I saw many parents resting on picnic blankets while their children shook in the grass. Some families brought corn holes, frisbees, or soccer balls to add to the fun. The village of Green is closed from buildings and removed from every street, so it feels like a safe place to let your children roam. Another family-friendly aspect of Green's concerts is their time. While most local concerts start at 7 a.m. or 7:30 p.m., Green's concerts start at 6 p.m., making them great choices for families with young children who need to get home early. If you prefer a larger adult approach for your evening, grab a beer at the Irish pub and Old Brogue restaurant. It is located in the center of the village and has a patio that sits right on the Green. Other restaurants at Village Centre include Beijing Delight (Chinese) and Pio Pio Pollo (Peruvian and Mexican), where you can pick up some of Green's picnic luggage. Other carry-on options are available in nearby shopping centres including Deli Italiano, Subway, Cabob Place, Izumi sushi or Siciliano. And of course, you can have your own picnic dinner from home. It's not clear if alcohol is allowed on The Green, but I've seen a lot of people drink wine and beer with their picnics. I know green's dogs aren't allowed, and that rule seems to apply. The perfect end to a summer picnic is an ice cream cone, and the Great Falls Village Centre has an ice cream shop right on the Green. Creamery Great Falls serves delicious, organic ice cream in many flavors, as well as pastries made from Heidelberg bakery products. Take a cone, milkshake or cookie, and stretch the grass as the sun sets behind you. I had no idea what treasure I was missing all this time in Great Falls. The concerts of the Greens are a wonderful and cozy way to spend a summer evening. I know where I'm going to be next Sunday night. Maybe I'll see you there. Great Falls concerts on the green take place Sunday between Remembrance Day and Labor Day, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., in downtown Hamlet, located at 775 Walker Road Road, Great Falls, Virginia.
