Each product has organic, sweeping lines and shapes. They are made to match any décor, but also to stand out in a way that could make it a topic of conversation. In addition to looking beautiful, Objecto pieces are also extremely functional. The marriage of function and form makes sense from a company based in the Flatiron district of New York. Here's what to expect from the Objecto H3 Once you pull this shapely humidifier out of its box, you're likely to appreciate its design. The bulbous bottom has a thin, clean platform that allows the product itself to shine. And it shines! The glossy finish adds to its beauty. The round foundation comes in a soft spot at the top, creating the shape of a droplet of water that falls on a surface. Fitting, you may think, since this is a humidifier, and its goal is to add moisture back to your air. You can also get four color options with this style humidifier. White is the most common, and the most affordable, but you can also choose brown, pink, or purple. When you start exploring your new Objecto H3, it will probably happen in a small drawer. Pull it out and you will find a pillow where you can add a few drops of the your essential oil. Fill the tank with water and then set it to moisten. Since it eliminates water vapour, you'll get into your favorite fragrance, too. Not all humidifiers have this diver option, which makes this worth the extra cost. You can set a timer for two or four hours, so your humidifier doesn't run all night while you sleep. There is little risk in this way, as this humidifier also has an automatic shutdown when running runs water, but there are valid reasons to prefer a timer to the automatic stop option. One, having too much moisture in your home can actually damage your furniture. Water damage is a hazard for wood. In addition, too much moisture can create a hotbed for mold growth and dust mites, a great none-none for allergy sufferers. And then there's the issue with the humidifier itself. When the machine run out of water, H3 will mean this by sounding the alarm. Sure, the alarm is nothing more than a beep sound, but do you want to wake up in the middle of the night from the beep? Well, I guess not. All the more reason to use the timer function. There are three speed settings for this humidifier. Choose low, medium or high to get the amount of moisture you prefer. At the lowest setting, this humidifier can operate for up to 18 hours without having to refill. A higher setting will pass through the water tank much faster, obviously. The two-litre tank is large enough that you probably won't have to refill it more than once a day unless you run it at a high 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. One of the things you may not notice is how quiet it is if you haven't owned a stronger humidifier in the past. It puts out a low buzzing sound, and occasionally pauses. If anything, this may be something you'll get onto, but it shouldn't be a big deal. It's a common sound, by the way, for ultrasonic cool fog humidifiers. There is no fan built into this unit, so it should not be possible at all. Like other humidifiers, this is going to need regular cleaning. The best way to do this is to add vinegar to the tank and let it sit for an extended period. You can also use hydrogen peroxide. Either way, the idea is to clean it every week, at least, to kill any bacteria or mineral accumulation. Unfortunately, this humidifier is a little difficult to clean some of the parts because of the design. You can expect this humidifier to be effective in small to medium rooms, but anything larger than 350 square feet will be ineffective. To get moisture throughout your home, you would need to buy one of these for each room, or consider a whole house humidifier. Features & Benefits Let's dry out all the features of the Objecto H3 humidifier and how it will benefit you and your home. Some features are more obvious than others, and some don't look like features, but they could be for you. Aromatherapy One the great privileges in this humidifier are that it is also a spreader. Instead of adding drops of essential oils to the water, there is a small chamber where you can add oils to a felt pad. The fragrance will spread throughout your room over time while the humidifier works. There is no need to worry about canceling an authorization or anything by adding oil to a tank and possibly doing damage to the material. Timer The timer allows you to choose how long the humidifier should run: two or four hours. Teh Teh here is that you can decide how much moisture is enough, and you can prevent the beep alarm sounding when the tank runs out of water. Design Many humidifiers are eyesores in a room. They often look clinical or medicinal, but this is not the case with this from Objecto. Rain fall style makes it look like sculpture, which is a nice addition to any room with any décor. Size There are two sizes to talk about here. The size of the unit is small to medium - it will fit easily on a side table or bedside table. The size of the tank is two liters, which is larger than most personal humidifiers, but smaller than the large rooms. So, you won't fill it up as often as tiny ones, and you won't be digesting to worry about standing water like larger ones. Lack of filter It may seem that lack of filter would be a bad thing, but in this case it is good. You should not worry about cleaning a filter or replacing it. It's less than you have to worry about. Automatic shutdown if you let this humidifier run without the timer set, it will go and go until the water runs out completely. The good news is the unit will close on its own in this case. Automatic interruption prevents damage to the unit or anything around it. Variable output You can choose low, medium or high in this humidifier, which controls the amount of cool fog that soars from the top of it. The benefit here is that you can choose how long the humidifier runs based on its production. Choose a lower setting and it can take up to 18 hours. A higher setting means a shorter runtime. This is what others think it is always useful to know what others think about a product, and customers who have purchased the Objecto H3 Hybrid Humidifier and Distributor had a lot to say about it. Most of them are good, but you get to see the bad, too, so you can make an informed decision. Aromatherapy Most people who have bought the Objecto H3 love that it is a humidifier and a spreader in one. Not everyone immediately realized that there is a specific place to add drops of essential oil and seems annoyed that you should not add oil to the water tank. Very few people reported that the spreader section didn't work. Quantity of moisture For the most part, consumers who purchased Objecto H3 were satisfied with the amount of moisture posed by the unit. Some others weren't so happy, saying they were still waking up with a stuffy nose. A faulty unit is possible in these cases. Overwhelmingly, customers who bought this humidifier love its design, at least aesthetically. Some said the design made it difficult to clean the unit, but that's another matter. Cleaning So, speaking of cleaning the unit, not everyone had good luck with it. It looks pretty easy - just add vinegar and wait. But many said it is difficult to clean all parts of this humidifier effectively. Effectively. Although 18 hours sounds like a great run time, it doesn't seem like those of Objecto H3 actually run for so long. On a low level, it may not be effective enough for some larger rooms. In the middle, it seems that most people have eight to nine hours of steam. And on a high, you can also use the timer to avoid the alarm beep - more on that at a time. Noise There were hardly any complaints about noise, which makes sense because this is an ultrasonic cool fog humidifier. The only sound that comes from it is a low buzz, which is the vibrating dish that creates water vapour. However, some people weren't fond of buzz, pause, buzz. Auto Shutoff As useful as it is to have an automatic shutdown when the tank runs dry, it can also be a nuisance. When objecto H3 exhausts its water supply, a beep alarm is heard, which can be quite noticeable if you sleep and wake up from it. Controls For some reason, Objecto added the controls at the bottom of the drive, which makes little sense other than for design purposes. This disappointed some people - especially those who prefer to keep their humidifier on the floor. Warranty Most people had nothing to say about the one-year warranty because they didn't have to use it. There seemed to be some people who had problems with the base of the Objecto H3 breaking early, but said nothing about returning it for a repair or replacement. Conclusion The Objecto H3 Hybrid Ultrasonic Humidifier and Spreader offers you multifunctionality and art in one piece. You can fill a room in your home with moisture with this unit, and you can add a wonderful fragrance with the optional aromatherapy tray. Choose your favorite fragrance to relax or activate you, add it to the felt pillow on the small tray, and then fill the tank with distilled water. Your humidifier should run for up to 18 hours if you choose the low setting. If you have a larger room, then you might want to go with the middle or high setting. Keep in mind that it will last for a shorter time, though. A timer allows you to decide how long you want the humidifier to run, and the auto-stop function ensures that it doesn't continue to work when the tank dries. This beautiful raindrops humidifier looks great in any room, and doesn't put off much noise while running. You may find it difficult to clean, or that doesn't produce enough moisture for your liking. For those who just want a bit of extra moisture in the air and want to a humidifier that looks like a piece of sculpture, this could be a great addition to their home. Click for value
