According to archaeologists, it was the burial-place of the Apus Bulls, literally speaking the living manifestations of the Egyptian God Ptah. Ever since its discovery in the Serapeum of Saqqara has puzzled archaeologists and researchers and the tunnels that have been unearthed since have been the subject of debate among many.

Part of the megalithic boxes, the ton lids were made of the same blocks of stone. Upon discovery, some of these were blown open with the aid of gunpowder, only to find the inside of these giant boxes empty.

Researchers have no Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel what their actual purpose is now how these giant boxes Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel assembled thousands of years ago.

The question that the existence of these boxes Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel is whether ancient Egyptians built these boxes as memorial tombs for the Apis bulls, and if so, how come no remains were found? The Apis Bulls were extremely sacred creatures to the ancient Egyptians having been one of the first sacred cults in Ancient Egyptian History. Historians believe that the Apis Bull was both a deity and manifestation of Egyptian pharaohs.

Interestingly, most of these boxes are made of rose granite, an extremely hard rock mined at a quarry located about kilometers from Saqqara while other boxes were made from an even harder material, diorite, found even further away from Saqqara. The precision of the boxes is another characteristics that has left researchers or anyone who visits the place, baffled, with deviations registering in the thousandths of an inch.

Extreme precision... thousands of years ago, the question remains: How is this possible? What are we missing here? Ancient Egyptians had knowledge of applied mathematics and geometry hundreds of years before the Serapeum of Saqqara was built. The intelligence and ability of ancient Egyptians are not being questioned here. We know that the earliest known texts Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel geometry can be found in ancient documents like the Rhind Papyrus and Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel papyrus.

You would imagine that hundreds of years after these ancient texts, ancient Egyptians would be able to create extremely precise constructions with corners with a 90 degree precision. The only question that remains is Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel And from where did the ancient Egyptians get this knowledge?

Where are the tools used in these constructions? And why are these giant boxes empty? Is it possible that the knowledge and technology did in fact originate from the stars as many ancient astronaut theorists suggest? Or are we missing something in history, an incredibly important moment in ancient history overlooked by mainstream scholars, a moment that could explain the knowledge and ability of ancient civilizations such as the Egyptian.

Overview Ancient Archology meets future Science Scientists have traditionally viewed themselves as advanced beings while those who came before Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel viewed as primitive, but new evidence across the globe is discovering the opposite Nowhere has this been demonstrated Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel than in the discovery of ancient chambers beneath the Romanian Sphinx in the Bucegi Mountains and the Giza Plateau Egypt where ancient technology has been found.

True science must not only refuse to be in denial of the obvious, it must reconcile itself with the fact that scientists live in an environment of censorship and secrecy. This bottleneck of secrecy is explained by Radu Cinamar who participated in a joint collaboration of secret Romanian and American forces in an unprecedented exploration of ancient artifacts beneath Giza that sets the new paradigm for the culture of Earth.

In the background, Radu's team sets the stage for Peter Moon to meet Elinor, the mysterious alchemist whose ancestors have lived for hundreds of years by pursuing a secret tradition of the Great Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel which prolongs life indefinitely until one can evolve beyond the physical plane.

Sky Books 01 March Summary Details. Radu Cinamar stunned the world when he released his first book, Transylvanian Sunrise which described the greatest archeological find of all time: a hidden chamber some 50, years old with beneath the Romanian Sphinx in the Bucegi Mountains. This chamber includes holographic technology with a visual data bank of infinite DNA permutations in addition to three tunnels: Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel leading to the inner earth, one to Tibet and one to Egypt.

After being allowed to explore some of these artefacts, Radu Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel befriended by an enigmatic alchemist named Elinor who introduced him to an equally mysterious Tibetan Lama. This book begins with Radu becoming the guardian of Elinor's exotic villa in Bucharest which contains a remarkable alchemical laboratory in the basement.

Radu is soon thereafter recruited for Department Zero, Romania's most secret intelligence unit, by his old friend, Cezar Brad, and becomes part of an expedition to explore a mysterious tunnel which leads from the chamber beneath the Romanian Sphinx to a different type of Mystery of Egypt: The First Tunnel beneath the Giza Plateau which contains ancient artefacts that look more futuristic than they do ancient, one of them being a bioresonant device through which one can visit past and future events.

This amazing expedition includes an American from the Pentagon with a top secret laptop computer he is intuitively connected to that not only displays intricate holograms but is also linked to Hilbert inter-dimensional Space. Ancient archeology meets future science in this true life adventure that penetrates the secrets of Egypt in a way that has not been previously conceived of in our society. See Also.
