Wendelin Van Draanen is a seasoned writer who has penned more than thirty novels for teens and young readers. The movie was adapted for screenplay by Warner Bros with one Bobby Reiner directing the film. Wendelin Van Draanen has also penned down two chapter book series including Gecko and Sticky, which is fun read aloud and ideal for the reluctant readers.

Another short book series that Van Draanen has written is the Shredderman book series, which features a boy who has to deal with a bully. The book received the Christopher Award for confirming the highest values of the human spirit and also was made into a movie by Nickelodeon. For more than 15 years, Van Draanen served as a classroom teacher.

Currently, she resides in California, with her husband and two sons. One day, Sam becomes a witness to a gruesome crime as she was looking through a set of binoculars and accidentally sees the thief. However, as Sam was looking through the binoculars, the burglar spots Sam looking at him.

Thus, not knowing what to do, Sam decides to wave at the burglar. With the police patrolling the area, Sam is more than determined to ensure that her secret remains hidden. Apart from being spotted with the burglar, Sam has also made a new enemy, the most popular girl in her school and was even suspended on her very first day of the 7th grade. Sam has to solve this crime before it completely gets out of hand. Sam is not only observant, but Sammy Keyes and the Skeleton Man is also funny, smart and from the look of things knows how to get herself into trouble.

With that said, author Van Draanen is a brilliant author. This book is highly recommended for upper elementary grades. Furthermore, it can be used as a genre example to introduce children to mystery. Students can use this book to describe what mystery is, what clues were useful in solving the crime.

This book can also be an excellent book to read together with a forensic science unit, where the students will be studying crime-solving science such as shoe tracks, handwriting analysis, and fingerprints. The livewire young sleuth, who had been introduced to the readers by author Van Draanen, catapults into a headlong caper after being yet again a witness to a murder crime over Halloween.
